WALL ST. CLOSE

Today

The Street Not So Happy.
The President-Engineer.
Another Arab War.
The Cool Pacific.
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WALL STREET wasn't so happy yesterday. Brokers' loans increased, which means nothing.

Then Mr. Babson, supposed to know about stocks, says they are going down. If you say that often enough you will be right some day.

THERE were cheerful spots. The Chatham-Phenix Bank added $4 to its dividend, $20 a share now. Not bad for a conservative bank.

The Seaboard National Bank gives stockholders $5 extra. Banking is a nice clean business, with call money worth 9 to 20 per cent.

MR. BABSON says the stock market will collapse like the Florida land boom. He was in that boom, and in fact is still in it. Perhaps that makes him nervous.

Meanwhile, figures show that 100 representative common stocks in August increased in value three thousand eight hundred and six million dollars.

NO lack of nickels and dimes in America, anyhow. Woolworth sales went up 12 per cent in August.

And there has been a great demand for copper. Sales, in the week ending last Wednesday, totalled 102,000 tons, almost twice the previous high record for a week. That means industrial prosperity.

Also the number of freight cars loaded in the last fully recorded week, 1,129,533, beating all railroad records.

If they do as well as the army engineers did in Panama, Uncle Sam will have another big feather in his cap.

IT will take ten years and cost a billion, to build a canal through 183 miles of tropical, mountainous forests, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The canal, which will pay for itself, will give to Uncle Sam, with his Panama Canal, two of the most important waterways of the earth. That's engineering worth while.

ANOTHER war has broken, following wholesale murders in Palestine. Jews and Arabs are boycotting each other in business. The Anglo-Palestine Bank refuses bills of credit to Arabs. The latter boycott the Rutenberg Electricity Company and the Jewish bank.

BRITISH airplanes start real work, with Arabs killed, and wounded, their friends convinced that Mohammed is not as powerful as was supposed.

HERE, you have been advised to visit Seattle, and without fail to stop at Denver, going or coming, to see Pike's Peak, F. G. Bonfils and other wonders.

New York City temperature on Wednesday was 94 degrees, Boston's was 97. The three coolest spots in the United States on that day were Seattle, Denver and San Diego.

Seattle was coolest of all with 70 degrees. Denver and San Diego 72.

THIS reminds you that California is a summer resort as well as a winter resort.

Temperature of San Diego, southern end of California, only 72 degrees. That's what the big Pacific Ocean does, absorbing summer's heat, giving it back in winter.

JOHNNY GOODMAN, 20-year-old golfer from Omaha, Neb., put Bobby Jones, king of golf, out of the Del Monte championship. Verily, "he hath put down the mighty."

Young Mr. Goodman, of Omaha, represents a part of the country that has staying power and you will hear more of him.

MUSSOLINI is delighted with his new baby, Anna Maria. Well, he may be, if he wants his power handed on to future generations.

What an interesting life that little baby will have, and what a tragic life she may have.

Malone Charges Assessment Books Loaded With Names From Empty Lots, Clubs

Thousands of men and women have been illegally assessed in Pittsburgh, adherents of Councilman James F. Malone charged today.

They backed their charges with the results of a hurried investigation of the assessment books by Peter Conners, deposed city detective.

Conners revealed that his investigation of the downtown section revealed at least 1,300 illegal assessments.

COURT INQUIRY DEMANDED

Judge Richard W Martin, in letters to Judge Harry H. Rowand and District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, demanded a grand jury investigation of the charges.

George J. Schad, chairman of the board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, was not in his office today.

Informed that Judge Martin was to ask him that a grand jury investigation be made District Attorney Gardner declared he would not hesitate to recommend such if specific evidence of illegal assessments were made by any one.

CONNORS INVESTIGATES

Soon after a check had been commenced on a list of 1,300 names believed to be bogus, Connors announced that it was evident the assessment lists were "loaded" with bogus names and fake assessments.

SEVEN VOTE FROM WALL

Among the places investigated and in which it is alleged numerous false assessments were made follow.

The show probably will be staged two weeks from tonight.

Fans who had purchased tickets in advance can obtain refunds by presenting their tickets at Flynn's gymnasium, Sixth street, or the Moose Temple, Penn avenue Ticket holders not wishing refunds will have their tickets honored on the date to which the show is postponed.

INQUIRY IN 2 AIR DEATHS OPENS

Attaches of Rodgers Field today were making an effort to determine the cause of an airplane crash on the field which cost the lives of two second lieutenants of the Three Hundred and Twenty-fourth Observation Squadron late yesterday.

The dead are Lieut. Charles S. Tygard, 25, of 2819 Crosby avenue, Dormont, and Lieut. Leo E. McElligot, 26, of 328 Liberty street, Butler.

KILLED IN PLANE

Their ship, a small monoplane, banked vertically to miss a tree, and fell 200 feet, near the hangars, witnesses said. A portion of the wing and engine struck the earth simultaneously. Both men were dead when extricated from the plane, which was reduced to junk.

Tygard, chief instructor for the Morris Flying Service, and McElligot had taken off a few minutes before. It was believed that they

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, has booked passage for Germany on the S. S. New York, sailing from here tomorrow.

FIVE HELD AFTER BIG THEFT

Five employes of Kaufmann's warehouse were arrested today for the alleged theft of $25,000 worth of merchandise through a system which detectives have been trying for a year to trace to its source.

The men are Raymond Miller, 42, of 1719 Fifth avenue, warehouse foreman; Joseph Mahon, 21, of 7118 Mt. Vernon street; Charles Azzaro, 25, of 584 Seagirt street, Wilkinsburg; Joseph Saeder, 54, of 1918 Tustin street, and Morris Lapidus, 29, of 3613 Dawson street.

RECOVER LOOT

Detectives said that three of the men had confessed and that a small part of the loot had been recovered through a "fence."

The system, detectives explained, was based on the Kaufmann delivery program, under which merchandise for delivery the next day is sent to the warehouse each evening in sealed hampers marked for the various trucking districts.

A confederate made a purchase, asking that it be delivered the next day. The accomplice in the warehouse opened the hamper for the appropriate district, breaking the seal. Then they inserted valuable merchandise, properly wrapped and addressed, to the confederate. The seal was replaced by use of a stolen sealing machine.

Inventories have shown that merchandise has been disappearing from the warehouse for the last two years, according to Detectives Murray Edlis and William Cryster, who solved the thefts.

The goods stolen ranged from neckties to radio sets and furniture. Cryster and Edlis said the quintet was planning to get a grand piano out of the warehouse, but had been balked by suspicions of drivers.

The men were held on suspicious person charges.

Edsel Ford Building Fast $300,000 Yacht

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—One of the snappiest fast cruisers afloat, reputed to cost $300,000, is under construction for Edsel Ford at a Neponset shipyard, it was learned today. The yacht, which will accommodate 28 persons, will be finished in teak wood, French cedar and butternut wood.

If New Yorkers anticipated getting the low down today from Dolores Del Rio and Teddy Joyce, the muchly desired morsel will not be served.

That was the emphatic statement of the Penn Theater's master of ceremonies as he and the screen star boarded the train for New York last midnight, for their joint opening tomorrow. In fact, Teddy said Dolores would make no such announcement while in New York—this time.

The movie actress avoided being questioned as to her intentions while here. But those on the inside weighed the words of Pittsburgh's Flaming Youth to mean there is a romance and that an engagement is near.

It is understood Miss Del Rio accepted the offer to appear at the opening of the new Kings Theater, in Flatbush, Brooklyn, only upon the understanding that Teddy would introduce her to the audience. Teddy rather evaded answering when asked that point.

There have been rumors that Roland Drew, screen star, was the lucky man who would lead Miss Del Rio to the altar. Pittsburghers in the know said today that if bets were placed, Pittsburgh's own popular idol, would be their choice. All of which means that Dolores' sudden stopover here while en route to Gotham only strengthened the conviction that Teddy and Dolores are in love.

SINCLAIR, DAY REFUSED PAROLES

Oil Magnate and Business Associate Must Serve Full Time in Prison

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Harry F. Sinclair's plea for parole from the District of Columbia jail, where he is serving a sentence of nine months on two contempt convictions, has fallen on deaf ears.

His application for liberty, it was learned today, has been disapproved by the judges who sat in the cases, and also the department of justice, and it probably will be denied without even being referred to President Hoover.

TEN WEEKS TO SERVE

The oil magnate still has about ten weeks of his sentence to serve.

H. Mason Day, one of his business associates, who is also serving a term in jail for his connection with the jury-shadowing in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial, will likewise be denied parole.

The applications were considered jointly.

Only the physical incapacity of Albert B. Fall to make a trip to Washington will be accepted by Leo A. Rover, federal district attorney, as a reason for delaying after October 7 the trial of the former secretary of the interior on a charge of bribery in connection with the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve leasing.

TO GET EXAMINATION

Rover, who is working with the government's special prosecutors, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, said that the only move left for Fall's attorneys to prevent the start of the trial would be to file a physician's affidavit stating that the journey from his home in the Southwest, would jeopardize their client's health. Even then a government physician probably would be asked to examine the former secretary.

STOCKS STAGE BIG RALLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—(A.P.)—The "Bull" movement in stocks, the death knell of which had been sounded by many economists and satisticians in the last two years, was resumed with considerable violence today after having received a drastic set-back in the last hour of trading yesterday. Nearly two score issues were marked up $5 to nearly $15 a share, with several of the public utility shares being whirled up to new high records.

The rally started from the opening gong. Operators for the advance had placed large buying orders in the market overnight, with the result that scores of issues opened $1 to $8 a share above yesterday's final quotations. Despite frequent flurries of selling by nervous investors and traders, these gains were materially extended by early afternoon with new groups brought forward whenever the old favorites showed signs of wavering. A reduction in the call money rate from 9 to 8 per cent and the lowering of the coupon rate on the U. S. government's September financing, stimulated the rally.

MEN WAVE SOS FROM DESERT

Quartet Sighted by Rescue Searcher in Plane; Goes Back to Summon Help

WINSLOW, Ariz., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Hope that at least four men of the seven men and one woman aboard the lost air transport City of San Francisco were alive, was brought here today by Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, chief pilot of the Maddux Air Lines and former Navy ace.

After signaling to the men that he had seen them, Tomlinson returned to Winslow. Other ships were immediately dispatched to the scene.

BELIEVED OFF PLANE

Trans-Continental Air Transport officials were elated over the news in hopes that the men might be survivors of the City of San Francisco, T. A. T. Transport plane, which has been missing since Tuesday.

The four men were wearing white shirts. Airport officials here who have been directing the search for the missing plane expressed belief that it would be highly unlikely for any persons to be in that section of the Arizona desert country so attired unless they had been in a plane which made a forced landing.

Lieut. Tomlinson was flying a trimotored all metal transport ship similar to the City of San Francisco.

LINDY TO AID HUNT

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will participate in the hunt for the missing Trans-continental Air Transport plane, lost near Gallup, N. M.

This was definitely established this afternoon when the Flying Colonel prepared to hop off for the West in the Lockheed Vega monoplane, Texaco No. 5, in which Capt. Frank Hawks established transcontinental speed records.

He is scheduled to take off about three o'clock and his first and perhaps only stop before he reaches New Mexico will be St. Louis, where he is expected to take on fuel.

Lindbergh obtained permission to use the plane from its owners, the Texas Company, and it was wheeled onto the starting line here shortly before two o'clock.

100 PLANES JOIN SEARCH

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Northern Arizona early today was the objective of over 100 commercial and government service planes from surrounding states flying to augment T. A. T. planes in the search for the missing passenger craft "City of San Francisco," lost since it flew into terrific storms over Arizona Tuesday noon with 8 persons aboard.

It was to be the greatest concentration of scouting ships ever formed in peacetime history.

YOUNG SUNDAY SUED BY WIFE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Billy Sunday, Jr., son of the evangelist, was sued for divorce in Superior Court yesterday by Julia Mae Sunday on grounds of extreme cruelty. The Sundays were married at Yuma, Arizona, April 3, 1928.

Mrs. Sunday charged that within eight months after their marriage, her husband "became tired" of her and began sending her alone on week-end trips and remaining away from their home for periods as long as two weeks. He refused to explain the absences, she said.

She also alleged he subjected her to embarrassment by failure to appear at dinner parties at their home even though he had invited numbers of guests.

Friends of Mrs. Sunday said a property settlement had been reached.

Oakland Returns Boost Straw Vote Total

Registered voters of the Oakland district file their first returns in the mayoralty straw vote of Pittsburgh conducted by the Pittsburg Sun-Telegraph and give Mayor Charles H. Kline a considerable margin over Judge Richard W. Martin and President of Council James F. Malone.

As a result of the day's returns Mayor Kline and Judge Martin remain close in the totals and draw farther away from Councilman Malone, the standing to date being as follows:

Kline	1,460
Martin	1,437
Malone	1,088

Initial returns from the Fourth Ward, comprising the Soho and Oakland districts, give this result: Kline 23, Martin 3, Malone 2. This section of the city is generally regarded as under the influence of State Senator James J. Coyne, a political ally of Mayor Kline.

The Mayor also receives a commanding vote in the Seventeenth Ward, home ward of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, its totals for the day being: Kline 34, Malone 10, Martin 9. Judge Martin is given a good lead over both his opponents in two North Side wards in the latest returns. In the Twenty-sixth Ward the totals are: Martin 37, Kline 21, Malone 7. The candidates in the Twenty-seventh Ward receive these ballots: Martin 34, Kline 31, Malone 14.

The tabulation for the day gives these figures: Martin 153, 94 men and 59 women; Kline 147, 90 men and 57 women; Malone 94, 62 men and 32 women.

The Fifteenth Ward, embracing Hazelwood and Greenfield, is the next slated for the distribution of ballots, to be followed by the completion of the canvass in the South Side.

FIVE WOMEN, SEVEN MEN HOLD FATE OF MRS. PANTAGES

PROSECUTION OUTWITTED ON JURY

Last Man Selected Unwanted By State; Jurors Will Be Locked Up During Trial

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—With the jury that will either convict or free Mrs. Alexander Pantages on a charge of murder finally chosen, presentation of testimony in the trial was to begin today.

Probably the first witnesses to take the stand will be the son and the widow of Joe Rokomoto, the Japanese gardener who died after Mrs. Pantages had driven her automobile into him a few months ago.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGED

The state will try to prove that the wife of the millionaire theater promoter was drunk at the time of the smashup and that she is guilty of murder in the Japanese gardener's death.

Clever jury choosing maneuvering on the part of Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert was seen at the end of yesterday's session. They were tactics which resulted in the prosecution exhausting its challenges, leaving the defense with two.

As a result of this situation, Deputy Prosecutors Costello and Harold Jones were forced to accept as the twelfth juror, Ira F. Gay, a man whom they admittedly would have challenged had they still a right to do so.

Gay, it was revealed, is an "orchestra and entertainment contractor" and is said to be closely affiliated with Alexander Pantages, now under indictment for an alleged attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

But most interesting of all to the courtroom was the fact that Ira Gay is the brother of Byron Gay, noted songwriter, whose greatest hit was, perhaps, "Wish I Had a Drink."

The jury spent the night locked up in a downtown hotel, to prevent any possibility of tampering. Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy has ordered that it be locked up nightly until the trial is concluded.

TWO EXTRA JURORS

Seven men and five women make up the jury. Two alternates—one man and one woman—were added to function in case any of the regular jurors fall ill or become incapacitated during the trial.

Three days of questioning, rejecting and questioning over again were required to finally fill the jury box last night. And it wasn't filled until the prosecution had exhausted all its peremptory challenges and the defense had used up 18 of its own.

In all 62 talesmen were examined during the three days of jury picking before the 14 finally agreed upon were sworn in last night. Judge Hardy's own panel was exhausted early during the second day and additional panels had to be called from four separate Superior Court rooms before the selection was completed.

Navy Planes Battle Storm, One Missing

DENVER, Sept. 6.—(INS.) — All but one of the 21 planes of United States Combat Group No. 1 from the naval base at San Diego, Cal., were accounted for early today. The missing ship is believed forced down in an isolated section of Kansas.

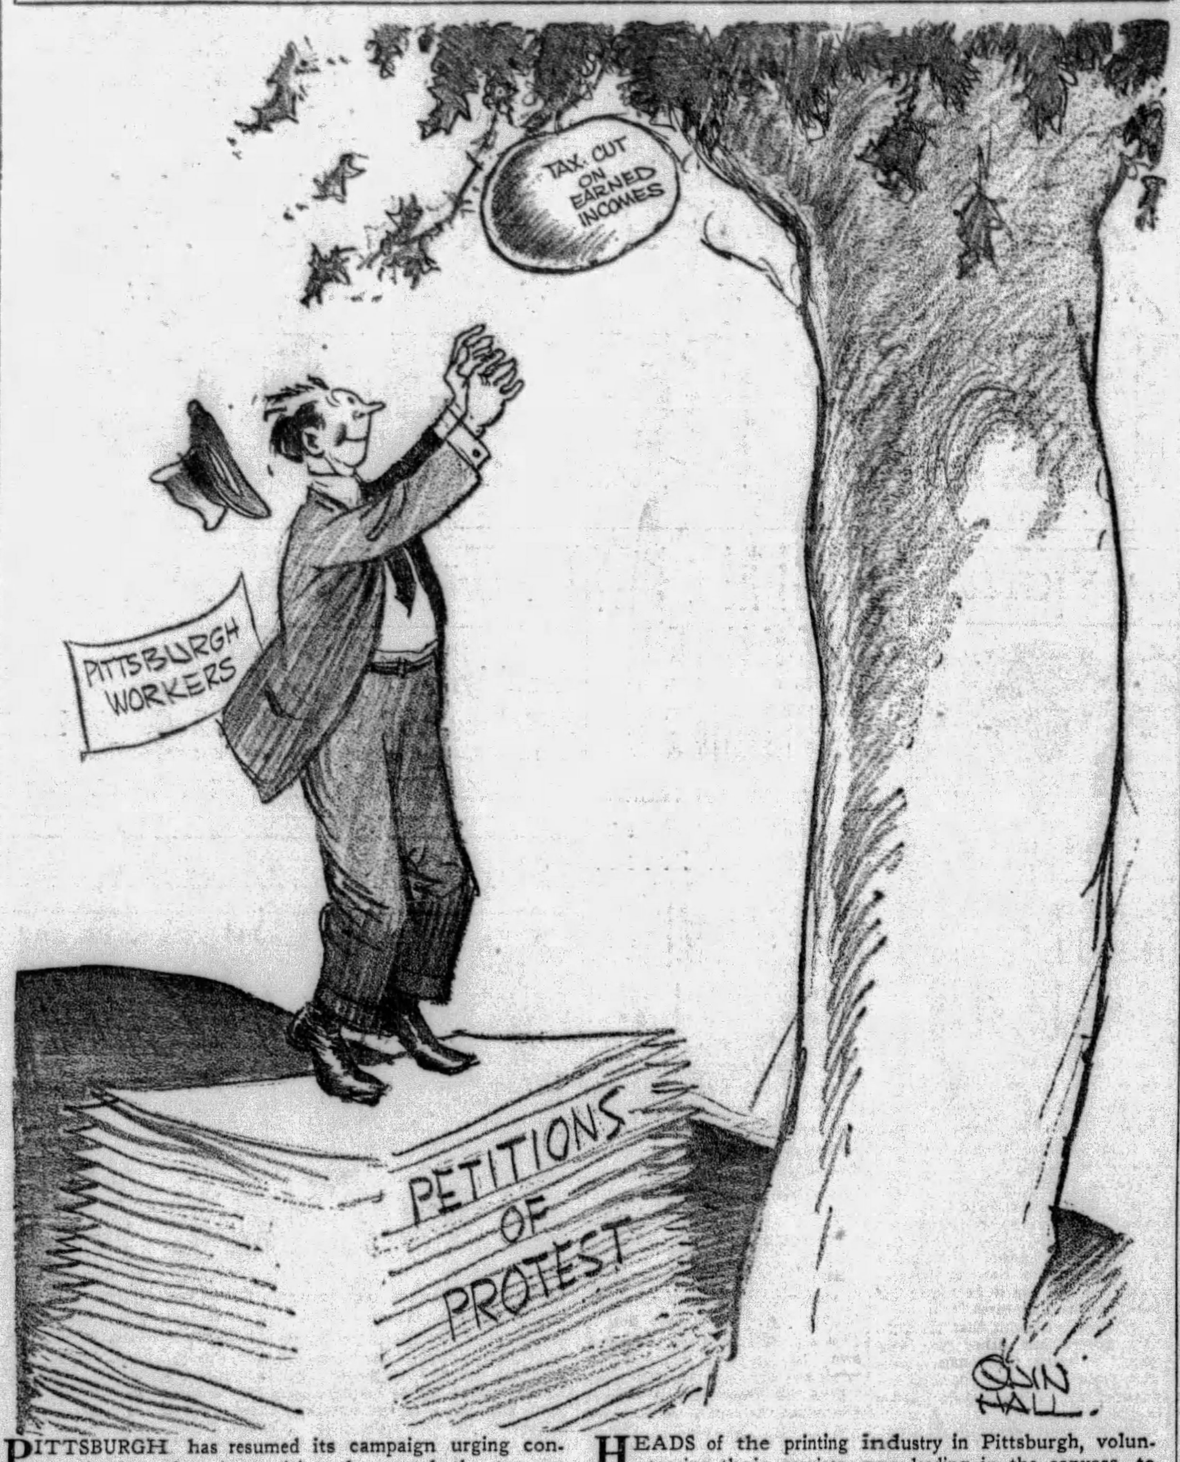
The squadron hopped off from Kansas City yesterday for Denver, but only six ships reached here. Bad weather forced nine to land at Colorado Springs to spend the night; the other five reported they were forced down either by bad weather or minor mechanical trouble in Kansas and Colorado.

The entire squadron is expected to assemble here today and may be ordered to the Arizona-New Mexico border to aid in the search for the missing air liner City of San Francisco.

Court Sanctions Smoking in Bed

UNION CITY, N. J., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—It is a man's sacred right to smoke a pipe while lying in bed, according to Police Judge Alfred Modarelli. He issued a ruling to this effect today when Mrs. Congetta Rizzo had her husband, John, haled before him on a charge of nocturnal bedroom puffing.

BUILD HIM UP! By QUIN HALL



PITTSBURGH has resumed its campaign urging congressional action for revising downward the tax on earned incomes. The Sun-Telegraph is circulating petitions.

HEADS of the printing industry in Pittsburgh, volunteering their services, are leading in the canvass, to be taken up by humble and mighty in all walks of life.

53,700 VOTERS REGISTERED

Approximately 53,700 men and women voters registered yesterday, according to the estimate of the Board of Registration Commissioners.

The estimate was based on reports from 165 districts representing every ward in the city except the Thirty-first.

If this rate continues, which cannot be ascertained until other districts report, the registration was about 10,000 under that on the first day in the Hoover-Smith fight last year, and at least 20,000 over the first day registration in the campaign for mayor four years ago.

Other registration days are September 10 and 14.

ARMSTRONG TO TALK

Political interest today centered around a Kline meeting tonight in the South Side Turner Hall, Seventeenth ward.

At this gathering, Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong is expected to make his long-awaited statement for Kline.

Other county officials are scheduled to appear. Among those mentioned as likely to speak for Kline are District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, County Treasurer John Francies, Recorder of Deeds Samuel D. Foster and Controller Robert G. Woodside.

Volunteers Circulating Tax Cut Petitions

This is the watchword of the volunteer workers who are undertaking the campaign in Pittsburgh urging Congress to revise downward the levies on professional men and women, salaried persons and all wage earners.

Today scores of petitions are in circulation following the action of executives in the printing and publishing industry of Pittsburgh who offered their services in assisting the canvass sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers.

Robert L. Forsythe, Jr., of Robert L. Forsythe Company, was the first volunteer responding to the call made Tuesday in the Sun-Telegraph and within 24 hours he organized a committee composed of many of the leading members of local printing concerns. Under his chairmanship the committee will direct the canvass to be carried on in every printing house in the Pittsburgh district.

Members of the committee are W. A. Shields, William K. Johnston Company; Art Gruver, Herbick & Held; Lionel Ebaugh, MacMillan Printing Company; Francis J. Doyle, Ormiston-Doyle Company; Homer Kline, Eddy Press Corporation; J. W. Jackson, Jackson Printing Company; J. B. Roos, Robert L. Forsythe Company; John P. Killeen, John P. Killeen, Printer; W. G. Golder, Pittsburgh Printing Company; Walter Griffen, Iron City Printing Company; John Gwyer, John Gwyer Press; Francis J. Rooney, Colonial Press.

Chairman Forsythe organized his committee at a luncheon at Gimbel's restaurant and each member was allotted a task in covering certain lines of the trade. All employes of the industry will be canvassed, as well as the owners and executives. The work will be rushed and the objective of the campaign will be to get signatures of 100 per cent of the people engaged in the printing business.

"The evil of the present system of levying the tax on earned incomes is not a personal matter," said Chairman Forsythe. "It is an economic problem and affects the entire community. For this reason all citizens should join in the protest, regardless of whether they pay income taxes. If the persons depending on earned incomes are relieved of a tax that is burdensome, the entire country will profit because purchasing power will improve.

"Our members are entering on this work with zest and enthusiasm, and we are hoping that members of other lines of industry will take up the campaign. We shall welcome the rivalry and believe that we can challenge any other line of business to equal our record for a thorough canvass."

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph asks for volunteers in all trade groups, organizations of professional men, civic bodies and women's clubs, as well as individuals who will carry on the work in their respective communities. Blank petition forms are furnished and the names of the workers will be announced from time to time.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph readers who desire to volunteer for this patriotic work are requested to send their names to the Income Tax Department, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

In addition to 25 T. A. T. and chartered planes at Winslow, headquarters of the air hunt today, 85 commercial ships were to leave Los Angeles airports after dawn.

Army and Navy ships were on the lines at Rockwell Field, San Diego, Mrch Field, Riverside, Cal., Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., and Colorado, New Mexico and Utah points.

Col. Paul Henderson, vice president of the company, had obtained from Washington every assistance the government could give.

REWARD OFFERED

The search was spurred by a $5,000 reward offered to "the person or group of persons finding the last T. A. T. plane. The reward was offered by officials of the trans-Continental Air Transport at St. Louis.

TARIFF BATTLE LINES DRAWN IN SENATE

Democrat-Insurgent Attack To Climax in Rate Fight; G.O.P. Chieftains Hopeful

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The opposing lines for a "billion dollar" battle over the tariff were drawn in the Senate today with a Democratic-Insurgent coalition definitely lined up in opposition to the administration's new bill.

The Democrats and Insurgents reached an agreement on a program of assault. The high point of this program is a decision to assail the administrative provisions first, leaving the battle over rates for the grand climax.

This method of procedure was entirely acceptable to administration leaders.

PLAN OF ATTACK

2—Launching of fight against administrative features.

3—United opposition to the flexible tariff provision, under which the President can raise or lower rates on recommendations from the Tariff Commission.

4—Support for amendments limiting the commission's activities to that of an advisory agency to Congress.

5—United opposition to the Reed provision, authorizing conversion of new rates from a foreign to a domestic valuation basis.

FARM AID SUPPORT

7—Certain attacks on a dozen or more important industrial rates, which were increased by Senate committee.

8—United support for the higher agricultural rates, approved by Senate committee, with possible battle for further increases on some farm product rates.

The Republican chieftains meanwhile cheerfully accepted announcement of the coalition's plans. They appeared confident of rallying enough votes in the Senate to retain all the administrative features, new and old, and then to safeguard the new higher level of industrial rates. Some feared a filibuster by the coalition to defeat the measure; others were hopeful the bill would become a law by New Year's Day.

BANK CLOSES IN $500,000 SWINDLE

Missing President's Letter About 'Donation' He Failed To Get Deepens Mystery

International News Service.

TELLURIDE, Colo., Sept. 6.—The Bank of Telluride, whose president, C. D. Waggoner, is wanted in connection with the swindle of $500,000 from New York banks, failed to open its doors for business today.

Following a meeting of the board of directors today, the institution was turned over to the state bank commissioner.

LETTER SHEDS LIGHT

DENVER, Col., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—An influential Denver banker, president of one of the city's largest financial institutions, had in his possession today a mysterious letter which may solve the reported half-million-dollar "paper" swindles of New York banks by a man who is the object of an international search.

The letter was signed "C. D. Waggoner." That is the 55-year-old missing president of the Bank of Telluride, Telluride, Col., who quietly left the city last Wednesday for an unannounced destination.

ASSUMES DONATION

"I have just received half a million dollars," it stated. "Since there are no strings attached to it, I assume it was a donation."

The affair constituted a financial riddle unprecedented in the history of banking, the puzzle being that Waggoner or a double of Waggoner's apparently had got it all fixed up to obtain $500,000 that didn't belong to him, and then didn't take it.

BANKER TO FACE QUIZ

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—New York police expect to question tonight the man in whose name $500,000 in certified checks was fraudulently obtained from six New York banks. He is Charles Delos Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, of Telluride, Col.

H. A. Crowe, manager of the criminal division of the W. J. Burns Detective Agency, is the authority for the statement that Waggoner will be questioned. Waggoner has been missing since August 31.

Crowe refused to say where Waggoner would be questioned, but it is understood that he will be interviewed in the West.

Thus far no real money has been lost, as the entire half-million-dollar transaction was executed with banking paper.

The scheme was put into operation August 30, when the six New York banks each received a telegram in bankers' code directing the deposit of sums to the credit of the bank of Telluride, Col., in the Wall street branch of the Chase National Bank.

The orders were as follows: The Chemical National Bank, $100,000 on order of the First National Bank of Denver; the First National of New York, $100,000 on order of the Denver National Bank; The Guaranty Trust Company, $75,000 on order of the United States National of Denver; the National City Bank, $75,000 on order of the Colorado National Bank; Equitable Trust, $75,000 on order of the International Trust of Denver and the Harriman National Bank $75,000 on order of the American National of Denver.

PAYS OFF NOTE

On August 31, a man who was accepted by the Central Hanover Bank as Waggoner presented himself there and after paying off a note for $250,000 of the Bank of Telluride, and a personal note of C. D. Waggoner for $60,000, ordered $10,000 telegraphed to the Bank of Telluride and purchased a banker's check for $180,000. These transactions were made with cashier's checks on the bank of Telluride, certified by the Chase National Bank, and drawn against the $500,000 credit established by the telegraphic orders.

The scheme was discovered last Tuesday when the Denver banks received notices from their New York corresponding banks that the various transfers ordered in the code telegrams had been executed. The Denver bankers immediately communicated with New York, repudiating the orders as fraudulent.

BOTH UNMARRIED

Tygard, born in Pittsburgh, was a graduate of the South Hills High School. After his graduation in 1923 he became interested in mechanics, and then aeronautics. He was connected with the Morris Flying Service two years. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Tygard, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Paul Geiger, of Hebron, O., and three brothers, Arthur, William and George, all of Pittsburgh.

McElligot, who returned a few days ago from Langley Field, Virginia, where officers of the local squadron had spent two weeks of army training, attended the weekly luncheon of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh yesterday noon. His relatives claimed the body and planned to ship it to Butler for burial.

Both victims were unmarried.

Verona Charges Police Bar Malone Registrations

"Russia under the Bolsheviks was a pink tea compared with Kline's cops in the Third Ward," Alderman John J. Verona declared today when complaints were being made that Malone supporters had been refused the right to register and that they had been ordered about by special squads of city police.

Alderman Verona declared that he had been trailed from one district to another last night by a squad of police. The alderman stated that the policemen were led by Captain John Schurr of the Center Avenue station.

Patrolman John J. Swide of 1228 Wylie avenue last night declared that he had been threatened with arrest if he did not leave the registration place in the Fourth District of the Third ward. He stated last night that he and his attorneys today would complain to the Board of Registration Commissioners.

Patrolman Swide said that he was in the registration place when two Negroes entered to register. They gave their address as 1228 Wylie avenue, Swide's home, the officer said. He complained to the board. The policeman said that a member of the board ordered him out of the room. He refused to go, and police were called.

According to Swide, Inspector James Hoey and Lieuts. John Hoban and John Novak arrived at the registration place and ordered him out. He repeated his complaint to the police and was ordered to "shut up and get out before he got put in the jug," Swide charges.

Patsy Colangello, of 22 Clay alley, who has been judge of election of the Fourth District of the Second Ward, was denied the right to register when he appeared last night in the registration place at 823 Wylie avenue. Colangello stated that a member of the board informed him that he no longer resided in the district.

Arsenal Park has been included in the sites for Sunday night free motion picture shows, according to announcement at the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

The Regular Republican organization of the Sixth, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth wards, comprising the Lawrenceville-Bloomfield district, by subscribing to the free movie fund made it possible to add Arsenal Park to the other four sites.

The attraction next Sunday night in Schenley Park will be "Legion of the Condemned;" Highland Park, "Uncle Tom's Cabin;" East Park, North Side, "Flying Luck;" McKinley Park, South Hills, "Give and Take;" Arsenal Park, "In Old Kentucky."

3 BOY BANDITS ADMIT GUILT

Three Brookline boys pleaded guilty in Criminal Court today to holdup charges and a fourth denied participation in a series of robberies of gasoline stations and truck drivers in the South Hills district.

Those who pleaded are Thomas Bard, of 706 Bayridge street; Raymond Minnich, of 400 Brookline boulevard, and Paul Frank, of 934 Brookline boulevard. Jack Gormley, of Pioneer avenue, chose to stand trial. All are 19.

The three who pleaded admitted that they had held up a gasoline station with a toy cap pistol and taken $26. They used the same ruse upon J. F. Early, a milk wagon driver, they said. All were remanded pending the outcome of Gormley's case.

Aimee McPherson Causes Break in Voliva Camp

By PIERRE JOHN HUSS
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Aimee Semple McPherson, white-clad Los Angeles soul saver, and Glenn Voliva, pontiff of Zion City, Ill., agree in theory that the world is full of sin and needs saving, but otherwise disagree.

Each thinks the other is all wrong and so have started an elimination contest. Mr. Voliva has left the scene temporarily. He is due in Denver today, where he intends to take a month's rest.

Things have been happening ever since Aimee paid a short visit to this vicinity, and Mr. Voliva now has just complaint against mischief makers other than Lucifer. This week four Zionites, and prize disciples at that, suddenly shook the dust of the citadel from their feet and deserted Voliva's fold. To make it worse, they cut a bee line for Waukegan, nearby Chicago suburb, and joined Sister Locy's four square revival center. She is a missionary of high rating in Aimee's expeditionary forces.

Rumors around Zion City have it that others will soon follow the four secessionists, and the situation has become so acute that Mr. Voliva issued an interdict before leaving for Colorado.

Sister Locy, commissioned by Aimee to spread the gospel in her name, styles herself the trumpeting evangelist and renders gospel hymns on the cornet. She has challenged Mr. Voliva in the name of Aimee McPherson to come to Waukegan and defend his proposition that the earth is flat and rain drips through holes somebody punched into heaven. But Mr. Voliva is smart and undoubtedly will decline.

Mexican Bandits Rob Payroll Train

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Dispatches to El Universal from Torreon today said armed bandits yesterday attacked a payroll train of the Penoles Mining Company, near Bermejillo and robbed it of 26,000 pesos (about $13,000).

GIRL ON MERCY ERRAND SHOT

YORK, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—While on an errand of mercy today at 10 o'clock, Miss Blanche Ramer, a member of the staff of the local Visiting Nurse Association,, was shot three times by an unknown man, who escaped in a coupe. The shots were fired from the coupe as Miss Ramer, on foot, reached the corner of Cleveland and Maple streets. Miss Ramer collapsed and was taken to a local hospital where, it is said, her condition is critical. Miss Ramer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ramer.

The police allege that the girl's assailant was William Sweitzer, a former York man, who is now manager of a chain drug store in Pottsville. He is said by the police to be a jilted sweetheart. Sweitzer and Miss Ramer were seen in an argument yesterday, it is said, at the same place where the shooting occurred today.

Old Teacher Fired, Pupils Go on Strike

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I., Sept. 6—(INS.)—This was the fourth day of the "strike" at the new Primose school. Angered because Mrs. Martha Harris, teacher for 14 years, had been dropped when a new school building was erected, 25 families refused to allow their children to attend classes.

RUSSIA REJECTS PEACE PLAN

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Soviet Russia does not intend to send envoys to Geneva to negotiate settlement of the Sino-Russian dispute with the Chinese delegation to the League of Nations.

Maxiuh Litvinoff, Soviet undercommissar for foreign affairs, in an official statement, declares that Russia is ready to take up negotiations for settlement of the issue directly with the Nanking government but "refuses to be tricked by fake pacifistic gestures."

Litvinoff intimated that the Chinese government either "does not want" to settle the conflict peacably or is "allowing itself to be influenced by outside powers hostile to the Soviets."

Litvinoff's statement, in the opinion of observers here, has had the result of making relations between China and Russia even more acute, and hopes for amicable settlement are becoming dimmed.

CITY HONORS MRS. THADEN

Pittsburgh today honored Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden, local aviatrix, who won the transcontinental air derby for women, for carrying the city's name before the nation in victory.

The occasion was a noon luncheon held by the aeronautics committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with the flier as the guest of honor. The city's foremost business men composed an audience who joined in lauding the charm and ability of Mrs. Thaden as expressed by President James Rae and Raymond M. Marlier, chairman of the committee.

The recent rapid strides of aviation in Pittsburgh were lauded by the guest, who praised the new municipal airport and the Pittsburgh-Butler field. Mrs. Thaden declared the Butler field, when completed, would be one of the foremost in the country for facilities. She also related the experiences of her successful flight.

Pittsbugrhers Fly On Lost Plane Route

An air-rail trip to Los Angeles planned as a part of their vacation was begun last night by Attorney H. Fred Mercer and his son, H. Fred, Jr., of 1025 North Negley avenue, when they boarded a Pennsylvania train for Port Columbus. They were to leave that place today by plane for Waynoka, Okla. The Transcontinental Air Transport, after conveying booked passengers, including the Mercers, will halt operations to permit its aviators to hunt for the lost plane City of San Francisco.

Refused Sun Tan, Girl Runs Away From Home

She'd rather be a runaway than out of style, Genevieve McAleer, 16, of 1207 Laurel way, decided when her mother refused to let her adopt the sun tan fad, Genevieve explained to Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today.

Woods Run police picked Genevieve up yesterday afternoon. She had been absent from home for three days.

"She went without stockings, and wanted to cut the sleeves out of all her dresses," the girl's mother, Mrs. Anna McAleer, explained. "A lot of girls are doing it, but I think it's too tough."

Genevieve was ordered held temporarily by the police matron.

RAIN PROMISED; HEAT TO END

Heat relief in the form of showers before the day was over was promised by the weather bureau this morning.

Rains over Southeastern Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania were moving toward Pittsburgh, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said. A light rain fell in the North Boroughs district early today.

Heavy haze over the city might, to some extent, be ascribed to forest fires which at present dot the East and Middle West, Brotzman said. He believed lack of high winds was the real cause, however.

From the East today it was reported that the heat wave was passing out over the Atlantic, and had reached Europe where new high records for this time of the year were established in several centers. A temperature of 90 was registered in several eastern cities.

FOREST FIRES RAGE

A force of more than 300 men were battling a forest fire at Scaffold Lick, 12 miles south of Port Alleghany. Several thousand acres had been ravaged by the flames. Another fire near Towanda extended over a five-mile front.

Charles A. Dorworth, secertary of forests and waters, in describing the forest fire hazard as a "crisis," asked campers in all sections affected by droughts to use extreme care in the use of fire, and not to burn brush within forest areas.

A water shortage faces Conneautville, 16 miles from Meadville, due to the drought. The Borough Council has issued warning of the shortage and asked citizens to conserve water.

INDUSTRIES HIT

Lack of rain for 25 days has caused a drop in the Shenango River at Sharon, and has seriously affected steel mills and other industries. Observations show that only 16,000,000 gallons of water has passed down the stream during that period, and that the intake at one of the plants in Farrell is 60,000,000 gallons. Backers of the Pymatuning Dam project cite the situation as an argument for the dam.

From Franklin it was reported that the Allegheny River and French Creek are at the lowest levels known in 25 years, but as yet there is no shortage of water for private use. Officials, however, are calling upon citizens to conserve water. Much of the Franklin water supply comes from deep wells in Crawford and Erie counties. Many small streams have gone dry, it was reported from the outlying districts, and in some instances farmers are hauling water two to six miles for their cattle.

Army Flier Killed In Crash of Plane

Age Limit Not Set For Census Takers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The Census Bureau announced today that no age limit has been fixed for enumerators to take the decennial census next year.

The announcement was made in response to inquiries from war veterans and their organizations regarding rumors that men over 42 would not be eligible for appointment as enumerators.

'Tiger,' Ill, Sends Own Physician to Poor Girl

ST. VINCENT-SUR-JARD, France, Sept. 6.—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau, so ruthless in the rough and tumble game of politics that he gained the sobriquet of "The Tiger," defied his critics with gentleness today when he gave the services of his personal physician for a poor, sick peasant girl, who was wasting away from illness.

Clemenceau himself is in poor health, but this is not the result of any organic illness, but rather from age and continuous exertion in the face of advice that he rest and "take things easy."

AIDS STRICKEN GIRL

"The Tiger" has been taking a paternal interest in the peasant girl—18-year-old Marthe Renault—ever since he learned of her illness and the inability of her family to gain her the proper medical care. Almost every day he sent his servant nine miles to the village of Brandais, where the girl's parents lived, to inquire after her condition.

Finally Clemenceau decided to call from Paris Dr. Degennes, his own doctor, and the physician who treated Marshal Foch. According to all indications Dr. Degennes thought he was being summoned to prescribe for Clemenceau himself.

It may have appealed to the sardonic sense of humor of the old statesman to summon into a peasant's cottage to treat the ailing daughter of poverty stricken parents a noted physician of national renown who had sat at the bedside of a former prime minister and a marshal of France. But, if so, it was humor founded on kindness.

ACCOMPANIES DOCTOR

Clemenceau himself accompanied Dr. Degennes to the Renault's cottage. Dr. Degennes made a diagnosis and found Marthe suffering from intestinal adhesions. He said a serious operation was necessary at once and arrangements were made to carry out his instruction.

Clemenceau himself was given a thorough physical examination by Dr. De Gennes and his local physician and then was ordered to stop working so hard.

For several weeks the Tiger has been laboring night and day on his memoirs, which have aroused the keenest curiosity in France, and has slept very little and rested seldom.

German Balloonists Start for U. S. Race

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—German balloonists, with two balloons entered for the international race for the Gordon Bennett trophy which will start from St. Louis, have left here for Cherbourg, to embark for the United States.

The German press has expressed confidence in its entries and has wished Hugo Kaulen a little more luck this year. Last year, in the race starting from Pittsburgh, Kaulen lost by a few kilometers to the Americans, Capt W. E. Kepner and Lieut. W. C. Eareckson, of Scott Field.

BRITAIN TO STAY IN PALESTINE

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—(AP.—Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, declared before the council of the League of Nations today that Great Britain had no intention of abandoning the mandate for Palestine. He said his country would adhere to the Balfour declaration calling for the establishment of a national home for Jews in Palestine. The British now have the situation in the country well in hand, he said.

BEDOUINS FIGHT BRITISH

JERUSALEM, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Pacification of the Holy Land has become increasingly difficult for the small British expeditionary forces which have engaged in guerilla warfare with Arabs at widely separated Palestine points.

The latest disquieting development was reported today with incursion of Bedouins from the Sinai Peninsula, who fought British troops in the vicinity of Gaza, Southern Palestine, and at Beersheba, about 30 miles southeast of Gaza. Reinforcements have been sent to the aid of the British at both points.

JERUSALEM ORDERLY

Jerusalem continued orderly, with considerable interest aroused by two proclamations. The first of these statements was from the Arab executive which met yesterday with all but six of its 48 members present, those six notifying the others they were prevented from coming to Jerusalem by local authorities.

The Moslem leaders announced they had decided to appeal to the League of Nations and to the world powers, excepting those exercising mandates, to investigate their grievances against the Jews.

They claimed the British mandate administration had brought on the situation by pro-Jewish policies. They asked the League to see that a parliamentary government, representative of the Arab majority, was installed in the Holy Land.

Needle Workers' Strike Settled

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The strike of 7,000 needle workers which began in New York Wednesday was settled today with union officials claiming an outstanding victory. Members of the Hemstitchers and Pleaters, Cutters and Embroiderers' unions participated in the walkout. Foremost among the points gained by the strikers was the creation of the position of an impartial chairman to settle disputes in the needle trades and aid in abolishing sweat shop conditions.

BARLOW GIVES ARREST FACTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—J. W. Barlow, American citizen who is claiming property in Cuba valued at $3,000,000, made public a letter he had addressed to the State Department relating what he said were the circumstances of his imprisonment in Havana last month when he was held overnight without bail on a charge of theft.

Te charges in his letter that he was forced to accompany guards from his office to jail and that without being told what the accusations against him were or being given a hearing he was locked up. He also asserts that he was photographed in prison clothes, made to sleep with felons and finally, the morning after his arrest, was imprisoned with maniacs who threatened his life.

Barlow was released under bond the day after his arrest after being charged with selling property th was not his. In his letter he contends the deal was legal.

Barlow's case has been the cause of negotiations between the State Department and he Cuban government for years, and after his arrest Secretary Stimson ordered an emissary to make a further investigation.

EXILED LEADER ARRESTED

EYDTKUHNEN, Ea. Prussia, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Col. Pletskaitis, leader of Lithuanian exiles in Poland, and who was accused last May of being head of a gang which attempted to assassinate Premier Augustinas Waldemaras, of Lithuania, was arrested here with five of his followers. All were armed and the police assert that 12 bombs were found in possession of the group.

The gendarmes assumed that the band was lying in wait to attack the train upon which Premier Waldemaras will return to Lithuania from the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva.

Lithuanian government circles have blamed Pletskaitis for several recent clashes on the Lithuanian-Polish frontier. For two years, they say, the Colonel, who is a former member of the Lithuanian Chamber of Deputies, has made his headquarters in Vilna and from there has directed a movement aimed at removing Waldemaras from office either through political means or by assassination.

She was employed as clerk in the United States Loan Corporation of Ambridge and complaints allege she misappropriated $2,950. Police at the time of her arrest on August 6, say she admitted a shortage of $2,400. Venango Liquor Prosecutions Collapse

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—What promised to be the longest term of criminal court Venango County has had in years ended suddenly this week, following a near collapse in liquor cases, in which verdicts of not guilty came along with regularity. Judge Parker referred to a disappointing situation, saying that he did not know whether the juries or the court was to blame for the manner in which the cases developed.

He left no doubt that in one or two cases the verdict was not what had been expected from the evidence.

Kentucky Auto Tag Slogan Is Upheld

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The legality of the slogan "Kentucky for progress" on automobile license tags was upheld by the Court of Appeals, the highest tribunal of the state. In an opinion concurred in by four justices, the court declined to set aside the decision of Judge Ben G. Williams, of Frankfort, who refused an injunction asked by the Louisville Automobile Club to prevent the use of the slogan in 1930. The club had contended that the lettering interferes with identification and subjects the motorist to unfavorable comment in other states. The court held that the State Tax Commission may, under the law, decide what is to go on the tags.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—Word has been received here of the death at Mount Kisko, N. Y., of Mrs. Laura Duncan Bruce, widow of the Rev. Jesse C. Bruce, one time pastor of the First Presbyterian church here. She had been ill for some time.

IDENTIFY BODY FOUND ON DUMP

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Newark police reported they had received further substantiation of the partial identification of the man found burned to death on the Newark city dump August 9.

Last week authorities received a letter from a dentist in Cleveland stating a description of the teeth and dental work of the victim, broadcast by police, corresponded with those of Joseph Deano, sought for murder in Scranton, Pa.

Capt. Sebold, chief of Newark detectives announced he had received word from a woman dentist in Illinois, corroborating the identification.

"One thing that struck me about the man," she wrote, "was the fact that he had remarkably well-kept hands."

Investigation at Cleveland developed the dentist there had also noticed the condition of the man's hands. Police stated the dentist selected Deano's picture from a group of six without any hesitation. A revolver, wrapped in a handkerchief, protruding out of the man's pocket, which the dentist said he noticed, further leads police to believe the victim was Deano.

New Bus Line Awaits Highway

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 6.—The new Wheeling-Pittsburgh bus line, which is to operate northward along the Ohio side of the river from Wheeling to this point, where it will cross into Weirton, W. Va., will begin operations as soon as the William Penn highway between Weirton and Pittsburgh is completed. Six 30-passenger busses are being built in Cleveland.

STATE TO SCAN OLD BRIDGES

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Through two ranking officials, the state of Pennsylvania took cognizance of the several bridge failures in the state recently and moved to prevent further accidents of similar nature.

The collapse of an old bridge at Eden, Lancaster county, the second near Lancaster within the last 11 days, with both resulting in fatalities, prompted Chairman W. D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, to issue instructions for an immediate survey of all antiquated structures in the county to determine their fitness for continued use.

Later in the day James Lyall Stuart, secretary of highways, conferred with his chief engineer, Samuel Eckels, with a view of having all county bridges in the state inspected for their safety.

Both Lancaster County bridges were privately owned structures. The Eden bridge, which fell as a truck which struck an abutment, was crossing it with resultant death to the driver, was situated on the New Holland pike, the last toll road in the state. The other, which also fell after being struck by an automobile, killing one of the occupants, crossed the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and was erected and maintained by the railroad.

So far as is known both cases were without precedent in recent years and the two state officials declared they were uncertain as to what procedure could be followed in a possible preventative campaign of general inspection.

In the present emergency, however, Chairman Ainey sent several engineers and investigators to Lancaster County to check the condition of all the old spans in the county. His future action, he said, would depend on the findings of the investigation.

READING, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—John S. Gruber, of Temple, this county, who drowned at Greensburg, Pa., was in charge of picnic activities of the Reading Department of Recreation the past summer. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gruber, of Temple.

Gruber, who was 21, and Russell Dunkle left Temple for Greensburg by automobile Tuesday morning. They intended visiting G. Clifford Singley and William L. Yeager, both formerly of this city, who are serving as athletic coaches for the Mt. Pleasant High School.

Third Missing Boy Sought in Ohio

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Sept. 6.—Tuscarawas county authorities have been asked to help locate the county's third missing boy, Earl Helmick, 13, son of J. R. Helmick, Gnadenhutten, who disappeared at Schoenrunn Memorial Park. The other two missing youths are William Sharp, 16, Dover, and Robert, 16, son of Jack Wassem, Dover.

SWIMMERS SAVE 5 IN LAKE

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—After two of their companions swam a mile and a half to shore and roused a coast guard crew, five persons in a yachting party, including a life guard, were rescued from their over-turned boat in Lake Michigan. Miss Emma Shemaitis, Illinois Women's Athletic Club swimming star, and George Meyers, dove from the swamped craft and swam through the fog to shore.

The five clingin to the hull of the boat were rescued after four hours in the water.

A stiff puff of wind had blown down the mainsheet of their sail boat and entangled the sail with the rudder, turning the craft over. Miss Shemaitis and Meyers decided to seek help when they realized the heavy haze over the lake would prevent their being seen from shore. Those rescued were Philips Howland, owner of the boat; Freda and Marian Herold, sisters; Eda Richt and Hurley De Roin, a life guard.

Beaver Falls Girl Wins Beauty Crown

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—As closing event of the Beaver County Fair Association, Louise Hutzley, Beaver Falls, won first honors in the bathing beauty contest. Second prize went to Evelyn Simpson, of Monaca Heights, and third prize to Mrs. Ruth Webb, New Brighton.

WATER TREATY TO AID FARMS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The International Commission which for three weeks has been discussing here the disposition of the waters of the Rio Grande, Colorado and Tiajuanna Rivers, announced that it would be unable to complete its work here and that it would recess on October 10. A second session is to convene in Washington, probably on October 15. A joint statement, issued by the American and Mexican sections of the commission said that discussion thus far had been upon agreed facts reported by experts who were employed to determine the volume of the river discharges and the areas of land already irrigated or irrigable. The statement added:

"The benefits of any international agreement that is reported will be increased by the stability it will give not only to farm values and rural credit, but by the stimulus it will provide to border cities like Calexico, Yuma and Mexicali and to the transformation of Mesquite plains into irrigated farming sections.

"This commission is dealing with a problem of immense importance both to Mexico and the United States, the significance of which has been realized only within the past 10 years. In all three of the river valleys irrigation is necessary, but irrigation, coupled with climate and soil, will give to agriculture there a value not surpassed in any other part of either country."

GREEK RELICS UNEARTHED

SALONICA, Greece, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Relics of the ancient Greek civilizaton that flourished before the birth of Christ have been discovered at Dion, where Prof. Soterlades, of the Unversity of Salonika, has been carrying on excavations.

Dion was an important strategic point on the road from Macedonia into Thessaly, and was destroyed by the Etolians in 220 B. C. Half a century later it was rebuilt and "well fortified and adorned with public buildings and a multitude of statues."

It became a Roman colony, Colonia Julia Diensis, in the first century after Christ, and flourished for many decades as a center of politics and culture. The great theater where Euripides was invited to present his tragedes still exists.

The city was mentioned as recently as 346 A. D., when Bishop Palladios signed the minutes of an ecclesiastical synod held at the present Bulgarian capital, Sofia.

Prof. Soterlades' finds include the line of the ancient walls which are 10 feet thick, and the almost intact northern gate, where a straight road, mentioned by Thucydides, leads to the southern entrance.

He also discovered Latin inscriptions mentioning the Emperors Tiberius and Trajan, coins of the second century, an early Christian church with a fine mosaic floor, decorated with crosses, bits of sculpture of Hellenistic and Roman times, the head of a Macedonian prince, a small Greek temple and well-preserved Roman tomb.

BISHOP URGES OLD METHODS

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6. — The 10 ministers and lay delegates attending the Pittsburgh district conference, Evangelical church, in session here, heard Bisop S. P. Spreng, chairman, emphasize the old type of evangelism in preference to the more modern visitation program. Nothing, he says, can replace the old time fervor in which the individual has a full part and catches the spirit of worship.

Addresses by prominent ministers have featured the conference. Prof. J. Roger Kratz called attention to the advantages offered by Albright College at Reading, from which institution three graduates are seeking licenses from the present conference.

The examining committee reported favorably on the petitions of L. H. Benson, H. M. Mohney and S. Clay Shaffer for deacons' orders, and on candidates Francis Gibbons, Harris Paul, Lawrence Osborne and Clarence and Ernest Bittner to preach.

Hindenburg Backs War Debt Accord

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—President von Hindenburg received a report of the deliberations of The Hague reparations conference from the minister of economics, Julius Curtius. In the absence of Foreign Minister Stresemann he requested Dr. Curtius to transmit to the other members of the German delegation his appreciation for the work at The Hague.

He also expressed satisfaction that Germany's right to freedom in the Rhineland from the burden of foreign occupation is at last to be met in the near future.

Shoe Manufacturer To Be Buried Today

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—Funeral services are to be held today for William Moran, who died suddenly while on a vacation in Yellowstone Park. Moran was a former resident of Titusville, but for a number of years has been in the shoe manufacturing business in Auburn, Me. He was taken ill about a year ago, but rallied, and friends thought the trip West might aid his recovery. He leaves his wife, formerly Cecelia Rieseman, of this city, and two small children.

Charles M. Schwab Service Club Speaker

EBENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—More than 1,200 men and women affiliated with service clubs of Central Pennsylvania attended a luncheon at the Cambria County Fair. Charles M. Schwab, steel king and head of the fair association, was the principal speaker. Justice John W. Kephart, of the State Supreme Court, gave a toast to the clubs. Music was furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad Band and the Red Arrow Quartet, both from Pitcairn. Prominent officers of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs were among the guests.

Accused Slayer Declared Insane

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—John Gibbers, now serving a term in Western Penitentiary and brought here several weeks ago for trial, will be sent to the asylum of criminal insane at Fairview, Judge Parker ruled. A sanity commission reported that his mind is unsound.

Gibbers shot Desk Sergeant Walter W. Powell, of Oil City, in escaping from the lockup there in June, 1928. Powell died several months later, and Gibbers was brought here for trial.

MUSSOLINI BABY CITIZENESS

FORLI, Italy, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Anna Maria Mussolini, latest addition to the family of the Duce and sublimely unconscious of breaking precedents and rules, was duly enrolled as a citizeness of Italy, her birth certificate bearing the signatures of both the Premier and Finance Minister Mosconi.

Imposing delegations of functionaries, headed by Fascist Grand Officer Guido Farello, prefectorial commissary for Forli Commune, repair to Premier Mussolini's Villa Carpena to receive the official paper from the proud father.

The Duce pressed Signor Mosconi into service as a witness, interrupting the Finance Minister's report on the weighty deliberations at The Hague reparations conference.

Anna Maria's advent into the world caused the permanent grain committee to transfer its sessions from Rome to Forli, obliging two ministers, two senators, two deputies and the director-general of agriculture to wait upon her father's pleasure at his villa.

The youngest Mussolini will be christened before Sunday, probably by the Bishop of Forli.

SOVIET DROPS SUNDAY REST

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The Soviet government has abolished Sunday as a regular day of rest by inaugurating in scores of Soviet trades and other institutions what is known as "the continuous production week." The move is calculated to quicken the pace of industry, increase the productivity of labor and relieve unemployment.

Each employe will be required to work the usual number of hours which now range from 39 to 46. All, however, will have a day of rest after every five or six days of labor.

In this way, while one group is resting, another batch of employes will be carrying on the full activities of the factory or institution. Thus something approaching a "continuous chain of work" will be achieved.

Another interesting departure was a decision to utilize space now occupied by single state institutions for two separate institutions. Under this scheme one group would work in the morning and another group carry on a different line of activity in the same building in the afternoon.

'Frozen' Assets Close West Virginia Bank

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The State Banking Department announced the closing of the Pullman State Bank of Pullman, Ritchie county, because of depleted reserve and frozen assets.

At a meeting of the directors attended also by W. R. Seal, assistant commissioner of banking, the institution was turned over to the banking department for liquidation.

The last published statement of the bank on June 29 showed assets of $183,613, loans and discounts of $156,968 and deposits of $134,063. The bank was capitalized at $25,000.

Jewelry Store Robbery Foiled

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 6.—What police believe was an attempt to rob the display windows at the Wengler jewelry store was frustrated by Clarence Fair, garageman, who heard the crashing of glass. He saw a man run from the store. A brick had been thrown through the window.

The A. Wishart and Sons Company garage was looted by thieves, who gained entrance by breaking a lock. Tires and batteries were taken.

A house at 5524 Avondale place, Eleventh Ward, has been sold by Mrs. Carrie M. Dunham to Morris Hoffman for $11,000. The lot is 30x104 feet.

Ellis & Carr sold for Edward D. White to J. M. Besson a brick house at 2005 De Ruad street for $5,000.

A house in Hermitage street, Thirteenth Ward, lot 25x92 feet, has been sold by William L. Miller to John W. Hare, Jr., for $7,300.

CHURCH TO LAY CORNERSTONE

Cornerstone laying of the new edifice of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, at its new location at Boggs avenue and Smithway, will be observed Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This project, which had its inception many years ago, developed about two years ago in the purchase of the property for approximately $15,000. Again, in March, 1929, a financial campaign was conducted.

An approprate ground-breaking service having been held on Sunday, May, 5, actual building operations were commenced by the contractor during the week of June 24.

The new church when completed and fully equipped is expected to cost approxmately $80,000, and will include in one structure a church auditorium to seat 400 people, a spacious Sunday School room and social parlor, with some individual class rooms, a large vestry room in the tower of the church, and in addition thereto, will have immediately adjoining the church structure its parsonage, containing the pastor's study and his private living quarters.

The exterior of the building for the most part will be Indiana limestone, the rear of the entire building and side walls of the parsonage being of gray brick.

The general building committee for this project is headed by the pastor, the Rev. David F. Schultz, who entered the service of the congregation in October, 1928, and includes Messrs. E. V. Schmidt, Edward Yochim, Albert Grimenstein, Jr., and W. H. Kiefer, while the finances are being cared for by a committee consisting of Messrs. P. L. Riehl, Irvin W. Schmidt and J. J. Graeser.

CLASS TO HOLD DEDICATION

Dedication services will be held in the new class room Sunday by the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Library and Parker avenues, Braddock. The room was constructed under the supervision of the class and was completed several weeks ago.

H. C. Gridland, adult division superintendent of the State Sunday School Association, will give the principal address. Short talks will be made by the Rev. Thomas Charlesworth, former pastor of the church; the Rev. Alexander Steele, present pastor; Charles M. Ellenberger, former teacher of the class; G. P. Roby, former class president; O. F. Westlund, present teacher, and Charle Owens, class superintendent.

SHIPS' OFFICERS HELD FOR TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Three deck officers of the passenger liner San Juan and the oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd, which collided near here a week ago with the loss of 71 or more lives, were held for trial starting Wednesday before the U. S. Board of Steamboat Inspectors.

Those ordered held were: Capt. H. O. Bleumchen, master of the Dodd; Ott V. Saunders, third officer of the Dodd, and Robert Pappenfuss, third officer of the San Juan.

The three were formally charged with "inattention to duty and unskilfulness in the navigation of their respective ships." Capt. Adolph Asplund of the San Juan went down with his ship which was rammed by the Dodd in a fog. The two third officers were on duty during the time just before the crash at midnight Thursday.

Placing of the charges followed a three-day hearing at which both crewmen of the two ships and rescued passengers of the San Juan testified.

Pappenfuss testified that he first sighted the port (red) light of the Dodd about two miles away through the gathering fog. He told of the lookout on the San Juan suddenly reporting the starboard (green) light of the Dodd only 400 feet distant. It was then both ships reversed their engines. A few moments later the Dodd crashed into the passenger liner amidships. The San Juan officer declared it would have required 10 minutes to have stopped the forward movement of his ship even with the engines driving full speed astern.

Body of Boy Found In Old Quarry Pool

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Covered by 12 feet of water, the body of Jack Potter, 12, was found late yesterday by Harbor Police in an abandoned quarry hole. The boy disappeared from his home Wednesday afternoon and search was begun by his parents and neighbors. During the evening his shoes and stockings were found by Police beside the quarry opening. The Harbor Police grappled with hooks from a rowboat after officials of the fire department said no apparatus in the department's equipment was suitable for pumping the pit dry.

PACKETS PLAN FEWER STOPS

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The larger packets on the Ohio River between Parkersburg and Pittsburgh are going to adopt new methods in picking up and discharging freight. Instead of dropping a landing stage at any farm where freight is to be received or delivered, the packets are to stop only at the towns in the future.

Gasoline boats that ply the river on short hauls will pick up the freight at these landings. It will be taken to the nearest wharfboat for transfer to the larger craft.

Building Contracts For August Down

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—New building and engineering work contracted for during the week ending August 31, in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains amounted to $122,313,500, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. The week's total brought the month's record up to $489,132,400, a decrease of 5 per cent when compared with the August, 1928, figure, and a decrease of 25 per cent from the total of the preceding month.

CALENDAR VOTE INAUGURATED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—A nation-wide referendum on the subject of calendar reform has been started by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Member organizations are asked to vote on three recommendations of a special committee of the chamber, as follows:

That the present calendar should be so changed as to bring about a greater comparability in business records.

That the form of the new calendar should be determined through international conference.

The committee has itself put forward no specific plan of "reform," pointing to the difference of opinion that exists among proponents of a change.

Two members of the committee, Stanley H. Bullard of Bridgeport, Conn., and Henry D. Sharpe of Providence, R. I., yesterday submitted a minority report vigorously opposing any changes in the calendar.

"Raiding Constable" Twice Convicted

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—Clarence I. Conner, Greene County's "raiding constable," found guilty of forcible entry, was convicted yesterday of assault and battery preferred by Mrs. Mable Ashby, of Taylortown. Fox was acquitted by the jury which convicted Conner.

Civil War Veterans Will Hold Reunion

CAPPER PUSHES SCHOOL BILL

By SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER, of Kansas, co-author of Capper-Robinson bill in Congress to create a Federal Department of Education.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Establishment of a Federal Department of Education, with its head in the President's cabinet, is proposed in the national interest and in the interest of the children of America.

This separate department should have been established years ago. I am hopeful that we will get affirmative action in the coming regular session of Congress.

The measure I have introduced, the same as that sponsored by Vice President Charles Curtis while he was in the Senate from Kansas, does not propose in any way to curtail or limit the activities of the several states and territories, without regard to race, creed or color, and will thereby work toward the abolishment of illiteracy.

The measure expressly provides that the creation and operation of the separate department neither impair nor infringe upon the laws, rights, duties, authority or responsibilities of the several states, territories and the citizens thereof, "with respect not only to public educational agencies and institutions, but likewise as to the private educational institutions and agencies in the several states and territories."

AID TO STATES

The department would collect facts and statistics showing the progress of education in the several states and territories. It will be invaluable to the states and territories and local school subdivisions through furnishing reliable and accurate information as to educational programs and advanced methods of educational instruction. As a separate government department its opportunities for real service to the country, will be enhanced many fold.

Accurate and up-to-date information is necessary for the successful functioning of any enterprise. There is no enterprise in America today in which the country is more vitally interested than in the proper education of its youth. Equal opportunity for all is dependent upon equal educational facilities for all.

Creation and operation of a separate department will make available to every school district in the country the information and plans and accomplishments of the best equipped and managed education systems of the world. It will be even more than a clearing house; it will be a guide and an inspiration in education.

The children of America certainly are entitled to this much attention and guidance from the Federal government. It will be especially valuable to the children in rural districts. It will stimulate educational progress in the urban districts as well.

MUST GO FORWARD

I am satisfied that every thinking parent feels, as I do, that education should continue to go forward, and should be recognized and made more effective and far-reaching by a place at the council table of the nation.

Such recognition should no longer be withheld. The present Bureau of Education, while functioning to the limit of its capabilities, is a step in the right direction, but only a skeleton of what the Department of Public Education should be.

The question involved in this proposition is not whether the Federal government shall have a part in education. That policy already is established.

This bill merely provides that the part the government takes shall be more efficient. It will give a better basis of co-operation and guidance—not control, which in my judgment would not be desirable—on the part of the Federal agencies dealing with education.

It is my desire to do everything in my power to advance the cause of public education in these United States. The proposed Federal Department of Public Education would tend to advance the cause of education, and should be created and start functioning at the earliest possible date.

BOMB FOR HOME TIED TO DOG

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The family dog was pressed into service here by persons who sought to dynamite the home of Joseph Melnick, 661 Clearview street.

Several sticks of the explosive were attached to the animal, which was then chased home. As he reached the door, the charge exploded and tore off the porch, shattered windows in the building, killed the dog and caused superficial injuries to Melnick's daughter, Nellie, 12, who ran to the door when she heard the animal whining upon his arrival. Six other children in the house were uninjured. Their parents were not at home when the detonation occurred.

Beetle Season Past, State Lifts Bar

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The state department of agriculture announced that, because of lack of funds, and the fact that the most active period for the Japanese beetles is past, many of the road patrols stationed along main traveled highways, have been withdrawn.

The quarantine is still in force, however, and will remain so until October 15, the department pointed out. Proper certification must be made of all quarantined products transported out of the infested areas.

Police Seeking Cripple's Slayer

FARRELL, Pa., Sept. 6.—While authorities are attempting to solve the murder of Joseph Palladino, 35, crippled World War veteran, funeral services were to be held today at St. Ann's Church.

More than 15 men, all of whom were acquainted with Palladino, have been questioned but all denied knowledge of the killing. The man was strangled to death while on his way to work in a steel mill.

MINER NABBED IN OLD MURDER

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 6.—On information furnished by his own family, Salvatore Acquista, 42, former resident of Bellaire, O., was arrested at Waukegan, Ill., charged with the murder of Pietro Deberrado, a coal miner at Pultney Township, O., on the evening of October 12, 1920. A search has been on for the murderer for the past nine years.

James Julian was wounded at the time and is expected to be the main witness. The murder is said to have been the outgrowth of a blackhand case.

Fall From Ladder Fatal to Workman

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—B. G. Burdick of Conneaut, O., was killed when he fell from a ladder at the home of William Hunter here. He landed head-first on a cement sidewalk.

CHURCH MERGER SUCCESS SEEN

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Dr. J. C. Broomfield, president of the general conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, predicted in an address at the ninety-sixth annual conference of the Pittsburgh conference of the church here, that mergers of church boards and societies recently effected by the denomination would prove successful during the coming year.

Dr. Lyman Edwyn Davis, of Baltimore, editor the Methodist Protestant Recorder, also was a speaker.

Dr. Alden J. Allen, of Pittsburgh, was re-elected president of the conference, and the Rev. C. M. Smith, of Beaver Falls, Pa., was named journal clerk.

The 100 delegates will participate in the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the local church.

'Marianne,' First Talkie For Marion Davies, Wins Acclaim at Premiere

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—The piquant charm of "Marianne" lingered in the hearts of that large and brilliant audience at the Mayan Theater last night long after the last reel faded from the screen.

Marion Davies' lovable personality so indelibly associated with the little French "Marianne" is not easily forgotten. Her remarkable accent, her songs and her comedy as well as her pathos proved a glorious fulfillment of what her admirers had hoped for her.

Marion Davies

It did not seem possible that any American girl could speak with an accent through 11 reels and never once forget herself. Yet so perfectly did she speak her lines that one never for a moment felt she was forcing herself to talk a new and strange language.

There is everything to commend in this film, the first talkie of its kind to come from Los Angeles. The really beautiful love story, the subtleness of comedy, the dramatic moments, are all impressive but greatest of all is the consistent performance of Marion Davies. Only an artiste sure of herself and with that knowledge deep within her soul would have dared to undertake such a difficult role.

AMAZES FRIENDS

Many of those in that audience tonight were people who love Marion Davies, but even those who were sure she would surpass herself were totally unprepared for her characterization of the little French peasant girl.

The story of "Marianne" is laid in France at the end of the war, so we are mercifully spared a riot of shot and shell. Only a brief scene with booming cannons and noisy explosives indicates the horrors of battle. The war is over almost at the beginning of the story.

The American boys are billeted at Marianne's little home. Her adventures at times are comical to the point of being riotous, and at other times as beautifully serious as the most dramatic love story ever unfolded.

The slang of the American lads, their good humor and their rollicking songs lift "Marianne" into a place of entertainment heretofore conceded only to "Broadway Melody." "Marianne" has all of the musical qualities of "Broadway Melody" combined with an excellent story which had its origin with Dale Van Every. It has also been given excellent dialogue by Laurence Stallings and Gladys Unger.

REAL SONG HIT

One of the surprise performances of "Marianne" is that given by Lawrence Gray. Mr. Gray has a charming singing voice. His singing of "Marianne" is sure to make it one of the song hits of the year. As the wise-cracking, smart-alec American who first teases and then falls in love with Marianne, he is truly delightful.

His two buddies are played by Cliff Edwards and Benny Rubin. My arch enemy, Benny, is surely a screen comedy find. He reminds one of Eddie Cantor with his broad Jewish dialect and his humorous cracks at his own race. In my most pessimistic moments I'll have to admit Benny can dance.

Mr. Edwards and his ukulele called for more. His special number "When I See My Sugar" had everyone humming. The interpolation of his songs and his famous uke is so natural that we never feel the musical numbers are planned for effect. Let's have more of "Ukulele Ike," we like his restraint in acting as well as his music.

The songs in "Marianne" afford one of its greatest charms. To hear Marion sing "Just You, Just" gave that audience a thrill. She has the stage presence and the voice of a seasoned trouper.

It's difficult to say which one of the songs composed by Fred E. Ahlert and Roy Turk is the most catchy. "Blondy" is tuneful and it has the elements that make for popularity. Mr Ahlert and Mr. Turk were aided in their composing activity of Nacio Herb Brown, Arthur Freed, Jesse Greer and Raymond Klargis.

I don't know which wrote which, but the success of each individual song is after all, a matter of opinion. "Blondy" has a charm all its own, so has "Oo-la-la-la-la," "The Girl From Noochateau" and "Hang On To Me." Few talkies have so many song hits and not one of the previous sound pictures has had its song numbers so spontaneously injected.

We have been so engrossed with the musical end that we have failed to mention the performance of George Baxter as "Marianne's" French sweetheart. He speaks French like a native and perhaps he is French.

Scott Kolk, the lieutenant; Robert Edeson, the general; Oscar Apfel, the aide, and Emile Chautaro each gives a meritorious piece of individual acting.

"Marianne" establishes a new record for Marion Davies. It demonstrates her ability as a musical comedy favorite for future talkies. It is her first talkie, and I can think of no other star who would have had the courage to attempt an accent in her first adventure with the microphone. Marion should be credited doubly, not only for being able to sing, but for being able to manage the difficult, throaty tones so characteristic of the French race.

DRAMATIC ACTRESS

One to whom much of the credit for "Marianne" goes is Robert Z. Leonard, the director. Mr. Leonard has been particularly successful with Miss Davies' pictures. He understands so well her ability to play comedy and at the same time her dramatic sense. His handling of "Marianne" is a piece of deep and thoughtful direction. A scene particularly to his credit and that of Miss Davies is where she says goodby to the American doughboy. We get so used to associating Marion Davies with comedy, we forget what a fine dramatic actress she is. That scene is one of the best in the entire picture.

Seldom has any premiere brought out so many distinguished guests. Long before "Marianne" unreeled, the Mayan Theater was filled. The Fox Movietone newsreel, a very amusing comedy called "A Perfect Day," with Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, and a colortone Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer number preceded "Marianne." Hardy and Laurel are always funny. I have yet to see them make a dull comedy.

Xavier Cugat furnished the music for the evening, which, needless to say, will go down in history as one of the most brilliant premieres in Los Angeles.

GOT SO BILIOUS I LOOKED DIRTY

World's Tonic Most Effective Medicine I Ever Heard Of.

"Last summer I got so bilious that the whites of my eyes turned a sickly yellow and my skin always looked dirty. I had difficulty in concentrating my mind on anything, and had no energy whatever. I would belch and belch after my meals, and soon my kidneys were affected. I formerly weighed 148 pounds and I got down where I only weighed 116," said Mrs. Waught, a well-known lady of E. Liverpool, Ohio.

"There was great pain and stiffness in my shoulders and back, and my bowels were so sore that I thought I must have appendicitis. This state of affairs continued for several months, with me growing weaker and weaker every day. I got worse after I had the flu. I had begun to despair of ever getting well, when an old neighbor of mine urged me to try World's Tonic, the new medicine that is creating so much attention in our town. I was unwilling to spend any more money on medicine, but she insisted so strongly that I finally bought it. Her pushing me into this purchase I owe the splendid health that I now enjoy. This wonderful tonic took right hold, and after a few days I could feel myself growing stronger. All the pain and sickness disappeared at the end of two weeks, my eyes cleared up, my skin took on a better color, and I began to feel like a new woman. My weight is now 129 pounds.

"Since my recovery I have kept a bottle in the house, and when I feel I have eaten too much or feel a cold coming on I take a dose or two. I want everybody you can reach to know that World's Tonic did a wonderful thing for me, and that it is the best medicine I ever heard of."

World's Tonic is sold by Dow's (formerly McCulloch's), also May's, Mayflower, and by any other first class drug store. (A-90)

HOOVER FAVORS SCHOOL FILMS

By KENNETH CLARK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. — The Hoover administration strongly favors augmenting the country's educational facilities through the use of motoh pictures in the schools and colleges.

President Hoover is known to feel that the question of enlarging the educational opportunities of all children is one of the fundamental problems confronting both the Federal and state governments. He is of the opinion that educational films can be utilized advantageously in this work.

Louis B. Mayer, vice president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who will be a week-end guest at the White House, is one of the leaders of the motion picture educational movement. He has acquainted Mr. Hoover with various phases of the subject.

In honor of a distinguished company, Mr. Mayer gave a dinner last night at the Willard Hotel.

GARY COOPER AND LUPE VELEZ REPORTED MARRIED AT SECRET CEREMONY

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate).

Hollywood, Sept. 6.

OF COURSE, there may have been a verbal fumble ere the story reached this flick bureau. Nevertheless, via the forward pass route, the following yarn comes to the Premier typewriter, to-wit:

That Lupe Velez and Gary Cooper admitted to a mutual friend that they were married several months ago.

Yes, I too, marveled how these screen-ites could be married and nary a newspaper note announcing it. Yet 'tis probable, especially if Lupe registered on the license under her own name—Guadalupe Villabolos; and Gary under his—Frank J. Cooper.

Gary Cooper.

Lupe has departed with the Henry King "Out of the Night" troupe for 10 weeks location in Florida, so 'twas impossible to communicate with her. At the time this colyum went to press, ye scribe was unable to get in touch with Gary. Ergo, the story travels as a report.

The exodus to Europe continues. J. P. Schulberg, Paramount chieftain, and his wife, depart for the other side. Mr. and Mrs. George Bancroft have booked passage on the same ship which, I believe, is the Isle de France. Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hamilton hit the briny trail in a day or so, connecting with the Bremen in Manhattan. This is Neil's first holiday in ages and, incidentally, his initial European trip. Likewise, George Bancroft's.

Sills to Return To Movie Studio

MR. AND MRS. MILTON SILLS, (Doris Kenyon) returned to Ye Village around October. They have been in the East nigh onto six months. Milton is described as fit as a fiddle, having recovered from the nervous breakdown that for a time threatened his life. He ha been spending his recuperative days at Doris' camp in the Adirondacks.

Doris Kenyon.

Prior to his illness, Sills had signed a new First National contract for a period of two years. He returns to that studio to complete it under the Jack Warner regime.

As for Doris, she has not been idle. She buckled down to hard work, studying opera with a famous teacher. She also has gone after sundry languages: French, German, Italian and Spanish. Her voice improved rapidly, so rapidly that her teacher arranged an audience for her with the Philadelphia Opera Company. They enthused over her voice and contracted her to sing "Manon" and "Lohengrin" for the coming season.

Doris also specialized in group songs on the order of Yvette Gilbert and Raquel Meller. She will debut in New York at the Selwyn Theater in this type of concert on September 29.

Whether or not Doris will remain East when Milton returns to Hollywood is doubtful. Florenz Ziegfeld was so delighted with her vocal power that he offered to sign her for the new Follies. But 'tis likely that she will come home with her husband and resume work in the vocalloids.

FISH OR FOWL?

THAT grapefruit was originally known as "shadduck."

That it costs more to motor to Chicago than to go by train.

That Henry Young, of the Globe Theater on B'way, is a treasurer who can write a check for a million that will not bounce back.

Havana Puts Ban On All Dance Halls

HAVANA, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The capital of Cuba is virtually danceless following upon orders issued by the Interior Department to close immediately all dancing academies in Havana, on charges of violation of laws ruling societies and club privileges. Fifty public dance halls are affected. Protests came from women's clubs and civic organizations which branded the halls as "dens or iniquity" and "pitfalls for young womanhood."

CHARGE POLICE SOLD RECORDS

LOS ANGELES Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The district attorney's office announced it had received information indicating police had sold to criminals for $1,000 to $3,000 official fingerprint and photograph records taken from department files.

The information, it was stated, was uncovered during the investigation of J. B. Westman's story of police bribery which, he charged, afforded him protection for five years for operation of a bootlegging establishment.

Five witnesses will be called by the grand jury, which is investigating the story of Westman, alias Harry D. McDonald, to present the new angle of alleged police corruption.

Switchman Found Dead Along Tracks

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Sept. 6.—Roy Beans, 55, Cleveland switchman and son of Isaiah B. Beans, this city, was found dead along the Erie Railroad tracks in Cleveland, where he fell under a passing train.

Old Law Provides Rum Sellers Must Work

ELGIN, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—A law half a century old has been dusted off by Circuit Judge Olney Allen to curb liquor law violations in Kane county.

The law provides that bootleggers and other illegal purveyors of intoxicants may be made to work out fines at the rate of $1.50 a day, and that jailers are privileged "to attach balls and chains to them" to prevent escape.

Judge Allen said the imposition of fines has had little effect in curtailing bootlegging, and he indicated the old law would be invoked in flagrant cases.

Canadians Convict Nude Doukhobors

NELSON, B. C., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Three of 128 Doukhobors placed on trial here for appearing publicly nude at South Slogan, August 2, were convicted. Sentence was deferred. The three, George Evedokenoff, Nick Sheveldorff and Alex Perevezoff, pleaded not guilty to charges of exposure, but admitted they had stripped. The police provoked their action, they said.

WOMAN INVENTS SAFETY GAS

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Suicide by artificial gas will be impossible if the claims made by Miss Mary L. Sherrill, of Massachusetts College, Mt. Holyoke, prove well founded.

After protracted experiments, Miss Sherrill has invented what she calls "sneeze gas," which, she claims, when mixed with ordinary gas, will make it impossible for any one to take his life with artificial gas.

At the same time the mixture eliminates danger of accidental suffocation from escaping gas.

The effect of a very small quantity of the new gas, being mixed with the ordinary supply, is that, as soon as the gas reaches the nostrils of the would-be suicide, it provokes such general and violent discomfort the victim involutarily calls out and alarms the neighborhood.

In the case of persons liable to be overcome by fumes during sleep, the same results are achieved. It would be impossible for anyone so attaacked to sleep undisturbed until death came.

Firemen Spurned By Voters, Buy Own Trucks

CHICAGO, Sept. 6—(AP.)—If some West Chicagoan hereafter finds it necessary to emit that famous S. O. S., "Fireman Save My Child," the matter can be taken care of with neatness and dispatch.

West Chicago voted not to buy new fire equipment. Last night the fire alarm sounded. Down the street came their firemen, looking like million dollars in new uniforms. Behind them two shiny new fire trucks.

"A fellow can't be a fireman without fire trucks," explained Mayor Keppler, who enjoys his fire-fighting as much as the best of them. "So we bought 'em out of our own pockets."

To some people this may appear extravagance; but throughout the country, volunteer firemen will understand.

Galveston to Test Pajama Practicality

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The new fashion of pajamas for every day summer street wear will be given the acid test here Sunday, Beach Association officials having set aside the day for a "pajama promenade." Six prizes have been offered.

TEMPLE BURIED AGES FOUND

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6—(AP.)—Dr. John C. Hill, director of the department of religion, archaeology and anthropology at the University of Southern California, just returned from the South Seas, announced today he had discovered on the Island of Bali, near Java, "the temple of Boro Boedoer on which there is three miles of life-sized bas relief as interesting as any book ever written."

The temple, Dr. Hill said, was buried 1,200 years ago. It has five levels, or stories, so far uncovered, and was the seat of an ancient native religion.

Dr. Hill described the island as 100 miles long and having a population of 1,000,000. He said the island was a virtual uptopia, where the natives lived with little effort a life free from worry and care. The natives verged on physical perfection, and lived highely moral lives, he declared.

HOOVER CAMP SEASON OVER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The week-end trips to the fishing camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia which have afforded President Hoover much pleasure and recreation since he took office have come to an end until next spring.

Two or three visits before the cold weather still may be made, but to all practical purposess the camp will be closed down until the spring trout fishing season once more lures Mr. Hoover after the long winter months indoors. Originally the summer season was not to be regarded as closed until after the middle of this month, but engagements for both this week end and the next will prevent trips into the Blue Ridge Mountains.

This week-end he will confer with members of the Republican national committee who will meet next Monday. The next week-end Mr. Hoover will attend the regatta on the Potomac River to watch speedboats race for the President's cup.

PITTSBURGHER ENTHUSIASTIC OVER KONJOLA

"Simply Amazing," He Says, "the Way This New Medicine Worked in My Stubborn Case."

Medicines, like men, are known for their deeds, not promises, and by making good, even where all else tried has failed, Konjola has become the most talked-of medicine in Pittsburgh, as well as wherever known in America.

MR. SAMUEL FIELDER

Read what a fellow citizen, Mr. Samuel Fielder, 540 Center Street, East Pittsburgh, said to the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. See what this new medicine of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—meant to his health and happiness. Meet the Konjola Man, and hear the remarkable story of this remarkable medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Hear how Konjola's ingredients, working together, yet singly, cleanse and stimulate the organs, and how poisons and impurities are driven from the system, making room for new and glorious health.

But first read the words of tribute from Mr. Fielder; they should be full of cheer and encouragement for all who suffer:

"It is simply amazing," said Mr. Fielder, "the way this new medicine worked in my stubborn case of six years' standing. My chief trouble was with my kidneys, and then indigestion added to my miseries and general ill-health and run-down condition. My back was always stiff and painful. I had difficulty in stooping over. At night I had to get up frequently and the loss of sleep and lack of needed rest tore down my strength and depleted my weight and vitality. After meals came pains, gas, bloating and heart palpitation. I had dizzy spells, and spots danced before my eyes. I tried one medicine after another, year after year, and always ended in disappointment.

"When Konjola was recommended to me I was inclined to scoff, but a friend insisted that I try it, and he seemed so sure that Konjola was what I needed that I began to believe it myself. Well, my friend was right, for Konjola did just as he told me it would. I was astounded to find improvement in my condition within a week, and at the end of the second week I felt practically well. This, however, was too good to believe, and I thought that I had gained mere temporary relief. But another two weeks on Konjola established the fact that my digestion was normal and that my kidneys had been cleared up. I am feeling better than for six years, and I feel that I owe it to Konjola, and to any who suffer as I did, to tell of my splendid experience with this wonderful medicine."

So it goes; the same fine story of success when Konjola is given a chance to prove its merits. Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

There is also a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, Smithfield and Diamond Streets — also Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

PLAN BIG PRISON NEAR N.Y. CITY

ALBANY, Sept. 6.—Plans for a new $15,000,000 state prison near New York City, possibly in the foothills of the Catskills, were discussed by Gov. Roosevelt at a conference with Police Commissioner Grover Whalen, of New York, and Assemblyman Maurice Block, Democratic leader of the lower house of the Legislature.

There is every indication the Governor will recommend in his message to the 1930 Legislature the erection of a new prison somewhere in the vicinity of Greater New York.

The Governor also discussed with Commissioner Whalen and Assemblyman Block the flareup between Whalen and prohibition authorities over whose duty it is to stamp out the 32,000 speakeasies in New York City. The Governor said:

"We only discussed the speakeasy situation in an informal manner. It came up as many other subjects do over a luncheon table."

What Gov. Roosevelt regards as inequalities in the Baumes crime laws, also were discussed with Whalen and Block.

Whalen is known to have told the Governor he was convinced the Baumes law regarding fourth offenders are unduly harsh in some instances. The Governor reiterated today, however, that he is not in favor of any modification in the Baumes laws at present.

Carp Weighing 38 Pounds Gigged In Potomac

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 6.—A 38-pound carp was gigged by Chester Hiett and Clarance Bender, of the county, in the Opequon, near the Potomac River, near here. It is the largest carp ever captured in this section by more than five pounds. Gigging of the carp is permitted under the state law as being a non-game fish. No carp even approaching the latest capture have been caught here for some years.

WATER SHORT, MILLS SUFFER

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 6.—After a 13-day water shortage, Youngstown industries face a serious situation because of the low stage in the Mahoning River. The flow from the Milton reservoir has been cut to 50,000,000 gallons per day from 120,000,000 gallons, and industries, especially the steel companies, are experiencing difficulty in maintaining their high rate of operations. If the drouth continues, a serious situation will develop.

Unsettlement in China Affects U. S. Trade

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Exports of tobacco products from the United States for the first six months of 1929 dropped $1,000,000 below the figure for the corresponding period last year.

The Department of Commerce, in making this announcement today, said the decrease from $12,000,000 to $11,000,000 was due largely to disturbed conditions in China.

Cigarets represent seven-eighths of the value of total tobacco exports from the United States and China is the most important market, purchasing 3,200,000,000 cigarets during the first half of 1929.

This was 64 per cent of the total cigaret exports from the United States, but was 20 per cent less than Chinese consumption for the first half of 1928.

P.R.T. PURCHASE PLAN SCRAPPED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Scrapping of the condemnation proceedings for the purchase by the city of the underlying companies of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for $149,000,000 was ordered by the City Council at a special meeting.

The action was taken after Mayor Mackey had taken the offensive in the first real battle for political supremacy within the local Republican organization.

In a flood of communications sent to Council the Mayor placed the responsibility for the city's transit situation, one of the biggest issues in the political fight, squarely with the city's legislative body. He submitted a statement seeking to prove that all steps looking toward condemnation of the underliers had originated with Council.

Mayor Mackey, who several weeks ago expressed his opposition to the purchase of the underliers, sought to anticipate any possible move by Council, most of whose members are supporters of Senator-elect William S. Vare, by recommending that an investigation be made looking to a "full disclosure of every pertinent fact" in the relationship between the P. R. T. and Mitten management.

But Council took its action before permitting the Mayor's messages to be read. It adopted, 19 to 0, a resolution directing the city solicitor to end all the proceedings before the courts and the Public Service Commission for the condemnation of the underliers. The resolution, presented by Edwin R. Cox, president of the chamber, criticised Mayor Mackey's attitude on the underliers.

The Vare adherents left the road open to take advantage of any political thunder that may be produced by discussion of the Mayor's messages, which was postponed until the next meeting, by moving up to September 16, one day before the primary, the regular meeting of Council scheduled for September 19.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

BEAUTY BRIDE OF CARTOONIST

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Gilbert Tom Webster, sports cartoonist for the London Daily Mail, and Miss Mae Flynn, former Follies girl, were married at City Hall in the presence of British and American sporting world celebrities, by Mayor Walker.

Sir Thomas Lipton, well known British sportsman, and Jimmie Johnston and Dan McKettrick, fight promoters, were among the 75 persons present at the ceremony.

After the ceremony, Mr. Webster showed some hesitation about kissing his bride, and the mayor ordered: "Kiss your bride, it's part of the contract."

Mr. Webster gave his birthplace as Bliston, England, and the bride's as Hoboken, N. J. After a honeymoon spent in Hollywood, the Websters will make their home in London.

ENVOY ACCUSED IN BANK THEFT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The arrest of W. M. Elizondo, consul for Nicaragua at San Diego, Cal., for the alleged embezzlement of funds from a bank here became known with his arraignment before the United States commissioner.

The nature of the alleged embezzlement was not announced pending check by bank examiners of the records. Elizondo was said to have been employed at the institution.

Federal agents said the arrest followed an extensive investigation. At the hearing Elizondo produced proof that he was a bona fide commercial representative of the Republic of Nicaragua and acting United States Attorney William Gallagher did not resist setting of a bond, declaring he was satisfied with the man's identity.

CHINESE THUGS CAPTURE SHIP

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—She old fable about beggars not being choosers went by the boards recently when a mob of half-starved Chinese soldiers crowded the decks of the Kiagten, a Yangtaze River steamer, invaded the cook's galley, ate everything in sight and then threw the cook overboard because the "chow" hadn't suited them.

This was only one of the many similar incidents that have occurred on the Yangtaze in recent months. A week seldom passes but what the disbanded and starving soldiers of either the government or some rebel general's force force their way aboard a river steamer, man-handle the pasengers and devour all the food they can lay their hands on.

The Kiagten, latest victim of such an episode, was owned and officered by Chinese. It was boarded at Nanking on its way to Hankow by 100 disbanded soldiers. They refused to pay for their passage and demanded food.

They made a rush for the galley, gobbled up all that the cook set out in front of them and then said the food was not good enough. As balm for their wounded dignities they said payment of $500 would be "just about right."

Their demands for money were laughed at and in the scene that followed, the cook was callously thrown overboard. The chief officer attempted to throw over a line but the soldiers held him.

After watching the cook drown, the soldiers gave the chief officer a severe thrashing for daring to delay the ship. They also beat the captain because he sounded the whistle. On arrival at Kiukiang the soldiers quit the boat.

The fellowships will have an annual value of $500. Dr. Turner said the fellowships had been offered for the coming year to John W. Haught, Buckhannon; J. L. Kesner, Jr., Morgantown; William Arthur Welch, Charleston; Mary Bernice Barnett, Clarksburg; and Maxine Elliott Crane, Morgantown.

Big Cities As Health Resorts?—Why Not?

DR. COPELAND

NOT long ago I talked with a newcomer to New York. He has lived for many years in California and expressed his anxiety to get back to the Coast. When I inquired why he came to New York, I was amazed at his answer: "I came for my health!"

New York is such a busy place, such a hustling, bustling, manufacturing, commercial and financial center, that it seems strange to regard it as a health resort. But why not?

As a matter of fact the great cities are pretty safe places to be born and reared. My rural readers won't understand this. They will think of the open spaces, the out-of-door life, the fresh and abundant food of the country. Indeed, the average person, if asked for an off-hand opinion, would doubtless vote against the city as the place for health.

Statistics prove—please don't laugh! Whenever a debater wants to clinch an argument he drags in "statistics."

There are said to be three kinds of lies—lies, whoppers, and statistics! As a matter of fact, you can prove almost anything by statistics.

But the laws of the various states provide for the accurate collection and recording of "vital statistics." That is, the births, deaths and marriages are carefully recorded. Severe penalties are imposed for any neglect in these matters. Much as we may doubt statistics in general, we can find out exactly what the death rate is.

Likewise, there is a growing use of figures relating to sickness, particularly as regards the contagious or infectious diseases. So we can find out from official statistics a good deal about illness.

It is an interesting fact that in several states, certainly, the death rate and sickness rate are both less in the cities than in the rural sections. You can see why, if you stop to think about it.

The water supply of the city is under constant supervision. The milk is inspected and controlled, from the cow to the consumer. The school children are submitted to periodical examinations. Baby health stations and free clinics cater to the very young and those advanced in life. Public health nurses and doctors are all the time seeking out and correcting disease producing factors. Public health educational methods are in constant use.

Of course, it won't be long before every commmunity, rural as well as urban, will have all these things. In the meantime, however, the cities may be regarded rightly as health resorts.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

In Case of a Broken Engagement

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would it be correct to return gifts received at a shower if the engagement is broken? A young lady who received many beautiful gifts from her friends at a shower given in her honor, has broken her engagement without hope of reconciliation, and she would like to know the proper thing to do in a case like this.

F. C.

YES, the gifts should be returned to their senders. With each gift the girl would write a short note explaining that, since the reason for the gift no longer exists, she feels that the gifts should be returned to the givers. Then she thanks again, most graciously, for the kindness and thoughtfulness that prompted the sending of the gift. She should not, of course, make any elaborate explanation of the breaking of the engagement—just the fact that it is broken.

The Lady Speaks

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please tell me whether the boy or girl should say "Hello" first when meeting on the street?

2. Will you please criticise my handwriting and tell me how I can improve it? JEANNE.

THE girl is given the privilege of speaking first, of acknowledging an acquaintanceship with a boy.

2. Your handwriting is "almost very" good. Hold your pen more firmly, so that your handwriting will get a more compact appearance, less loose jointed. Then form every letter most carefully. And copy some interesting-looking capitals, ones that will add distinction to your writing.

OH, look what she's caught! All of a sudden she finds love dangling on the end of her line, and she's so frightened she doesn't know what to do. And Dan Cupid laughs heartily at the trick he has played on these two late vacationists. They thought they were so secure going away so late—and that's where they were wrong. Dan had been pretty busy all through the Summer, and now he's been idle for awhile, so he's planned all the mischief of which he's capable.

No fish ever astonished them half as much as did the knowledge that love had come to them. But why be frightened? Perhaps the first dizzy knowledge has done it, but after a bit—in about a minute, to be exact—they'll realize their mistake, and be so happy at the though of love that they'll be everlastingly grateful for the impulses that sent them fishing and caught them—love!

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Noel Claims That the Thugs Live Nearby

AT NOEL'S revelation that he had seen the man who had tried to get into Mary's room, Harry Underwood was also on his feet.

"Are you sure, boy?" he queried sharply. "Tell us, quickly."

"There couldn't be two such men looking like that, could there?" Noel Veritzen asked. "Rat-like face, you said, sandy hair, partly grey, straggling over it, and a scar like a comma, deep in one cheek? I've seen a man like that."

"Then you've seen the devil himself," Mr. Underwood rejoined. "Where? When?"

"A couple of days ago when I was out riding with Eleanor—I mean Princess Olina," he said, flushing. "She always likes to go through the wood roads, and of course they are much better than the automobile highways. It was one of those winding roads that lead out toward Shinnecock, and there was a shack of a house almost hidden in the woods that looked as if nobody lived there. But sitting on the steps were three men, and one of them jumped up when he saw us and ran around back of the house. But we caught a good look at him, and the Princess exclaimed at the awful scar on his face. I'd know him again anywhere. Couldn't we go there, and make sure of capturing the man?"

"My dear boy," he said, "Wherever that bird and his companions are, they're many miles away from that shack. They're too wise to leave open any trail like that."

"Do you mean you think they've left the island?" Noel aswed hopefully.

Again Mr. Underwood made a negative sign.

"I wish I could believe that," he said, "but the lads who belong to Kenellos don't give up so easily as that. Unfortunately there are enough law-breaking, boot-legging aliens in the sparsely settled parts of this end of the island to give them a hundred safe shelters."

"Then." Noel asked fearfully, "isn't it going to be a hard task to guard all three, Mary—and Olina and Georges—when they're all in different places and there's so much space out here?"

"You've put your finger on the sore place, Noel," Mr. Underwood returned. "Hard' isn't the word. 'Impossible' would be better. Oh," as he saw the alarm in Noel's face, "I don't mean just now, everybody's safe for the next few days—they're too cagey to take any risks—those lads, but they have infinite patience, and determination, steeled by what will hapen to them if they fail, so they're going to try again at the first opportunity."

"Then what's to be done?" Noel demanded in youthful impatience.

"That's what I'm trying to figure out, son," he said softly, and Noel put no more questions.

"There's another thing we've got consider," he said. "As long as Mary is here, the farmhouse isn't going to be a very safe place for anybody."

My terrified thoughts flew to my small son, sleeping upstairs, and I shivered.

"When is your father expected?" He turned to me.

"Any day now," I returned. "He said in his last letter he would be at home some time this week."

"'Oh, let it be soon,'" he quoted, then turned to Noel.

"Do you know when Princess Olina's lease of The Larches is up? Not that it matters—although she may be fussy—you never can tell about women—some of them, I mean." His bow and smile absolved Lillian and me from his strictures.

"There is no set time, I believe," Noel answered. "She took the place for the season, and she can stay as long as she likes or leave whenever she pleases."

"Good!" Mr. Underwood replied. "And as for Prince Georges, he has no responsibility except his hotel bill and the hospital charges, neither of which, I imagine, will bother him. So there'll be nothing to hinder the baiting of the tiger trap."

I looked at him in amazement. What did he mean?

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Sweet and Low Down

COMPANIONATE marriage has proved to be just about as effective and practicable as the hip-length fur coats—only a foolish, little make-shift that covers nothing but your pride.

* * *

Women are like automobiles. The more useful they become in this world, the more beautiful they seem to become. The old idea that presence of mind denoted absence of beauty is now in the discard along with horse cars, wash-pitchers and embroidered "splashers."

* * *

HELEN ROWLAND

Wail of An Omarette.

Alas, the beauty-cures I've tried in vain,
The health-fads, I have known to wax and wane
Have gripped the public fancy, for a while—
Then passed as lightly as a summer rain.

Of carrots, I've consumed a ton or two,
And learned all fattening dishes to eschew,
And yet, withal, I am no lovelier now,
Than if I'd dined, each day, on Irish stew!

I've counted every calory I ate,
And, shuttering, have swallowed things I hate,
All for the vitamines! But, in the end,

The beauty-parlors I have fondly tried,
Have tempted me—but ah, how oft they lied!
For, this I found;—a "facial" lasts a day,
And dyed hair always LOOKS distinctly "dyed!"

Into each craze we rush, with bright hopes burning—
Then, out again, and to another turning,
We see the "joker," mutter "Gypped, again!"
Still come no nearer to the lesson learning.

How oft, I've leapt from bed, my tryst to keep
With "Daily Dozen" stunts. But why the leap?
For, all it's ever done, I might as well
Have closed my eyes—and had my beauty sleep!

I've bared myself to sunrays bold and hot!
But, this, alas, was all I ever got—
A blistered back, a peeling nose, a tan
That made me sister to the Hottentot!

And, now, with all this nonsense, I am through
I leave the quest of beauty, Love, to YOU.
I'll try no more, I'll hove no more unless—

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, September 7.

THE stellar forces for this day, both lunar and mutual configuration, make for very eventful, if not disruptive conditions. There is augury for many hazardous situations with danger to the affairs as well as to personal and property safety. Extreme caution and self-restraint is enjoined if one is to escape these many-sided perils. Things may take a sensational turn.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of extremely lively conditions, with abrupt visitations of a quite unforeseen nature. There may be violence or perils to propry and persons unless precaution be exercised. With calm management and alertness to perils, there is presage of some successes.

A child born on this day may be clever, versatile and adventurous, in many original and independent avenues of research and investigation. It may have an eventful career.

SOMERSET HITS EXTRAVAGANCE

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Formation of the non-partisan party in Somerset county "in protest against extravagance in management of public affairs," was sought in pre-emption papers filed with the Dauphin County court.

The petition cited votes cast by Somerset County members of the 1929 Legislature for the four-cent gasoline tax, and the judges' salary raiser as evidence of "extravagance."

At the same time a nominating petition naming Judge John A. Berkey as the party's candidate for judge of the Common Pleas Court of the county was received by the state elections bureau. Judge Berkey's name was the first appearing on the pre-emption petition. Others were: J. C. Lowry, James H. Seuerfield, Don R. Simpson, E. C. Hosteller, L. L. Yodes, James I. Weigh, M. Bereman and R. CONTESTS ON, FEW VOTERS

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—Although several spirited contests for Republican nominations are in progress in Washington County, voters generally are taking little interest, particularly in Washington and Monongahela, where the registration thus far has been only 50 per cent of that of a year ago. Principal contests are for the two judicial nominations, with Judges James I. Brownson, Howard W. Hughes and Attorney D. M. McCloskey, the latter of Charlerol, as the contestants. A lively fight for controller, with T. J. Underwood, incumbent, and Guy Woodward and Frank C. Lewis, both of Washington, as his principal foes, is also in progress.

The Proper Study of Mankind Is Man

The great clearing house of a man's body is the blood stream, and the stronger each cell is fortified by good food, oxygen and exercise, the stronger will be the bodily resistance (when sick). If we carry more oxygen, thereby increasing the vital resistance of weak organs, we overcome that which has been inherited or carried by excess and abuse, forcing all the laws of nature to comply with the demands of every weak organ. Health, energy, power and vitality can only be obtained and sustained by the blood cell. This cardinal principle enters the blood cell protein serums which your body is born from and lives and dies for the want of. If there is deficiency or lost vitality, languor, despendency and debility, you must enrich the blood in order to increase nutrition and permanent results will be obtained. No secret methods employed; no Doctor charges for administration of blood cell serums. Talk to the patients, themselves, which is the best evidence that can be submitted to you. Laboratory examination and blood Free. Over 35,000 treated at this Laboratory.

RECORD AUTO TOLL BRINGS WARNING FROM M'GREGOR

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

WHEN the psychologists were listing pet peeves at the conference in New Haven they missed one or two. They mentioned the screech of a piece of chalk on a blackboard, but in this division of peeves how about a place for the screech of a slate pencil on one's slate? It was that noise that caused one local youth to leave school to seek a place in the business world. The peculiar drawing-in noise made by the lips in calling a dog is another peeve that brings here the same effect as the screech of chalk. And the psychologists made no mention of the unasked-for pickle on a sandwich. As for other minor annoyances:

Havey J. Boyle

Girls who wear very short skirts and pretend they want to cover their knees by pulling at their skirts.

Women who dig out the exact change instead of getting another bill broken.

Radio announcers who laugh affectionately and confidentally into the microphone.

What is your pet peeve? Sidewalks offers a creampuff, 2¼x3½, for pet peeves. I trust none will be so foolhardy as to try to win a prize by saying anything about columnists.

When the B. V. D. gang recently visited a gambling establishment here and stripped the players of both cash and clothing, two of the victims, a little cockeyed from moonshine, demurred when ordered to strip. During this delay two citizens were passing the scene of the holdup and one of the bandits to make the passing citizens believe that a crap game, instead of a holdup, was taking place, shouted: "Shoot five." It served a double purpose. The citizens kept on walking, and the two mooney boys mumbled to themselves: "These fellows mean business," and promptly took off their clothes.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, the police are expecting any day to be visited by a delegation of indignant citizens, covered only by barrels, and asking that the B. V. D. gang be apprehended.

Another important tip that comes from one of the recent victims of the B. V. D. gang is to wear bow ties at all times. They can be removed more quickly than four-in-hands.

As for the reckless citizen who is walking around, wearing a shirt that buttons up the back—well it's going to be just too bad for him when he runs afoul of the Beeveedees.

* * *

The citizen who shook his head ruefully and said "Just another woman driver," was just a little surprised to learn that the lady who was in a traffic tangle—and stalled—downtown the other evening was Mrs. Louise Thaden, who is the winner of two or three prizes as an aviatrix.

A CONSIDERATE piano tuner called in to do his stuff looked the instrument over and said: "My charge is $2.50, mister, but to be frank with you you could buy another piano just as good as that one for something less than my charge."

211 KILLED IN EIGHT MONTHS

Coroner Urges Teachers To Caution Children; August Tops the List

A record-breaking total of 211 automobile deaths in Allegheny County for the first eight months of this year brought an emphatic warning from Coroner W. J. McGregor today.

"Forty-seven children were among those who lost their lives," said he.

CHILDREN WARNED

"I urge teachers to instruct their pupils to be careful in crossing streets and call upon motorists to heed caution signs near school buildings."

Not a fatality has occurred downtown since the new traffic light system was installed several months ago, the coroner pointed out. He praised this system as keeping pedestrians on the alert.

EXCEEDS LAST YEAR

The 211 mark is an increase of 37 compared with the corresponding period last year. Forty auto fatalities were recorded in August, the peak month.

Other deaths recorded for August included 10 murders, 13 suicides, nine alcoholism, 11 drownings, 11 from explosions, 18 from falls and five from street cars.

PADLOCKS ASKED IN AMBRIDGE

Prohibition authorities today asked preliminary padlock injunctions against six Ambridge clubs, including Ambridge lodges of Moose, Eagles, Owls and Polish Falcons and two privately operated clubs.

The petitions were based on evidence obtained in raids upon the clubrooms a month ago. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker set November 4 for argument upon the cases.

Shot While Cleaning Rifle, Man Succumbs

Joseph Nydes, 22, of 5888 Darlington road, died in Pittsburgh Hospital late yesterday from a bullet wound in the head. Relatives told police he was cleaning a rifle preparatory to going hunting, when the weapon was accidentally discharged. A preliminary report to the morgue said the wound was self-inflicted and that Nyder had been in ill health.

Bellevue Club Will Stage Ox Roast

Preparations are complete for the twelfth annual ox roast of the Lambskin Club of Bellevue, tomorrow afternoon and evening at Rose Woods, North County Park. Games and athletic sports will precede the dinner. Dancing will follow. Shelter will be available in event of rain, according to Edward F. Waldschmidt, general chairman.

East Pittsburgh Puts Ban on Stickers

East Pittsburgh borough council has decided that if one candidate for office is to be refused the use of the borough building windows for his campaign stickers, then all the candidates will be refused the right.

The decision was made when Councilman T. P. Price, a candidate for burgess, complained that stickers he had placed on the windows had been removed while those of other candidates were left on.

CITY'S GARBAGE SUIT STANDS

The American Reduction Company has waived technical objections to the city's suit to recover about $1,200,000, which City Controller Henry O. Evans says is improperly charged to the cost of disposing of garbage and rubbish.

The company promised to file formal objections to the absence of the names of alleged bribe givers and takers in the city's suit, but failed to do so within the time limit which expired yesterday, Evans declared.

The company now has another 10 days in which to answer the city's bill or suffer an adverse decision in court, Evans stated.

The question of arbitrating the accounts for 1928 awaits the return to the city of George R. Wallace, attorney for the American Reduction Company, according to Evans.

ARRANGE HONOR FOR PULASKI

Arrangements for Braddock's observation of the sesqui-centennial of the death of Count Casimir Pulaski, who served as a brigadier general in the American revolution, are rapidly being rushed to completion by borough authorities and representatives of Police organizations.

October 13 has been set as the date for the memorial. Braddock council has set aside October 11, the anniversary of the Polish hero's death, as Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski Memorial day. Meetings of committees for the event are being held in the Braddock Polish Falcons' hall.

Water Street Paving Brings Traffic Order

Due to the repaving of Water street at the Smithfield Street Bridge approach, one way traffic will be in effect beginning at noon Saturday and lasting over Sunday. Both traffic lanes will be used on the bridge and police will direct the one way traffic at the approach. The following week a similar arrangement will be in effect to permit the paving of the other half of the approach.

Folger Again Heads Postal Supervisors

Harry Folger, of 3272 Parkview avenue, assistant superintendent of mails in the Pittsburgh post office, was re-elected president of the National Association of Postal Supervisors at the annual convention of the association in Baltimore yesterday. This will make the fifth consecutive term Mr. Folger has served as president of the organization.

UNION DISPUTE ON CITY WORK STUDIED

Kline Plans Conference on Complaint of Labor On Municipal Projects

No settlement of the dispute between labor unions and contractors regarding the employment of non-union men on city work is in sight.

As Saturday is a labor holiday in most trades and neither side asked that a conference be held to discuss the situation, nothing is likely to develop until Monday.

Mayor Charles H. Kline hopes to be able to confer with Edward G. Lang, director of the department of public works, and James M. Clark, director of the department of public safety, regarding the status of the dispute sometime today.

UNIONS HOLD FIRM

Director Clark said he intended to call in the contractors and endeavor to ascertain what the trouble is all about.

In the meantime Edward F. Welsh, representative of the Pittsburgh Building Trades' Council and the official spokesman of the labor unions in the dispute, said the unions were standing pat. Mr. Welsh says that the mayor knows about the dispute and while he has made no request for a conference with the mayor, he would not be surprised if one were held.

CHALLENGES UNIONS

J. W. Welsh, of the Welsh Construction Company, which concern has the contract for the East Park swimming pool, said today he challenges the unions to show he does not employ union men or pay union wages.

"The union delegate for the bricklayers was here yesterday and told the bricklayers to continue at work," said Mr. Welsh. "We have not been told yet what the trouble is. About 15 or 16 men are off the job. When we took the contract we promised we would employ union labor on the building and have done so. We did not do so on concrete work for the swimming pool as that is a different proposition.

Notwithstanding the strike, the original plans for dedicating the East End police and fire station, Broad street and Euclid avenue, and No. 53 Fire Engine House, Spring Hill, next Monday, will be followed.

Auto Ride Host Held In Fatal Accident

For the death of a passenger in his auto, Harry Early, 30, of 410 West street, Wilkinsburg, was held to await action of the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by Coroner W. J. McGregor at an inquest today.

The victim, William J. Tomer, 51, of 506 Montier street, Wilkinsburg, died June 19, after Earley's car had collided with a street car in Wood street, Wilkinsburg. Witnesses testified that Early was driving recklessly.

Rum Ring Witness Wins Immunity

His testimony for the government in the North Side liquor conspiracy prosecution won a discharge for Joseph Moriarity in Federal Court today. A conspiracy charge against Moriarity was quashed on the petition of United States Attorney John D. Meyer, who informed the court of his services to the government in the rum trial.

WIFE DECEIVED, SUIT SAYS

Asking for annulment of his marriage because, he says, he was deceived by his bride, whom he believes had a husband living at the time of his marriage, William Melvin Walker, 200 North Negley avenue, has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court asking that his marriage with Olive Margaret Walker, 204 Cherry way, Brackenridge, be set aside.

Walker says his marriage took place at Greensburg, September 26, 1924, but that he has been informed that at that time Mrs. Walker was the wife of William A. Tonks, whom she married at Beaver, November 19, 1919. He claims she did not have a divorce from Tonks.

Canteloupe Tossers Forfeit $30 Each

Mrs. John Logan, of 1423 Boyle street, appeared in Central police court today against two men, arrested with her husband, after she had been struck with a cantaloupe in Market street last night.

Frank McGuire, 2307 Fifth avenue, and Perry Blundon, of 4605 Fifth avenue, failed to appear and forfeited $30 each. Logan, who said was attacked when he protested, was discharged.

Injuries received when he fell from a load of hay last Saturday contributed to the death of Frederick Link, 67, a farmer of Jefferson township, who died today. Lobar pneumonia, it was reported to the coroner, was the cause of death.

Price's $100,000 Estate Left Nieces

His two nieces, Mary P. and Frances W. Lane, are named heirs of the $100,000 estate of Albert R. Price, of 6105 Walnut street, by terms of his will filed for probate today. They also are named executors.

Freedom Lasts Short Time, Rearrested

After being discharged on a charge of drunkenness, by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday, Ernest Davis, 29, Negro, of Grace street, was rearrested by Lieut. Charles T. Cahill on a suspicious person charge. Davis will again face Sweeney tomorrow.

According to Lieut. Cahill, Davis was operating an automobile owned by Ben Sellers, of 440 Williams street, without his consent. Other charges will be lodged against Davis, police said.

WOMEN'S CLUB NOT IN POLITICS

The use of the name of the Mt. Lebanon Women's Club in connection with any political campaign was formally denounced yesterday by the club's board of directors at a special meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. C. C. Koehenderfer.

The action was taken as a result of the holding of an informal meeting last week by club members at which Elijah Gray, recently ousted township manager, spoke.

The board yesterday went on record as interested in any civic issue, but opposed at all times to the indorsement of candidates.

U. S. AIR LEADER ASKS MARKERS

By MAX HENRICI.

A convincing testimonial to the value of signs over towns to guide aviators came today from Clarence M. Young, director of aeronautics in the United States Department of Commerce.

Mr. Young indorsed the campaign which the Sun-Telegraph is conducting, in co-operation with the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, to get every community in the Pittsburgh district "air-marked."

MOTIVE APPRECIATED

"My attention has been called," Mr. Young writes, "to some recent clippings from your paper relative to the necessity of adequate air marking, and I wish to express my appreciation of the work you are doing for the development of commercial aviation in Western Pennsylvania.

"The importance of numerous standardized air markings can not be emphasized too strongly. The manner in which you have pointed out the necessity for air marking will unquestionably encourage many cities to carry out your suggestions.

"If we can be of assistance to you in any way in your campaign please call upon us."

R. Alex. Willson, secretary of the South Hills Kiwanis Club, writes:

"We wish to indorse this movement, and in support of our indorsement we beg to advise you that the Mt. Lebanon garage, 600 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, has hr a sign on its roof in accord with the specifications of the United States Department of Commerce for over a year."

KIWANIS CLUBS AID

Charles H. Russell, secretary of the Indiana (Pa.) Kiwanis Club, writes that it had "INDIA. A," with an arrow pointing to the landing field, painted in large letters on the roof of the new First National Bank building there several months ago.

"We are advised by aviators," says Mr. Russell "that the marking is very distinct from a great height and should be of aid to anyone flying over here."

The New Castle Kiwanis Club will hear the subject of "air-marking" discussed by an aviator at a meeting to be held in the Elks Club of that city at noon Wednesday, September, 18.

SIX GIFTS BY BUHL BOARD

Distribution Complete Announcement States; Many Proposals Tabled

The Buhl Foundation today announced six gifts totaling $111,000 for social service.

Kingsley Association receives $45,000 for studies in music and other arts.

Soho Community House gets $20,000 for an additional building, provided $30,000 more is raised.

An appropriation of $1,000 goes to the Inter-Racial Survey Committee for a study of the social needs of Negroes in the Hill district.

A social service survey of the North Side is to be financed to the extent of $4,000.

DISTRIBUTION COMPLETE

These grants, the Foundation said, completed its distribution program for the year.

The board of managers of the Buhl Foundation, created by the will of Henry Buhl, Jr., who died two years ago, consists of Judge Robert S. Frazer, William S. Linderman, A. E. Braun and Andrew H. Robertson. This board, in formulating its first program in the past year, has considered more than 100 applications, it was said by Charles F. Lewis, director.

"Many applications had to do with projects clearly outside fields indicated as wise for foundation activity," it was explained. "Others were outside the present policy of the Buhl Foundation. It has been necessary, for these reasons, to reject many proposals.

REJECT PROPOSALS

"Others have been held over for further study. For instance, while the Foundation recognizes that the promotion in Pittsburgh of public health, medical education, and medical research is desirable, no appropriations have been made in this field, pending further study that may lead to formulation of a constructive program.

"Two major programs, in economics and education, and two minor programs, in recreation and social research, represent the Foundation's effort in the first 12 months. The ties of inter-relation between these programs are strong. All are believed to come well within a scheme of giving intended to make a city richer in opportunity and a happier place in which to live and work and have a home."

Our Boy in Sarah

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 6.

Been reading a lot about politics up in old Massachusetts. The Republicans are in a dog fight among themselves.

Mr. Gillette's time is soon up as a senator and he wants to withdraw and let ex-President Coolidge run. Then the Democrats have dug up another Coolidge, who is a Democrat.

That's the blamedest state for curiosities. Wouldn't that be a hot race with a Coolidge on both sides?

I would like to see Calvin in that Senate and hear him tangle in a debate with Pat Harrison. That would make Jim Reed sorry he ever left there.

Smoot is watching that sugar barrel day and night now.

Eddie Quillan, Film Comic, Back Home in Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh's newest star on the screen stepped into his home town today. He is Eddie Quillan, 22, next to the oldest of the nine children of the Quillan family which has trod the boards from coast to coast for many years.

Eddie and his dad, Joseph F. Quillan, are here two days for the star's personal appearance at both the Harris and Sheridan Square Theaters, where his latest picture, "The Sophomore," with Sally O'Neil, is showing. His appearances are in gratitude for the friendship that existed between the family and the late Senator John Harris.

Eddie first appeared on the stage when 1 year old and has been in the family act of song, dance and comedy until he entered films for Mack Sennet in 1925. Two years later Educational Comedies called him for their star.

Then came his chance in feature production when Cecil B. DeMille gave him a film test a year and a half ago that resulted in his getting a comedy role especially written for him in "The Godless Girl." His first star role was in "Show Folks," with "Geraldine" as the next picture. His latest offering is his first all-talking picture.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INEFFICIENT, PHELAN REITERATES

MORALE LOW, NORTH SIDERS TOLD

No. 2 Engine Company's Captain Declares Kline Statements Are Misleading

Speaking before the North Side Chamber of Commerce on fire insurance rates, Fire Capt. N. A. Phelan, of No. 2 Engine Company, last night reiterated that the Pittsburgh Fire Department was of gross inefficiency and low morale.

As chairman of a committee appointed by the Chamber, June 6, to ascertain if insurance rates could be lowered, Capt. Phelan told the body that its inefficiency and low morale would exist so long as "bread-and-butter" speeches were made. The fixing of rates, he said, was governed by the losses as a whole.

The public has been misled by published declarations of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Fire Chief Richard Smith, that "Pittsburgh leads the nation in the latest fire bureau equipment," Phelan told the Chamber. After the meeting he declared that in his opinion the insurance companies were justified in asking for present rates, because of the morale of the department.

NEW PIPE LINE CO. FORMED

The South Penn Oil Company and the Tide Water Oil Company have formed a new pipe line company to be known as the Bradford Transit Company, a Pennsylvania corporation, which is taking over all of the gathering lines of the Tide Water Pipe Company, Ltd., and the South Penn Oil Company.

The Bradford Transit Company will shortly consolidate its facilities with the pipe line system of the Emery Manufacturing Company, which extends throughout the Bradford area and has been operated in conjunction with the Emery refinery. The two oil companies will operate the Emery refinery jointly.

The new organization is a direct result of the increased production in the Bradford and Allegheny districts, which is 300 per cent greater than five years ago. The problem of marketing this increased output will be simplified through the fact that South Penn is the strongest marketing organization of Pennsylvania crude.

The Transit Company will act only as a common carrier and will purchase no crude from producers. The South Penn Oil Company and the Tide Water Pipe Company will write division orders and crude contracts with producers.

The system will include 898 miles of pipe line, 238 miles of private telephone, 54 steel gas-tight tanks with capacity of 375,000 barrels and 40 gathering line stations. It is estimated that the average daily gathering in September will be 14,000 barrels, or about one-quarter of all the Pennsylvania crude produced in the four states that yield that grade.

Various extensions to meet the new operating conditions are planned and a large construction program throughout the next eight months will be necessary.

Indian Chief's Baby Girl Named for Armstrong

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong has a namesake and it's a baby girl. Of course it is pretty difficult to name a baby girl Joseph Armstrong Big Beaver, but Chief Eddie Big Beaver of North Park got around this problem by calling his five day old daughter, Joey Armstrong Big Beaver.

Princess Mud Hen Big Beaver, the Chief's wife, gave birth to the child Monday at Magee Hospital, and according to records, the child is the first real Blackfoot Indian born in Allegheny county.

Yesterday Chief Big Beaver informed his friends that he had selected the name of Commissioner Armstrong and then explained to them how he had applied the name of the political leader to his infant daughter.

A short time ago a baby was born to the caretakers at South Park and the parents gave it the name of Edward Vose Babcock O'Block. Now the two commissioners can boast about their namesakes.

An utterly new thing in radio

Balcony Scene from Romeo and Juliet

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings. That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that means entire absence of A. C. hum and interference.

So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

43 DRY PADLOCKS UPHELD BY COURT, SEVEN DISMISSED

8 RUM CASES GO OVER TO NOVEMBER

Evidence in One Instance Suppressed Because of Wrong Address on Warrant

Padlock injunction hearings against 58 alleged liquor dispensaries in Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania were disposed of yesterday in Federal Court by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

Forty-three places were ordered padlocked; seven cases were dismissed, and eight continued until November.

Evidence in the case of Sam Radov, 3056 Glenwood Park avenue, was ordered suppressed when it was shown at the hearing that prohibition agents had raided the place on a defective search warrant. The warrant called for 3052 Glenwood Park avenue, Erie, Pa. A large quantity of liquor and appurtenances was reported seized in the raid, made June 6.

The case against the Delmont Cabaret, Federal street, North Side, was continued until November because of improper service of a subpena. It was shown at the hearing that the subpena was served on Mrs. Etta Boggs, widow of R. H. Boggs, but the property is owned by Mrs. Mary Walker Boggs.

DUST PROTEST RALLY TONIGHT AT AVALON

Mass Meeting to Demand Industrial Plants Live Up to Their Agreement

A protest against odor, dust, smoke and noise of the Davison Coke and Iron Company plant, and its subsidiary, the Green Bag Cement Company, Neville Island, will be made at a mass meeting in the Avalon borough hall tonight.

Leaders in the move plan to ask the borough council to demand of officials of the two companies that they live up to their agreement made a year ago that the plants would be noiseless, odorless, smokeless and dustless. The plants are located on the island opposite the borough.

The borough council of Bellevue last Tuesday night authorized John R. Longabaugh, public safety committeeman, to confer with representatives of Avalon and Ben Avon concerning the alleged nuisances. A month ago Ben Avon protested to officials of the two companies through Fred C. Houston, borough solicitor.

It is alleged by the protestants of the boroughs that ore and cement dust coming from the plants constitute a menace to health.

MARY FUGH WITH THE "PRAYING MANTIS" FOUND AT HER SHARPSBURG HOME

Mary inspecting the "Praying Mantis" which her brother, Bob, 15, found in an orchard near their Sharpsburg home. The Mantis is believed one of those liberated near Philadelphia to help exterminate the Japanese beetle for Pennsylvania farmers.

Woman Hurt, Police Seek Hit-Run Driver

Police today were looking for a hit-run driver who shortly after midnight crashed into an automobile at Ninth street and Penn avenue, injuring Miss Helen Egerter, 26, of 57 Solar street. She was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, where it was said she was injured about the head and body. Louis Berbaugh, 24, of 140 Brahn street, driver of the car, escaped uninjured.

Homestead Boy Dies, Playmates Absolved

Albert Ballog, 6, of Homestead, died last night in Homestead Hospital of pneumonia. An autopsy, requested by the child's parents, showed that death had not been caused by a kick suffered during a quarrel with other boys, as was at first believed.

Annual Dance Held By Store Employes

Three thousand employes of the Rosenbaum Company and their guests attended the sixty-first anniversary dance in the William Penn Hotel last night. The reception committee was headed by L. A. Behr and Walter Rosenbaum, assisted by store executives. The dance was one of a number of special occasions preceding the store's anniversary celebration.

HUNGRIEST BUG CAUGHT HERE IN ORCHARD

Praying Mantis, Far East Foe Of Japanese Beetle, to Go In Carnegie Museum File

After walking leisurely from Philadelphia, a praying Mantis, the hungriest of all living things, strolled into a Sharpsburg orchard yesterday and today is en route to the Carnegie Museum for filing among the other insects.

For the Mantis, whose native home is the Far East, came in through a port on the Atlantic seaboard to vanquish the arch-enemy of the farmer and garden-keeper, the Japanese beetle.

BOY FINDS BUG

Robert Fugh, 14, who lives on his parents' farm on the Kittanning road, saw the peculiar little bug. As the boy approached closely, the insect stood on his hind legs, waggled his head and opened his mouth for food. Fugh caught the bug and turned him over to his sister, Mary.

Dr. H. Kahl, entomologist at the Carnegie Museum, will get the specimen. He declared that while there have been several others found here, they are fairly rare.

"They are the most voracious living thing, I suppose," Dr. Kahl said. "And the female is the hungrier of the two. They rise on their hind legs in the posture of praying. They grasp their prey in their forepaws, which bristle with saw-tooth edges. They are cannibals, for when the female is hungry enough, she eats the male."

Because the Japanese beetle increase too rapidly for the Mantis, the government, to halt the beetle plague, has imported the Tachina fly from Japan, which is expected to stop the destruction of trees and other growing things.

Various Fruit and Berry Crops Have Many Uses

State agricultural stations have done much to improve our fruit and berry crops. Fruits give variety to the diet and offer valuable food elements.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City.
United States Senator from New York.

IN the early history of our country, the Europeans brought to America seeds and cuttings of their favorite fruits. At first they were much disappointed and disheartened from the fact that these fruits did not thrive in this climate. Our hot summers and long and severe winters proved unsuitable for the Old World fruits, such as certain varieties of grapes, apples, raspberries, strawberries and gooseberries.

After years of experimenting and losing many years' crops, the early settlers saw that the high quality of the European fruits must be combined with the hardiness of the native American fruits. Up to this time, in a very crude way, apples had been cultivated by the Indians, and probably they had brought them from Mexico. Columbus found them here when he discovered America.

VARIETY IN DIET

Fruits are used mainly to give variety to the diet and some or most of them have valuable mineral salts. The chief nutriment of fruits is fruit sugar or levulose. Some fruits, however, contain cane sugar. They also carry nitrogenous matter, starches, cellulose and organic acids, and a large amount of water. The mineral elements consist largely of potash, united with tartaric, citric and malic acids. Fruits act to a slight extent upon the kidneys and as laxatives and cathartics. The odor and flavor of fruits are due to the acids and oils combined in them.

The South Dako Experiment Station has done much in the study and propagation of native fruits of that state. Many of the early settlers of Minnesota came from the eastern fruit-growing states, and this state has one of the most important experiment stations in fruit culture in the country. Near St. Paul is one of the best fruit breeding plants in the world. Here, among other fruits, raspberries and strawberries have been given special attention. The Latham red raspberry, which is now grown through the northeastern part of the United States, is a notable product of this experiment station.

MANY USES FOR BERRIES

The New York Experiment Station at Geneva, N. Y., has also taken the lead in improving certain fruits, among them the raspberry and strawberry. As a result of research done at this station we have the June raspberry and the Prolific strawberry, which have a high commercial rating.

The uses of berries in our diet are many. They may be used in salads, or fruit courses, and as desserts they are delicious in the raw state, served with a small amount of sugar and with or without cream, as sauces or puddings, in pies, in jams and jellies. Berries are used extensively. The canned berries are used widely now, and the best grades are very delicious.

School Consolidation Halted by Court

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—The Sewickley Township school district is restrained from transferring pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades from the Cowansburg School to Herminie, in continuance of a preliminary injunction granted in the courts here.

Citizens of the township had appealed to the courts, claiming the pupils would be forced to walk three miles to Herminie.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

Watermelon Balls.
Mock Duck.
Rice au Gratin.
Peas and Cauliflower.
Lettuce and Tomato Salad.
Marshmallow. Peach Pie.

"WHEREVER the dinner is ill got up there is poverty or there is avarice, or there is stupidity; in short, the family is somewhat grossly wrong."

That phrase is just as true today as it was many years ago when Dr. Johnson penned it. And on Sunday especially we homemakers don't want anything "grossly wrong" with our families, do we? Perhaps these recipes will help.

Begin your dinner with watermelon balls. Just scoop out small balls of melon with a vegetable cutter or a rounded spoon and serve iced in small glasses.

FOR Mock Duck use five thick slices of bread, one large onion, one tablespoon butter, one-half cup diced celery, five boiled potatoes, cold; one teaspoon chopped parsley and two pounds round steak.

Soak the bread and squeeze out the water. Add the onion, which has been browned in the butter, the celery and potatoes cut into dice, and parsley. Mix thoroughly, season to taste and if too dry add a little milk. Spread the mixture over the steak, roll and tie. Sear the outside in a smoking hot oven. Baste from time to time until tender. Place on a serving dish, thicken the gravy and pour over the steak. It will take you about an hour and a half to prepare the Mock Duck.

* * *

RICE AU GRATIN is easily prepared. Take one cup uncooked rice, six cups boiling water, one and one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup thin cream, one-quarter of a pound of pimiento cheese.

Add salt to the water. Wash and drain rice. Stir into the boiling water and cook until tender. Drain. Mash the cheese, add cream gradually and beat until well blended. Mix with hot rice, pour into buttered baking dish and set in a moderate oven for 10 minutes.

* * *

CAULIFLOWER and peas are ever so good together. Cook one head of cauliflower as usual, breaking into small pieces when done, and arrange on a vegetable dish. Fill the center with a cup of cooked peas and pour about three tablespoons of melted butter.

Serve French dressing with your salad, consisting of a bed of lettuce leaves and several slices of tomato.

* * *

FOR the marshmallow peach pie, bake the crust and fill it with about one and one-half cups of sliced peaches. Cover with a meringue made with one cup of chopped marshmallows, one-fourth teaspoon lemon extract, one egg white beaten stiff and three tablespoons sugar. Brown meringue in oven and serve.

* * *

THE American use of the term salad has given the dish much greater leeway than continental cooking admits. If you speak of salad in France, Italy or England the native will interpret you as meaning green vegetables that can be eaten uncooked. The ingredient, not the dish, is usually meant. Our own broad use, however, is having its effect.

The salad, as we term the finally prepared dish of dressy leafy vegetables and whatsoever we choose to mix with it, fits into several classes of service. For the formal dinner, which demands usually a separate salad course to follow the main course, the dish is mainly made of true "salad" materials very carefully "dressed." Any addition is made after due consideration of the meat course and the dessert of the meal.

For a successful green vegetable salad all the foundation materials must be thoroughly chilled, crisp and dry to start. The fundamental preparation is fully as important for a fruit salad served in "leafy" foundation.

* * *

THE choice of dressing for this formal dinner salad course is equally important. The French dressing foundation is preferable because it is lighter than the mayonnaise or a cooked dressing. Lemon juice or vinegar is added after the salad leaves have been thoroughly but lightly seasoned with salt and salad oil.

The salad foundation of lettuce is best if dressed just before serving for crispness. A marinated salad foundation is of much richer flavor, however, and has brought about the use of romaine, a variety of lettuce of coarser fiber that does not wilt so easily. The leaves are long and are laid parallel on the plate when ready to serve. Endive, swiss chard, chicory and escarole are used almost interchangeably for this salad service. Either the leafy foundation or the fruit and vegetable served on it should be marinated in dressing.

Crisp vegetables or tart fruits are the acceptable additions to the leafy foundation for the dinner salad course. Crisp sliced cucumbers are relished at this stage of a hearty meal.

* * *

CUCUMBER AND ROMAINE SALAD—Chill firm cucumbers. Cut off either end and pare cucumbers lengthwise with a sharp knife. Slice crosswise into ice water and allow to stand in ice water at least half an hour. The appearance of the sliced cucumber or of cucumber basket or cup is improved if the vegetable is scored before slicing, or shaping by running the prongs of a silver fork the length of the cucumber. Repeat until the scores are made all around the vegetable, then slice. Make this practice a habit until it becomes part of your technique.

When time to serve the salad, arrange the romaine, which has previously been thoroughly seasoned with French dressing, on the salad plate and place the crisp sliced cucumbers in your chosen formation on the romaine. A boat of dressing is passed with this.

* * *

ORANGE AND ONION SALAD—This combination is particularly acceptable after a duck or pork main course or a dinner with many preliminary or starchy accompaniments. Marinate the orange and onion slices for an hour before serving and use crisp lettuce brushed with French dressing at the moment of serving as the salad bed.

* * *

ROSE TOMATO SALAD—While sliced marinated tomato on lettuce or romaine is appropriate, the fancifully cut whole tomato gives renewed interest to this course. Tomatoes must be firm and chilled and have the skins removed. Mark off sections for five petals and with a very sharp knife cut a small deep section from blossom end, taking a bit of the heart of the tomato. Then gently cut off thin petals on the marked sections. This is easy to do if the tomatoes are not peeled, but unpeeled tomatoes do not grace a formal meal. Serve on any "leafy vegetable" foundation with sherry flavored French dressing, provided this flavor does not occur elsewhere in the meal. This flavoring can be purchased at your grocery as can all delicate wine flavors, salted. A lemon syrup dressing may be prepared for your rase tomato and is very simple to make.

Peaches, pears and apricots are used in the same direct manner for the service. A few chopped nuts may be scattered over the fruit when ready to serve.

* * *

LOBSTER THERMIDOR—Split cooked lobster into halves. Remove meat and wash shell, taking care not to break. Cut meat into pieces, season with salt and pepper and cayenne. Place in pan, with butter, on strong fire, two or three minutes, then add one teaspoon of chopped shallots and two seconds afterwards pour in two tablespoons of cooking sherry, one-half tablespoon mustard, one-half cup cream sauce, not too thick. Let simmer for one minute. Remove from the fire and add yolks of two eggs with a little cream. Mix well. Put in the shell and bake in a hot oven.

* * *

DEVILED CRAB—Three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup rich cream or milk, dash of cayenne, one teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two egg yolks, two cups crab meat (with spines removed), one-half tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons cooking sherry, two-thirds cup buttered crumbs, six slices of lemon.

* * *

Melt butter and stir in the flour and heated milk. Add seasoning and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add slightly beaten egg yolks and crab meat, cook three minutes. Stir in lemon juice and sherry. Put mixture into crab shells or ramekins and cover with buttered crumbs. Place slice of lemon, sprinkled with paprika, on top of each serving. Bake in a four hundred and fifty degree oven until brown.

* * *

CHICKEN CROQUETTES—Two cups of cooked chopped chicken, three-fourths cup thick white sauce, one-half teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, one egg yolk, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one teaspoon lemon juice. Combine chicken, sauce and seasoning. Stir in egg yolk. Shape, roll in cracker crumbs, then lightly into egg or cream and again in cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat. Ham or fish may be used in place of the chicken.

* * *

VERSATILE LOAF—Melt one tablespoon butter and add one tablespoon flour gradually. Blend well and add one-half cup of milk. Stir constantly until smooth. Add one-half cup of soft bread crumbs, two well beaten egg yolks, one cup of chopped, cooked sausage meat or whatever meat, fish or vegetable you wish. Mix well and fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish, set in a pan of hot water to bake fifteen minutes. Serve with tomato or cream sauce. Gives four servings.

* * *

SEA FOOD LOAF—Line a greased baking dish with one cup of cooked rice, leaving nest in the center. Pick ove, wash, mash one pound can of tuna, crabmeat, lobster or one pound of any cooked fish. Add one egg, slightly beaten, one-half cup of bread crumbs, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of onion juice, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper and one-eighth teaspoon of celery salt. Pack this mixture into rice nest, covering with rice. Cover the baking dish and set in a shallow pan of water to bake in a moderate oven forty minutes. Turn out on platter and garnish with lemon slices and parsley. Serve with tomato saute. This recipe serves six.

* * *

FRIZZLED BEEF—Melt butter in hot frying pan, add dried beef, and stir until it browns and curls. Add more butter for cream sauce. Add flour and stir until well blended. Add milk gradually until desired consistency is obtained. Stir to avoid lumps.

Use the proportion of 2 tablespoons of flour to 1 cup of milk. If the dried beef is too salty, soak for 10 to 15 minutes in cold water; drain thoroughly and dry by patting between folds of clean, dry cloth. Have dry before adding to melted butter. Serve on toast if you wish.

* * *

A NOURISHING salad for this time of the year is made with 1½ cups pineapple bits, ½ cup seeded raisins, 2 cups shredded cabbage, ½ cup French dressing, 1 head lettuce. Combine the pineapple, raisins and cabbage, and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing.

And suppose, when you're planning an especially tasty meal, you try this recipe for a baked slice of ham with pineapple. Use a slice of ham cut 1½ to 2 inches thick, 6 whole cloves, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, salt, pepper, brown sugar, 1 cup crushed pineapple and a little pineapple juice. Cover ham with cold water, bring to boiling point. Cook slowly 30 minutes. Drain off water, place ham in shallow baking dish. Stick in cloves. Cover with bread crumbs, pineapple and seasoning mixed together. Sprinkle generously with brown sugar and pour pineapple juice around ham. Bake in moderate oven, about 350 degrees, 45 minutes to one hour, or until the top is well browned.

* * *

ANOTHER favorite preparation is baked rice with pineapple au gratin. You will need 3 cups boiled rice, sliced pineapple, ¼ pound American cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup pineapple juice, 3 tablespoons butter, and paprika. Cook 1 cup rice in boiling salted water until tender. Put layer of rice in bottom of greased baking dish. Cover with sliced pineapple cut in small pieces. Sprinkle with grated cheese, salt and pepper. Add layer of rice to almost fill dish, then layer of pineapple left in half slices and cover with grated cheese. Pour over 1 cup pineapple juice. Dot with bits of butter. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until thoroughly heated. Brown on top.

* * *

A SALMON and rice salad is highly nutritious, and ever so good. Gently mix together the contents of a can of salmon, and a cup of boiled rice and a cup and a half of sliced celery. Marinate for 15 minutes in French dressing. Add a tablespoon of capers, a fourth cup of chopped sweet pickles, a fourth cup of sliced radishes, and moisten slightly with mayonnaise. Now arrange in a large lettuce-lined bowl, and place four deviled eggs around the edge, to fittingly border the salad. You might serve sandwiches of white bread spread with butter, peanut butter or mint jelly with this salad.

You will note that every one of these recipes is easy to prepare; and that is precisely the reason I have given them to you. Certainly this is not the weather when one would deliberately choose to stand over a hot stove and cook. There will be plenty of cool days, to be sure, when it won't be such a task to prepare hot meals; but these salads are for the days when the mercury threatens to push the cork right out of the top of the thermometer! Prepare them and be cool—then eat them, and stay cool.

* * *

SHRIMP combines exceedingly well with pineapple; try this recipe: Mix lightly the contents of a can of shrimps, a can of crushed pineapple which has been drained, three-fourths of a cup of diced celery and enough boiled salad dressing to moisten. Season well with salt, pepper and a pinch of mustard. Arrange in a lettuce lined salad bowl, and over the top place slices of chilled cucumber. Put a teaspoon of the salad dressing on each cucumber slice, and sprinkle with paprika.

* * *

FARMER KILLS GIRL, 16, SELF

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Angered because Miss Adel Turner, 16, an employe in his home, announced she was to be married, Scott Hill, 61, Grant County farmer, killed the girl and then shot himself, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury which investigated the fatal shooting of the two.

The bodies were found near here by Claire Lord along an isolated roadway, where the Hall automobile had been parked. The bodies were on the ground near the car.

Hall was believed by state police, summoned by Lord, to have shot the girl on Wednesday, shortly after he called at her home and forced her to leave with him. The girl, it was said, had made known to the Halls that she was to be married Saturday, September 7, and then left for her home. Later Hall went to the Turner place.

The young woman was shot through the body and Hall through the head. Hall was married and the father of several grown children.

COAL BED FOUND IN CANADA

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Discovery of extensive deposits of coal, one of the few minerals hitherto unfound in Ontario, has been announced by Premier Ferguson.

He said a bed one mile long and a half-mile wide, estimated to contain from 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons of lignite, a low-grade fuel, has been found along the Abitibi River at Blacksmith Rapids, near Cochrane. He described the discovery as the most important mining development in Ontario in years.

Dr. W. S. Dyer, provincial geologist, who has spent three summers investigating the find, said tests showed that the coal can be used profitably by the large paper mills in the province.

Premier Ferguson said a complete mining camp would be established immediately to provide coal for further tests to determine the extent of its industrial and domestic uses.

DAILY SHORT STORY

LOUISE BURIES A GHOST

By SARA W. SEGAL.

BURNSIDE in June! Dick Murray gazed out of the hotel window at the quiet street scene below, while memories surged up within him. Burnside! Where he spent so many happy years and from where he had finally fled in deepest despair.

He looked at Louise, who was busily engaged unpacking, and who, in the short time, had already succeeded in giving the bare hotel room a comfy resemblance of home.

What would she think, he wondered, if she knew of the memories that crowded around him now. Memories of his longing for a girl he knew and loved here years ago.

Grace! Since the high school days when she had first captured his heart, the name Grace had spelled romance and carefree youth to him. Gosh! He was still longing for her . . . after all these years . . . after his ten years of wedded life, and his marriage, he could not deny, had certainly been a happy one. This was the only cloud, this memory of a girl he once worshipped, the girl who eloped with another man, a week before their approaching marriage.

He looked again at his pretty young wife, who was happily humming to herself as she flitted around the room and he felt ashamed and grateful that she could not read his thoughts.

Dick would have been a surprised man indeed if he knew that behind her smiling mask, his wife's thoughts were along the same channel as his. He told her during their engagement of this other girl he loved years before and he never mentioned her afterwards. Her intuition, however, told her each time he sat shut up in his thoughts that those thoughts were with that ghost of the past.

When the matter of selling his father's property came up and he advised her of the necessity of their taking a trip to Burnside, she began to plan secretly a way to meet this ghost of her husband's youth. What would she accomplish in meeting her? Louise frankly did not know. However, she would satisfy her curiosity to see this other woman who at one time had such a strong hold on her husband's affections that memories of her could not be entirely eradicated from his heart.

The next morning, after Dick had departed to interview the prospective buyer, Louise began planning her strange adventure. Her only information was that the girl's name was Grace, and she married a jeweler of Burnside. Now to find out if they were still in Burnside. She made inquiries as to what jewelers there were in the town. The hotel clerk informed her there were two; one quite close to the hotel, while the other had his store at the other end of the town. She now resorted to strategy. She called the nearest jeweler on the phone and asked to speak to Grace, but was immediately informed there was no one there with that name. She then called the other one and a man told her Grace would be in the store at 11 o'clock. Louise then deliberately broke her watch and started off for the Neilan Jewelry Shoppe.

It was a warm morning and as she walked along the dusty road to the other end of town she began to regard her errand as rather a foolish one. When she finally entered the shop at 11 o'clock she felt she was doing a ridiculous thing indeed. The only occupants in the store were a harried looking man about 40, evidently her husband's successful rival, and a young chap, his assistant.

Mr. Neilan examined her watch and told her he could have it repaired in an hour. Louise said she would like to wait and he courteously brought her a chair and the morning paper.

As she waited, Louise felt disappointed indeed that she was to leave Burnside without having seen that fascinating being Grace who occupied so much of her husband's time in his earlier days and still occupied his thoughts. Yet she couldn't without a better excuse than wifely curiosity or jealousy tell Mr. Neilan that her mission to his store was not to have her watch repaired, but to see his wife.

After half an hour's wait during which she regretted exceedingly her trip here, particularly when she thought of the long walk back to the hotel, the door opened and a lady came in.

At first, it did not occur to Louise that this could be Grace, but when she went behind the counter with an air of ownership and when she heard Mr. Neian address her as Grace, she knew indeed that this was the Grace she sought.

Louise was astonished. There was enough of a faded prettiness about her to indicate that she had been an attractive girl, but her features were coarsened and hard and the soft femininity that once was her chief charm was gone. Her figure had spread to amazing proportions in the intervening years.

A feeling of peace and security came over Louise. This then was the ghost that had the power to cloud her married life. If she could only arrange for her husband to accidentally meet Grace, she felt she could bury this ghost forever, for she knew her husband well enough to know that whatever appeal Grace may have had for him at one time, the spell could easily be broken now, for he was too fastidious to be charmed by her now.

She got up suddenly. "I am sorry," she said, "but I just remembered an appointment for which I am already late. I will call or send for my watch at 11:30 tomorrow.

Her walk back to the hotel seemed short, she was so happy. Now, if only Grace would be in the store at 11:30 the next morning.

Dick was anxiously looking for her when she reached the hotel.

"Dear," she explained," I was exploring the scenes of your boyhood and I wandered away quite a distance to the other end of the town. My watch broke and as I passed a jeweler's there, I left it for repair. It will be ready at 11:30 tomorrow, so will you, like the good boy you always are, call for it? It's at the Neilan Jewelry Shoppe on the Highland road."

"Neilen Jewelry Shoppe," cried Dick. "Say, Louise, do you remember my mentioning a girl I once cared an awful lot about—before I met you? She married a jeweler by that name here. It might be the same man and I may meet Grace. Are you sure you want me to go?"

"Of course, dear boy," laughed Louise, kissing him. "As if any Grace, no matter how graceful or graceless, could come between us now!"

The next morning when Dick left to call for her watch, Louise hoped indeed that Grace would be in the shop at the same time as the day before, so that her scheme might culminate successfully.

About 1 p. m. Dick returned. Louise knew at once he had seen Grace, with the results she had hoped for. His eyes glowed with a new tenderness and happiness as he took her in his arms.

"My lovely little wife," he said, "I saw Grace, the girl I once spent so many sleepless nights and workless days over, and I realized what a terrible tragedy puppy love could make of a man's life. How fortunate I am that I married you, my Louise, and not Grace!"

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Juan O. Ramos, former Los Angeles banker who returned here from Holland to answer charges of larceny of $21,000 from the United States National Bank in Los Angeles, was released in $20,000 bond pending a hearing on removal proceedings.

Ramos arrived here August 30 and was immediately taken into custody and given a hearing at which bond was set at $25,000. He was unable to furnish it and was held in federal detention here. If Hosiery Fades No Matter How Carefully Washed

Simple Way To Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

The problem of washing filmy chiffon hosiery has been finally solved. Delicate color tints that formerly faded—no matter how carefully washed—now come through many washings without perceptible sign of fading or "soap eat." Even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For small wash basin, use 1 teaspoonful of CLIMALENE.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

Sam Vettori Argues With Rico Over Leadership Of Gangsters

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

In a hold-up of the Casa Alvarado, Capt. Courtney, of the Chicago detective force, is shot and killed by Rico, gang lieutenant. Sam Vettori, leader of the gang, fearing for his neck, berates Rico for the "gunplay." Rico promptly usurps Sam's position with the approval of the gangsters. In the uproar that follows the murder, the gangsters keep in hiding and Tony Passa, ex-choir boy, loses his nerve and leaves to inform his parish priest. He is killed on the church steps by Rico's bullets. Rico, with Vettori, Otero and others of the gang, visit Tony's home to view the body. Detective Flaherty arrives and questions Rico, who is defiant.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

FOR three or four years Bat Carillo, once a third-rate light-heavyweight, had been the leader of one of Vettori's gangs of hooligans. The members of this gang specialized in strong arm stuff and intimidation; they threw bombs; they smashed up barrooms and vice joints operated by rival gangs. They were, in other words, Vettori's shock troops. Carillo was an excellent lieutenant, as he always carried out orders to the letter; and was congenitally incapable of imagining himself as chief in his own right. A good honest subordinate without ambition. Vettori trusted him.

In Carillo's attitude since the killing of Courtney, therefore, Vettori saw the most unmistakable symptoms of his own passing. Carillo had attached himself to Rico and called him "boss." Carillo was not careless with the word "boss"; it was not a conventional expression; when he said "boss" he meant it. Aroused, Vettori saw similar manifestations all around him; in Blackie Avezzano, in Killer Pepi, in a dozen others.

Vettori had always disliked Rico. Now he hated him. If Carillo or Killer Pepi had remained faithful he would have had one of them kill him and damn the consequences. But there was no question of that now. He knew that he was whipped and he saw the necessity of a compromise. Hanging was just over the horizon, and Rico's gun promised an even more certain death. Vettori had never split with anyone. He had always taken with both hands and given as little as possible. But it was split now or die and Vettori could not contemplate the prospect of dying with any degree of complacency. He sent for Rico.

A new Rico appeared, followed by Otero, Carillo and Killer Pepi. Rico was wearing a big ulster like Joe's' and a derby like Joe's. He had on two fawn-colored spats drawn over pointed patent-leather shoes; and a diamond horseshoe pin sparkled in a red, green and white striped necktie.

Vettori looked him over and winked at Killer Pepi but Killer Pepi's face was stony. Carillo got a chair for Rico.

"What's on your mind, Sam?" said Rico, sitting down, throwing back his ulster and pulling up his trousers to preserve the crease.

Vettori hesitated.

"I want to see you alone," he said.

"No," said Rico, "I think I know your game, Sam, and I want the boys to get an earful. Go ahead and spill it."

Vettori began to sweat. Killer Pepi said:

"Yeah, we know."

"You know a hell of a lot, don't you?" said Vettori.

"We know, all right," said Pepi.

Nobody said anything. Rico took off his hat and began to comb his hair. Vettori got out his cards and began to lay out a game of solitaire.

Pepi said:

"We know you went yellow, Sam, when Tony blew his top and started after Father McConagha. We know, all right."

Vettori looked up at him.

"What the hell I got you guys for anyway! Who hands out the cash?"

"Well," said Rico, "if you want to see me, spill it quick because I ain't got all night."

Vettori sighed profoundly, then he put down his cards and looked at the men around him. He saw four hostile faces.

"All right," said Vettori, "but why the strong arm stuff, Rico? Sit down, you guys, and I'll have some drinks sent up."

The three men looked at Rico.

"All right," he said, "go bring up some drinks, Bat."

Carillo went out. Nobody said anything. Outside, a winter dusk settled and the big electric sign on a level with the windows was switched on. They sat looking at the sign.

CLUB PALERMO DANCING

Carillo brought in the drinks and they all sat around the table under the green-shaded lamp. Otero, Carillo and Killer Pepi drank whisky; Vettori wine; Rico pop.

Vettori put down his glass.

"Well, Rico," he said, "I got a proposition to make you."

"All right," said Rico, "spring it."

"Listen," said Vettori, "I'm getting old. I'll never see 45 again and when a guy's that old he ain't worth much."

"All right, Rico," he said, "that's your story. Well, here's how it is. I need a partner. You're young, Rico, and you got the nerve. All the guys like you and they'll do what you say. I got the layout and you're looking for a chance to be a big guy. Well, here's your chance." Vettori thought for a moment, then he said: "I'll split the works with you."

Carillo and Pepi exchanged a look. Otero began to hum to himself. But Rico said:

"I'll think it over."

Vettori began to sweat again. Was Rico going to get rid of him?

"Well," he said, putting on a front, "you can take it or leave it. I like you, Rico, and I'm doing you a favor. Who's got the money? Who's got the pull? What the hell would you guys do if you didn't have the Big Boy to pull you through?"

"I'm O. K. with the Big Boy," said Rico; "he was up to see me this morning."

"Yeah," said Pepi, "I brung him."

Vettori laid out a new game of solitaire.

"Here's the thing," said Rico: "You're trying to hang on, Sam. You must think we're dumb as hell. You want me to do the work so you can take it easy. And you call that an even split. Hear what I say! That ain't my idea of a split."

"All right, Sam."

"What do you guys think?" he demanded of Carillo, Pepi and Otero.

They just looked at him.

"Ain't that a fair split?"

"No," said Rico. "I guess we can't do no business."

Rico put on his hat and walked toward the door. The other three got up and followed him. Vettori stood up.

"Well," he said, "you gonna try to run me out, Rico?"

Vettori was panicky. Rico stood at the door and looked at him.

"I was just figuring I'd open a joint across the street," he said.

Vettori knew what that meant. He had been through half a dozen gang wars, but that was long ago when there were at least five separate gangs in the neighborhood. Things had been comparatively quiet for over three years. Vettori regretted the past bitterly. He regretted having taken up with Rico, an unknown Youngstown Italian.

"Well," he said, "Rico, you're young and you ain't got any too much sense. What the hell! With things the way they are, we wouldn't none of us last a month. Listen, Rico, what's your idea of a split?"

Rico took off his hat and scratched his head, but carefully so that his hair wouldn't be disarranged.

"I'll hand you this Sam," said Rico, "you got the layout. The split's good that way. But you got sense enough to know that no two guys can run things. The layout split is O. K. with me, but I got to have the say, get that!"

"What do you guys say?"

"We're in with Rico," said Killer Pepi.

"O. K.," he said.

Party Starts for Inn to Celebrate Engagement Of Alice and John

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy, though young and pretty, is the "easy mark" of her motherless family. She is forever waiting on her more modern, flapperish sisters, Alice and Jeanie, and lending them her clothes and trinkets to aid in their conquest of the boy friends. The money she earns by painting cards in her father's bookstore partly goes in payment of her brother, Howard's, debts. She is hoping to earn enough to pursue her art course. When Neal Forsythe arrives to visit the wealthy Lawlers Ann Marie quickly loses her heart to him in spite of her disillusionment when she finds him embracing Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Her dream of an art course is rudely shattered when Howard, her brother, tells her he is in trouble with Leota and asks Ann Marie to intervene. Leota unexpectedly appears at the Macy home as Florence and John Lawler call. To prevent a disastrous scene, Ann Marie quietly pays out her last money to Leota, who plans to leave for New York. It is the money saved for the art course. Before she leaves town, however, Leota writes a letter to Florence Lawler that brings about Howard's discharge from her father's bank. Howard, frantic, says he will leave for the West, and Ann Marie must raise the money for his expenses. At the station, when he leaves, Ann Marie meets Neal Forsythe, just arrived for another visit. Neal explains his letter to Leota which Ann Marie had seen. That night, with John Lawler, he comes to take out Ann Marie and Alice. Ann Marie, for the first time, is jealous of Alice's desire to win Neal Forsythe. Stopping at the Lawlers, the Macy Girls are startled by Mrs. Lawler's blunt request that John give up "these people." Alice evens accounts by getting herself engaged to John Lawler.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

ON FRIDAY Alice went downtown to see the society editor of the town newspaper.

And on Saturday the news of her engagement to Johnny Lawler was printed in it.

Ann Marie read it in her father's book store on Saturday night while he was at home, having his supper.

"Mr. Peter Hasbrouck Macy of Pleasant street," she read, "announces the engagement of his daughter, Alice Pauline, to Mr. John M. Lawler, Jr. The wedding, which will be an event of early June, will unite two of this city's oldest and most exclusive families."

"Oldest and most exclusive families—oh, my hat!" Ann Marie giggled to herself as she read it. "And wouldn't I just give a lot to see Mrs. Lawler's face when she sees this!"

And then, all at once, she did see Mrs. Lawler's face. The front door of the shop opened, and in walked Mrs. Lawler, bundled up in a brown fur coat that smelled of mothballs and violets.

"Good evening!" she sang out in that chilly voice, "How are you, Miss Macy?"

Miss Macy!... Miss Macy, when she had been calling Ann Marie by her first name all her life!

"She's putting me in my place," thought Ann Marie, "Treating me like some stranger who waits on her in a store instead of one of her daughter's friends!"

But there wasn't a trace of unfriendliness in her face when she spoke to Mrs. Lawler.

"I'm very well, thanks, and how are you?" she said sweetly. "What can I do for you tonight?"

Mrs. Lawler waved a white-gloved hand toward a card that Ann Marie had tacked up on the wall of the shop earlier in the week.

"ORDERS TAKEN
OF ALL KINDS."

it read, and Ann Marie had signed her name to it.

"I came in to order some cards for a luncheon I'm giving on St. Valentine's day," she said, haughty as the Lady Clara Vere de Vere. "I'll want twelve of them. How much will they be please?"

"All right." And without another word Mrs. Lawler turned on her high heels, and started out of the store.

"She's doing this to let me know where I stand from now on," thought Ann Marie watching her go with unhappy eyes. "She's showing me that I can't expect to be invited to parties of hers or Florence's from now on — that my part is just to make the place cards for them!"

She wanted to say something cutting and bitter and mean to her. But she never knew how to say nasty things. There was no keen sharpe edge to her tongue.

At the door Mrs. Lawler turned for a moment, with the knob in her white-gloved hand.

Her cold eyes were fixed on Ann Marie's card.

"You're very sensible to come right out into the open like this and admit that you are working for a living," she said. "I've always thought that you Macy girls were foolish to try to keep up with the other young people in the town—the young people whose parents can afford to keep them in idleness. The crowd that Florence and Johnny belong to."

"It's been very silly of you girls to sail under false colors when everybody's known what a struggle it is for your father to keep you all going," the terrible voice went on, running along like a stream of ice water. "And it would be a very good thing if Alice and Jeanie would follow your example and find themselves good jobs somewhere — to come down from their high-horses and go to work like other poor girls—"

"Alice and Jeanie!" repeated Ann Marie, interrupting Mrs. Lawler. "Why—Alice—don't you know?"—She picked up the newspaper, folded to the society page where the news of Alice's engagement to Johnny was printed.

She took a step toward Johnny's mother, holding it in her hands.

And then suddenly she stopped. . .After all, what good would it do to show her the little paragraph? She would see it, herself, soon enough. It didn't do any good, anyway, to try to change people's minds.

"Goodnight, Mrs. Lawler," she said lamely.

"If I'd been Alice I'd have shoved that newspaper into her face, and made her read what was printed on it!" she told herself when Mrs. Lawler was gone. "I'd have made her eat all her mean, cruel words! I'd have made her swallow them all!"

When Mr. Macy came back to the store 15 minutes later he found her sitting on a packing case at the back of the store, crying her eyes out.

"You mustn't feel badly about this," he said, patting her heaving shoulders. "Johnny Lawler isn't the only man in the world, my dear."

"Good grief! He thinks I'm in love with Johnny!" thought Ann Marie. But she did not tell him the real reason why she was crying.

* * *

Her eyes were still red around their rims when she sat down to supper at home a half hour later.

The girls had had their meal with their father, and so she and Mrs. Leezy ate alone, sitting at a corner of the table in the kitchen.

"Well, and so you found out that you liked that there Johnny better than you thought you did!" said Mrs. Leezy, taking in her red eyes and tear-stained face. "But don't you grieve over him for a minute! There's as good fish in the sea as ever was caught, my dear. . .And like as not the weddin'll never come off in June. For as soon as Alice starts usin' her nasty disposition on her Johnny—and she soon will, mark my words—he won't be so crazy-cracked-mad to marry her as he is now! No man wants a bad-tempered woman no more'n he wants a bad-tempered horse, and Miss Lady will soon find it out!"

Ann Marie shook her head.

"I've not been crying about Johnny," she said, "I've been crying because someone just hurt my feelings—and I didn't have sense enough to fight back!"

The kitchen door flew open and Alice came dancing in, all powdered and curled and manicured and wrapped in her kimono.

"Stop chewing the fabric—and come on upstairs and get dressed, Ann Marie!" she cried, radiant with excitement. "We're all going out to celebrate my engagement! Johnny just telephoned a while ago. He and Neal are coming straight in from the club, and Brookie's coming for Jeanie and—Come on!" She siezed Ann Marie by the elbows and pulled her up out of her chair.

"Have you heard from Johnny's mother? Does she know the engagement has been announced in the paper?" asked Ann Marie who knew that she did not know about it.

"How do I know what she knows?" snapped Alice. "And what do I care?—She can go straight to Calcutta, or any other hot place, so far as I'm concerned, believe you me!"

At half past eight the six of them started out in Johnny's roadster.

Jeanie and Brooke Walters crowded into the front seat with Johnny and Alice. Neal and Ann Marie got into the rumble seat and huddled down into it, under a robe.

The night was cold and clear. There was no moon, but the sky was powdered thickly with stars.

"We're going out to Simonds'," Johnny said, naming a roadhouse that Ann Marie had heard was very gay and lively. "I'd stop in at my house for something to drink, but I'd rather not see my folks until they've had a chance to get used to the notion of Alice and me getting hand-cuffed.

"That's all right. We can stop at my house and I'll get some," answered Brooke Walters as they started off.

The others waited in his car while he went into the Walters' big stone house and got the liquor. He came out, wrapping a quart bottle in a towel.

"Got a flask in my pocket, too," he said, and they started off again.

Simonds' place was far out on the State Highway.

When they were halfway there, Brooke drove into a gasoline station.

"Fill 'er up," he said to the attendant. But when the tank had been filled he found he had no money to pay for the gas.

Instantly Johnny whipped out a twenty-dollar bill. But the attendant had no change for it.

"We don't keep much change on hand on Saturday nights. There have been too many hold-ups lately," he said.

You got any change, Forsythe?" Brooke asked.

"Nope," he said shortly. "Nothing but a twenty dollar bill."

Johnny laughed. "No use asking that bird to spend any of his money!" he said sarcastically. "His motto is 'Let the rest of the world go buy!'—I know him."

He handed his own bill to the man. "We'll stop for our change on the way home tonight," he said, "You're open all night aren't you?"

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mary Moore Stevenson To Make Her Bow to Society in Winter

ANY society matron who'd try to entertain this year for all the debutante daughters of her friends would find herself really worse off than the old woman who lived in a shoe. Even if the hostess would know what to do in the way of variety of entertainments, she'd have a hard time indeed finding free dates.

When just about everyone is back in town the social arbiters will have a difficult time, I prophesy, "sandwiching in" all the dinners and teas and balls folks want to give for the buds.

What's more, between now and late September there'll be additions, probably, to the debutante list. The second name to be added this week is that of Mary Moore Stevenson, second daughter of the Alan Cooper Stevensons, of St. James street. Plans for her debut will be announced later.

Mary's sister, Peggy Lynn Stevenson, came out last year, you know. And there's still another Stevenson girl to be presented, Helen Mar Stevenson. Her debut will not be for a few years, though.

PARIS BRINGS FORTH A NEW MOIRE FOR DAINTY FROCKS

Sketched in Paris

PAULETTE'S very recent creation, pictured above, shows an afternoon frock in the new light and supple moire which Paris is featuring.

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The water marks in the notes of fashion are those of moire, for this attractive fabric has staged a very definite come-back for the autumn.

After metaphorically cooling its heels in the anteroom, it has at length been admitted in the sanctum sanctorum of La Mode, and it has emerged much beautified, prepared to render yeoman service for both day and evening clothes. For the new moire is very light and supple, quite different from the stiff, heavy material that was the proud delight of our grandmammas, and was used for their very best dresses, which were more worn in the clothes press than in the dressing room or carriage. And so we find there is a steady demand for coats, afternoon dresses and evening coats and dresses of this beautifully marked material.

AGAIN we see the Princess silhouette sponsored by Maggy Rouff—this time in a coat-dress featuring the new moire.

* * *

ALSO of moire is the coat-dress from Maggy Rouff. It features the new Princess silhouette sponsored by this house, and is most flattering in line and detail. The knotted scarf collar, the full cuffs, the circular flounce on the skirt, and the flat muff, all of broadtail, mark this model as the ultra latest creation from this successful atelier.

Drought Killing Sneeze Weeds, Hay, Hay!

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—If your deprecating remarks concerning the unseasonably hot weather are greeted with chuckles on the part of your solitary or collective audience, don't look anxiously about for the nearest policeman. The audience may be hay fever sufferers!

Bringing the glad word that it's an ill drought that doesn't dry up (literally) some one's troubles, Ernest M. Gress, chief botanist of the State Department of Agriculture, forecasts today that there will be only a light crop of goldenrod this fall unless heavy rains fall soon.

Bombings Arouse All German Citizens

BERLIN, Sept. 6—(INS.)—The entire republic was aroused today over the activities of a band believed to be made up of "political terrorists." At the same time a munitions box was found in front of the Berlin post office. The bombing today was the eleventh since November.

High School Boys Arrested For Laughing in Theater

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—If you ask four certain Evanston high school boys what they think of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's line, "Laugh and the world laughs with you," they will tell you it's the baloney.

The lads laughed last night during a performance at the Varsity Theater. Manager R. E. Knudson had them arrested. He said the show wasn't funny. He said that even if it had been funny, he didn't like the way the boys laughed. It wasn't gentle laughter, in his opinion. More like a quartet arrangement of guffaws.

The boys, Robert Lindstrom, Norton Byam, Jr., Jack Fogarty and Gordon Limberg, said they thought the theater was a place of amusement.

The court will be asked to decide today who was right—Ella Wheeler Wilcox or R. E. Knudson.

YOUNG QUAKERS REBEL

OSKALOOSA, IOWA, Sept. 6—(AP.)—A threatened rebellion of young Quakerism against the conservative methods of their elders loomed today following the pronouncement at yesterday's session of the All-American friends conference that the old Quaker practices were obsolete and insufficient.

Two young men from the Pacific Coast, leaders in the annual meetings in their state stood together in the assertion that "Young Friends are clamoring for a change in methods." They were Frank W. Bell, Whittier, Calif., and Edward Mott of Oregon.

Dr. Raymond Binford, president of the Guilford, N. C., college, made a plea for a change in Quaker Educational methods.

STRONG LEAGUE PACT ASKED

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The covenant of the League of Nations, inspired by Woodrow Wilson, has already been found lacking in effective means to prevent war by the statesmen taking part in the League's tenth assembly session.

Taking a bold and progressive step to make the covenant at least as strong as the Kellogg renunciation of war pact, the British Labor government today introduced a resolution into the assembly calling for revision of the League covenant so that henceforth war may be really banished, as under the Kellogg pact.

The resolution was introduced by Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, and was made in behalf also of France, Italy, Belgium, Chile and Denmark.

Great applause broke forth from delegates and auditors when Mr. Henderson announced that the British resolution also had the support of the German delegation.

GAS WARFARE MOST HUMANE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Although firm in the belief that chemical warfare is the most humane ever used on the battlefield, Maj. Gen. H. L. Gilchrist, new chief of the Army chemical warfare service, opposes the belief that an aerial gas attack on a city can wipe out its entire population.

While the chemical warfare service is comparatively new in this country and is continued mainly for defensive purposes, Gen. Gilchrist is working on the theory that it should keep abreast of scientific developments in foreign countries in the use of gas for destructive purposes. However, he is skeptical of theories advanced abroad that millions of persons may be killed by small quantities of toxic gases distributed in an airplane attack.

Gen. Gilchrist is reticent about the probable uses of chemicals in future wars. However, official records show he foresees extensive use of gasas in future conflicts because of their economy, effect on military morale and the large number of casualties produced without killing or maiming.

In an official study of World War casualties he points out that while gas is an effective casualty producer, it does not inflict permanent injuries such as steel-throwing weapons.

SAFETY GROUPS MEET IN W. VA.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—By automobile and train, disciples of safety are converging upon Charleston from all parts of West Virginia.

Many, too, were here from neighboring states to aid in the presentation today and tomorrow of the fourth annual West Virginia Safety Day Demonstration.

Some bore the marks of coal dust imbedded in their hands and faces, showing that they gained their livings by toil in the mines. They were members of the more than 100 safety and mine rescue teams that will compete for state supremacy in the administration of first aid and in demonstrations of methods employed in rescuing injured miners following a mine explosion or fire.

Laidley Field, upon which the demonstrations will be held, was inspected by George McCaa, of Pittsburgh, representative of the United States Bureau of Mines, who will be chief judge of the mine rescue contests.

McCaa supervised the construction of a tunnel to be used in demonstrations of coal dust explosions. The tunnel, a long wooden structure, will be sprinkled with coal-dust and rock-dust for one explosion. That explosion will be slight for the rock-dust will allay the force of the blast. For the other explosion, coal-dust alone will be used and will blow the tunnel to bits.

New Entertainment Stars Make Radio Premiere

The newest of broadcast programs, having its premiere tonight, is titled "Stars of Melody." It will bring to the ears of the great unseen audiences Erva Giles, soprano, and Judson House, tenor, both of whom have long been favorites with the listeners-in.

In addition the new feature will present an orchestra under the direction of Harry Horlick. The Pittsburgh outlet for this presentation will be through WCAE and the time 10 p. m.

Sentimental and comedy ballads and popular song hits will dominate the air to such an extent tonight that many listeners will go "dial hunting." All of the programs have much of merit, but there is a sameness in the evening's schedule that is apt to prove tiring.

Mendelssohn's overture, "Ruy Blas," with which the composer was so dissatisfied that he would not allow it to be published during his lifetime, will be played by the Black and Gold Room Orchestra during its broadcast of dinner music through WCAE at 6 o'clock. The same station will present the Raybestos Twins in songs of love at 6:30 o'clock and Welcome Lewis, contralto crooner, at 7:30 o'clock.

Light classical music, popular songs and excerpts from musical comedies will be presented by Lois Bennett, soprano; Mary Hopple, contralto; a male quartet and an orchestra during the Armstrong Quakers' program through KDKA at 10 o'clock.

The adventures of "Casey Jones," a more than capable railroad man, if an individual with less than the usual ambunt of native caution, will be told during the Daguerreotype's broadcast through WJAS at 8 o'clock.

We Now Present

Robert Simmons, missing tenor of the NBC programs, is away on a honeymoon, not his own, but that of his parents, which makes it still more complicated. It seems the Rev. Richard Simmons, Methodist minister, has finally found time for a honeymoon, and Robert's mother insisted on taking their grown son with them into the Adirondacks.

William S. Rainey, NBC production man, is back at his desk after a brief vacation. While he was away he visited the motion picture studios of California in search of data on sound effects for use in forth-coming radio productions.

Patrick Kelly, announcer and lately in several Broadway musical productions, spent many years at sea before he discovered his singing voice. He shipped on many of the old-time sailing vessels.

Joseph Knecht, leader of the Silvertown Cord Orchestra, the first radio group to make a tour of personal appearances, is now in Austria visiting his parents at their Vienna home.

Barking Dogs Save Family From Flames

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 6.—Damage estimated at $14,000 was caused to the store, two barns and the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fulmer at Milledgeville by fire. Barking of dogs aroused the Fulmer family, but efforts to check the flames were unavailing. A few pieces of furniture were saved from the first floor of the house, but the fire spread rapidly. Fulmer's hands were burned trying to get a car out of the garage.

REFUEL GROUP TO TRY AGAIN

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Forced down here on an attempted cross country refueling endurance flight in his monoplane "City of Baltimore," George R. Hutchinson, owner-pilot, plans to return to Baltimore for another start, probably next Sunday.

Hutchinson and his co-pilots, Lieut. William L. Snowden and A. G. Graham, took off from the Maryland city at 7:20 a. m. Wednesday, and landed here at 9 a. m. yesterday, after an unsuccessful attempt to take on fuel.

The owner-pilot had announced that the second attempt to make the flight would be from Wichita, but later altered his plans to go to Detroit to have the ship's three fuel tanks rearranged. One of the tanks is too far in the rear of the plane and prevents the ship from attaining altitude without strain on the motor, Hutchinson said.

The fliers had experienced trouble since their takeoff. On the first refueling attempt at Baltimore the hose of the auxiliary ship struck the propellor of the City of Baltimore, bending the tips of the blade slightly. The swinging hose also tore the blades from the earth inductor compass. During the night the pilots were compelled to fly "blind," and in addition to dodge storms.

STRIVE TO SAVE MAN IN WELL

OTTUMWA, Ia., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Buried alive beneath a pile of quicksand and rocks which showered down on him yesterday morning, Welkens Priest, 55-year-old well cleaner, battled death early today while rescuers attempted to free him from his well prison, 35 feet below the surface.

Continued cavein frustrated attempts of workers to extricate Priest from his prison. At one time last night they had him freed to the waist, but another shower of dirt descended, a brick from the well's facing striking and injuring Ed Kirkland, a fireman.

Priest was cleaning the well when the loosened dirt from the side plunged down upon him. Buried at 10 a. m., yesterday, he was still alive early today and told workers he was "keeping his nerve."

Through the night rescuers worked cribbing the walls of the well to prevent further cavein. Priest's body was apparently in an upright position, his feet resting on the quicksand bottom of the well.

Engaged Again

VIVIAN DUNCAN

VIVIAN DUNCAN TO WED SOON

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Vivian Duncan, dancer and screen actress, and Nils Asther, Swedish motion picture star, last night announced renewal of their engagement, broken two years ago. The wedding, they said, would take place shortly "some place outside of Hollywood."

Previously the pair had been engaged for almost a year, after they first met on a motion picture lot. They had scarcely met during the last two years until a few days ago, when their work again brought them to the same set.

HOUSE TO HALT MEXICAN LABOR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—More than two weks before the gavel calls the House back into session, there has arisen a demand for the organization of the House immigration committee so that it may be ready to tackle the Mexican immigration problem in the early days of the regular session.

While it is asserted that certain defects in several of the immigration bills passed in the closing weeks of the Seventieth Congress exist and should be corrected, the belief has grown up among some of the committee members that it should be organized early to renew its work on a Western Hemisphere restriction measure.

BOX BILL REVISION

The old Box bill, on which extended hearings were held in the last Congress, must be revised, it is pointed out, if it is to be reintroduced, since, as the measure stood, it would have applied the old quota regulations to Western Hemisphere nations. Since the hearings on that measure, the national origins provisions have gone into effect, and some changes would be necessary if the bill is to be made to fit the existing quota laws.

QUOTA UNSUITED

However, some members of the committee have come to believe that some other means than quota limitations might be worked out for dealing with Mexican immigration. They pointed out that special methods were worked out for handling the Japanese and Chinese problems and suggested that special legislation might be written to halt the procession of Mexicans they say are coming into competition with American laborers.

Chairman Johnson expressed the belief to President Hoover yesterday that the committee should be organized and assured him that "restriction of immigration from Mexico and other Latin American countries is inevitable."

BRITAIN SEEKS STRIKE BAN

MANCHESTER, England, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—England, recovering from a cotton mill strike and facing imminent problems of a similar nature in railways, mines and ship building, is showing a growing tendency to ban strikes and lockouts as instruments of industrial policy. Employers and workers generally are coming into agreement that force is an obsolete method of settling trade disputes and arbitration is coming to the fore.

This tendency was greatly enhanced by the action in the Lancashire cotton trades trouble. Differences between cotton mill workers and employers were settled by arbitration.

The cotton dispute caused a stoppage in 1,300 mills which lasted three weeks. It was caused by employers asking workers to take a reduction of about 60 cents in average weekly wages of from $10 to $12. Half a million workers stopped. The unions paid out $1,250,000 in benefits. A million pounds a week $5,000,000 were lost in wages. The cotton mills lost about $7,000,000 a week in export trade, much of which must now be won back from foreign markets.

It didn't take either side very long to realize that neither could win such an expensive tug of war. And when the government intervened both sides agreed to arbitrate their differences. A notable example of co-operation between workers and employers in solving a trade problem is found in the railways. A year ago the unions agreed to a voluntary reduction of two and a half per cent in wages. These unions have now decided to end the agreement and apply for a restoration of the two and a half per cent.

Their decision will be negotiated within the next two or three months and it is predicted that friendly feelings will prevail. In shipbuilding, too, there is machinery for avoiding stoppage the services of an independent chairman can be brought into action at a certain stage of negotiations.

SCHNEIDER RACE SHIPS QUALIFY

CALSHOT, Eng., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Three British and three Italian pilots today entered the navigability tests preparatory to the Schneider cup races tomorrow. All six aviators passed the taxying tests successfully, then moored their planes for the six-hour floating test.

The aviators taking part in the tests and the planes they used follow: British—Flight Lieut. D'Arcy Greig, supermarine Napier, 1927; Flying Officer Waghorn, supermarine Rolls-Royce; Flying Officer Atcherley, supermarine Rolls-Royce; and one reserve officer.

Italian—Lieut. G. Monti, Macchi 67; Warrant Officer T. Dal Molin, Macchi 52; Lieut. Remo Cardingher, Macchi 67; and two reserve Italian pilots.

England is picked to win the race, retaining the trophy captured at Venice in 1927, but Italy may establish a new world's speed record over the straightaway course. The cup contest is over a quadrangular course.

HAVE ILL LUCK

The Schneider Cup races this year almost ended in failure, owing to bad luck that dogged the arrangements.

France withdrew following the death of her star seaplane pilot while he was making a trial flight.

The United States will not take part. An American aviator planned to come here to represent the United States, but he had so much trouble with his plane in trial spins that he changed his mind.

SUB DAMAGED

The British supermarine S-6 had her wing tip damaged Wednesday when it came in contact with a barge.

Lieut. Giovanni Monti's Italian seaplane nearly struck the trans-Atlantic liner Majestic during a flight.

HUSTON SURE G. O. P. CHOICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Claudius H. Huston, of Tennessee and New York, will be elected chairman of the Republican National Committee without opposition at its meeting here next Monday. Huston is the first choice of national committeemen and women from 38 of the 48 states and no opposition to him has been voiced by the party representatives of the other 10 states.

While President Hoover has not given his formal indorsement it is well known that Mr. Huston is his choice.

A novel process of determining in advance who was to head the committee was employed in this instance. Usually the President makes known his choice and the committee automatically registers his decision with its votes. In this case inquiry was made of the committeemen and committeewomen from the states and territories as to their preference and Huston received an overwhelming endorsement.

Ralph Williams, of Oregon, vice chairman, Pat Sullivan, of Wyoming, and several other members of the national committee are already here for the meeting. Dr. Hubert Work, the retiring chairman, has been a White House guest for several days. Williams and other committeemen were received by the President yesterday.

Man Found in Road Dies; Friend Held

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Sept. 6.—John C. Pfeister, 59, died late last night while motorists who found him lying along the road west of the city were bringing him to the Municipal Building here. Police later arrested Robert Sanders, 23, of Tippecanoe, alleged to have been riding with the victim in an automobile, and held him for the coroner.

Sanders told police he called at the Pfeister home and was asked to take the former for a ride. On the outskirts of the city, he said, Pfeister became unconscious and fell from the car.

Film Actor Found Guilty of Assault

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Edward Welch, film actor, convicted of assault and battery in Municipal Court, will be sentenced September 10. Harvey G. Perry, George E. Wilson and Sam Cummings, actors, co-defendants with Welch, were acquitted.

The quartet was accused of beating Harry Deck and Frank Goddard, film players, during an argument over the recent attempt of the Actors' Equity Association to gain recognition in motion pictures.

It read:

"Dear Gentlemen of the House:

"I would like to know if you could pass a bill providing for half pennys. The reason is that around our way they sell cakes 2 for five cents (5c), one costs three cents. So if we could have half pennys we would only have to pay 2 and ½ cents.

Naval Air Fleet Halted by Winds

DENVER, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Buffeted by winds and hampered by poor visibility, 20 planes of the Squadron No. 1, U. S. Navy Air Force, were accounted for in widely separated sections of the west and two were unreported. The planes are on a cross-country flight to the western coast. Nine of the ships were in a hangar at the Alexander airport, Colorado Springs, where they were landed under the command of Lieut. Com. H. C. Wicks.

2D CRUISER TO BE LAUNCHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Closely following the successful launching on Thursday of the 10,000-ton cruiser, Northampton, at Quincy, Mass., sponsored by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, her sister ship, the Houston, will slide down the ways at Newport News, Va., tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Holcombe, daughter of former Mayor Oscar F. Holcombe, of Houston, Tex., will be sponsor. A delegation from Texas headed by Governor Dan Moody, will be present, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest L. Jahncke, of New Orleans, will represent the Navy Department.

The Northampton and the Houston are two of the eight cruisers of 10,000 tons carrying eight-inch guns which were authorized by Congress in 1924.

The other vessels of this program are the Pensacola, launched in April of this year, and now more than 85 per cent completed; the Salt Lake City, ready to be commissioned in October; the Chester, slightly more than 67 per cent completed; the Louisville, being built at the Puget Sound Navy Yard and about 42 per cent completed; the Chicago, under construction at the Mare Island Navy Yard, Cal., 43 per cent completed, and the Augusta, which is 51 per cent on its way to acceptance by the Navy.

CARS RUNNING, STRIKE ENDED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Because an agreement had been reached between union and Public Service Corporation officials in New Orleans, the city returned to normalcy today after a two months' car strike.

Announcement of the agreement was reflected favorably by the city, street cars which have operated on regular schedules with meager patronage immediately being loaded.

Union sympathizers had boycotted street cars consistently for jitneys, and the general public avoided trolley transportation at night after a series of explosions damaged cars.

The city had experienced almost continual disturbances since the carmen struck July 2, for recognition of the union.

STRIKE KILLING DETAILS TOLD

By HENRY LESESNE
International News Service.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 6.—Dramatic details of the bloody conflict between striking textile workers and the police of Gastonia, N. C., which resulted in the death of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt were being unfolded to the jury in the tiny courthouse here today as the state continued its task of proving 16 radical strikers and Communists guilty of murder and conspiracy.

In the center of the imposing group of state's counsel sat the black-gowned figures of Aderholt's widow and her eldest daughter, Ethel, prepared to take the stand and reveal a statement made by the police chief before he died.

The state, which is trying Fred Erwin Beal, leader of the Gastonia strike, and his 15 "class war" co-defendants for murder and conspiracy, has not yet attempted to prove which one, if any, of the defendants fired the fatal shot in a melee which followed a raid by the chief and five other officers on the local union headquarters.

H. A. Roach, one of the raiding officers, who was wounded in the riot; Mrs. Walter Gregg and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mason told the jury their accounts of the riot.

18-HOLE PLAY REALLY HELPS GAME

PUBLIC sentiment walks hand in hand with popularity. This explains to some extent the comment heard in Pittsburgh district golf circles on Bobby Jones' defeat by Johnny Goodman in the 18-hole first-round match of the National amateur championship tournament at Pebble Beach, and also on the fall of George Von Elm, 1926 champion, in that some short round for the third year in succession. Some local golfers are quite indignant because Jones' efforts toward defending the crown that he had won four times were so short-lived, and they charge U. S. G. A. officials with incompetency in their championship program. "Eighteen holes of golf is not a test of championship golf," is their cry. "They didn't give the boy a chance!"

Johnny Goodman

But public sentiment often is blind to the truth in its enthusiasm to keep an idol upon a pedestal. It cannot see that Jones' defeat, even if only at 18 holes, may work out for the best interests of the game; it does not realize that, regardless of past miraculous achievements, no National tourney is won before it is played. And, with many fans having considered another Jones success as a foregone conclusion, they are bitter in their disappointment.

TALK about 18-hole match-play rounds in the National amateur is not new by any means. The U. S. G. A. has been trying for years to reach a happy medium whereby every man in the field will have an equal opportunity to win, and, after several unsatisfactory experiments, it arrived at the present program, which is commendable in many ways. To unify the play into 36-hole matches—qualifying round and match play—would mean that the period of playing must extend over at least a seven-day period.

And this is just what entrants in the tournament were howling against a few years ago, not to forget the members of the clubs where the event was held, who did not care to give up their own links for more than a week, and for not more than one Sunday in that week. In order to satisfy disgruntled club members, and to make it possible for the amateurs to journey great distances to play without losing too much time, the U. S. G. A. decided to cut the tournament to a six-day affair.

THE experiment in cutting the qualifying field for the amateur championship of 1925, at the Oakmont Country Club, from 32 to 16 was almost disastrous. At that time the matches were all 36 holes, but stars who should have been in were left out, and players who should have been out, qualified.

So the U. S. G. A. went back to the 18 holes of play for the first two rounds at match, and it has worked out fairly successfully. Among the 32 qualifiers the up-and-coming golfer is given his chance, and the outstanding stars are forced to play their best, early in the competition, rather than save up for the semi-final and final contests.

George Von Elm

BY CUTTING the star's chance of wearing down his opponent, added spice has been given to the tournament, as it balances things to such an extent that the man who has aprirations, yet unattained, has at least a hope of continuing in the play. One of the fascinating things about golf is its uncertainty. That's what makes any sport. If we are to concede Jones every championship for which he enters before the event has even begun, then we are going to harm competitive golf by taking much of the kick out of it. For eventually, who will care to play in any competition if he is unquestionably counted out before he starts?

IN THE British amateur championship tournament, another of the big events in the golf world, every round of play is at 18 holes except the final, which is at 36. This plan has been found most satisfactory by the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews.

In America the system of having all match play rounds at 36 holes has twice been adopted, only to be twice discarded again for a return to 18 holes in the early rounds. Anything that gives the great army of average tournament players a chance against the comparative handful of super golfers, and offers the possibility of the mighty being humbled by the lowly, gives to golf thrill, drama and color which cannot fail to help it.

ONE member of Connie Mack's pennant-winning crew in the American League who has been given all too little credit for the part he had played in the breaking up of the Yankee flag monopoly is infielder Jimmy Dykes.

Jimmy Dykes

You don't hear nor read much about Dykes when the achievements of the Athletics are being discussed, but as a matter of fact he has been one of the most important factors in the success of the club. He is the all-around handy man who fits in anywhere and keeps the team from skidding when a regular is disabled at some other point in the infield. Jimmy's worth is shown by the fact that he has played all four infield positions this year and in 108 games has batted for the healthy average of .327.

THE Pirates surely routed the Fred Lucas jinx in earnest last Sunday when they defeated the Cincinnati pitcher for the first time in more than two years after he had trimmed them ten times in a row. No other pitcher in either of the big leagues this season has been subjected to such a whaling as Lucas received yesterday in the third inning, when, with two out, he was walloped for a home run, three triples, a double and two singles by seven successive batsmen.

YOU'D wonder how a pitcher who has been so remarkably effective against a certain club as to beat it ten times in succession could

VETERAN EGAN VICTOR IN COMEBACK

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The Far West, host to the first Jonesless championship golf competition in six years, will fight it out with the East for the national amateur title crown.

This was assured yesterday when two veterans from Oregon, Dr. Oscar F. Willing and Henry Chandler Egan, champion 25 years ago, swept into the semi-finals, along with the sharp-shooting Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, of St. Paul, and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, titleholder in 1914.

Willing and Egan will meet in the first 36-hole semi-final today, starting at 10 a. m., while Ouimet and Johnston will battle it out in the other so that no matter what the outcome an intersectional final is assured for tomorrow.

In a succession of sensational quarter-final matches, Willing disposed of the last foreign threat when he conquered the big British champion, Cyril Tolley, by the decisive margin of 4 and 3, leading all the way after the first nine holes. Egan, in his first tournament appearance since 1921, scored an even more surprising and overwhelming triumph over blond Jess Sweetser, of New York, to the tune of six up and five to go.

JOHNSON VICTOR.

The smashing climax of the day was put on by Johnston when he vanquished George Voigt, the New York favorite, one up, in a spectacular match that went three extra holes, decided on the thirty-ninth green. This followed the victory of Ouimet over the 18-year-old San Francisco star, William Lawson Little, Jr., in another ding-dong battle, decided on the thirty-sixth green, where Ouimet sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie to halve the hole and win by a margin of one up.

These two tussles were by far the most exciting, desperately fought from start to finish, but the real hero was the veteran Egan, holder of the crown in 1904-05, and staging a sensational comeback at the age of 45, eight years after his last national tournament appearance. At St. Louis in 1921 Egan failed to qualify.

He returned to the battle this year to help the far west be host to the event of the first time and also because he had a big hand in designing Pebble Beach's famous layout. He remains a semi-finalist now for the first time since 1909 and playing as brilliantly as any of the quarter remaining in the hunt for the title relinquished so unexpectedly in the first round by Bobby Jones.

TOLLEY FAILS

Tolley, after his par-crashing play of the first two rounds, was a big favorite to go into the finals but he was wild as a hawk and no match for the steady, at times brilliant play of the battling dentist from Portland, Ore. One of the most deliberate performers in the game, Dr. Willing took even extra caution with his shots yesterday, sighting his putts fore, aft and sideways as he played every stroke with meticulous care.

The result was to give him a lead of two up after the morning and ended the match on the morning round. He was three up at the twenty-seventh and ended the match on the thirty-third hole of the afternoon play, resisting all of Tolley's courageous challenges.

Voigt and Johnson, a pair of seasoned campaigners, put on a battle worthy of their mettle, a nip and tuck duel that had a big gallery thrilled all the way. Until the twenty-ninth hole of the afternoon, Voigt held the edge most of the way and appeared to be headed for victory. The New Yorker three up at the twelfth was only one up at the end of the first eighteen holes but he was two up at the twenty-seventh. There the tide shifted again and in quick succession, Johnston captured the twenty-eighth, where he sank a 12 foot putt and the twenty-ninth, where Voigt got into a trap.

EVEN ON THIRTY SECOND

All square now, they fought on even terms to the thirty-second where Voigt again caught a trap with his third shot to this 555 yard layout and wound up with a six as Jimmy got his par five handily.

Jones, Homans Each to Get Medal

DEL MONTE, Cal., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—There will be no play-off for the amateur golf championship qualifying medal, for which Bobby Jones and Gene Homans tied with scores of 145. Officials of the United States Golf Association today vetoed proposals for a deciding match between the dethroned champion and the Princeton star next Sunday, after the tournament's close, and announced the award of two medals.

SEEK ARREST OF HORNSBY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Rogers Hornsby, former Cardinal manager and star second baseman with the Chicago Cubs was cited for contempt of court and sentenced to the city jail by Andrew H. Watson, a notary public, in papers filed in Circuit Court yesterday. The citation cannot be enforced, however, without an order of the Circuit Court.

Watson filed papers against Hornsby when he twice failed to appear in answer to a summons to take his deposition in the suit brought against him by Frank J. Quinn, formerly Hornsby's attorney, who charges the ball player owes him $5,250 for legal services.

Watson, who made no recommendation for enforcement of the sentence, said he imposed it to preserve jurisdiction in the event the court should prefer to enforce it.

Maxie Strub Wins Over Tommy Crawley

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Maxie Strub, of Erie, won a 10-round decision here last night over Tommy Crawley of Pittsburgh. Crawley led the fighting in the first three rounds, after which Strub stepped in and won the next seven. The Pittsburgher was down for a count of six in the ninth.

Battling Gizzy, Washington, won an eight-round verdict over U. S. Carpentier of New Kensington, Gizzy leading all the way.

Carl Montebana, Braddock, surprised Washington fans by trouncing Young Joe Wolcott, of Washington, who had won his last five fights by knockouts. Montebana was given a six-round decision.

BRAME WORTH TWO SALARIES TO BUCS

It will be hard for the three-base sockers to catch up with Brother Lloyd on top of the little fellow's performance of yesterday. He added his seventeenth and eighteenth three-ply wallops of the season. Such a total often is sufficient to lead, but Lloyd should be able to inject a few more into the various fields on which he will compete.

Redland Field, by the way, is just about the best three-base hit layout in the sport. A wallop down the right field line means three for a sprinter as Lloyd showed with his first drive. His second long one carried into the left-center pocket.

Ervin Brame deserves two salaries as he toils for the Pirates. He is a real pinch hitter and has proved to be a winning pitcher, despite a lot of hard breaks. He lost several games this season through no fault of his own. Few hitters in the game can match his drives at the plate. His two shots into the bleachers here caused the fans to buzz with comment, and he clouted one in Chicago that probably carried further than either of his smacks in Cincinnati. A ball has to carry almost 400 feet to make the grade at the home of the Reds

Leon Chagnon, Ralph Erickson and Johnny O'Connell departed for Pittsburgh in their car immediately after yesterday's game. They shattered a few unlisted speed records in driving from Knoxville to Cincinnati, but ran afoul of John Law shortly after arriving.

It may be that the exuberant young men parked in front of a fire plug or theater. In any event, they had to get Sam Watters to use all the political influence at his disposal to get rid of the ticket, for the Cincy law is rather tough on parking violations.

Brame came out of the farewell with a homer, a double and a single. His fine two-sacker was struck off the elusive shafts of Jake May. Jake is tough on our lefthand hitters, he fanning Brother Paul twice. Just the same, Paul came out of the battle with two hits.

The first game of this afternoon's double-header will begin at 2 o'clock.

BUSH, HOWLEY IN HUDDLE

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Donie Bush, deposed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Dan Howley, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, went into a huddle here yesterday, but declined to tell what they talked about.

All Howley, a close friend of Bush's, cared to say was that his friend was tired and needed a rest.

Neither would discuss reports they were planning to purchase the Indianapolis club's baseball franchise in the American Association.

MOOSE TEMPLE BOXING SHOW CALLED OFF

Because of the intense heat, Francis Flynn, promoter of the Moose Temple Boxing Club, this afternoon, called off his initial show of the indoor season, scheduled for tonight.

A heavy advance ticket sale, rather than any lack of interest displayed by local boxing fans, prompted Flynn's move. Indications were that the crowd would be of capacity proportions, and the promoter is convinced that a big crowd in his comparatively small arena would be in great discomfort because of the extremely warm weather.

The card which was to have featured Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Jackie Murray, of the Hill, in the main bout, will be kept intact insofar as is possible.

The show has been postponed for two weeks, Flynn announced, but those holding tickets for the fight either can redeem the ducats for the same seats at the next show of have their money refunded.

A real grudge fight is in prospect for the semi-final bout Monday night at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, when a return match will be staged between Young Jack Dempsey, of Conneaut, O., and Frank Florian, of Cleveland, both heavyweights. These boys fought a sensational draw a few weeks ago and each is confident that he can stop the other. In their last fight plenty of keen rivalry was in evidence.

Jules Beck, matchmaker at the bowl, received a wire from Frank Bachman, manager of Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight contender, of New York, who fights the main go, in which he announces that Maxie is going through some stiff training in preparation for his fight with K. O. Brown, Leo P. Flynn's latest find, who has been punching most of his opponents into submission. Rosenbloom, according to Bachman, anticipates a real tussle from the negro and is determined to be at his best.

CHESS CHAMPS MEET

WEISBADEN, Germany, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Chess players and many visitors seeking health at this resort thronged the salon of the Kurhaus for the world championship chess match today between Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, title holder, and Dr. D. Bogoljubow, of Triberg, Germany, challenger. Of the total of 30 games which the principals have agreed to play, only eight will be contested during the first session, which will end about September 24.

DAVIES WINS OVER PINO

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—Willie Davies, uncrowned flyweight champion, pounded and punched Genaro Fino, Cuban champ, all over the ring here last evening and won the decision by a big margin. Davies was everywhere, jabbing Pino with his left and backing him into the corners where he waded in with rights and lefts. It was Willie's fight all the way.

In the second four-round fight on the card, Eugene DeMarco, of New Brighton, sustained a fractured left jaw when Johnny (Bad News) Morgan, of Beaver Falls, knocked him out in the third round.

One of the best six-round scraps that has been fought here this summer saw Thad Yarosz, of Monaca, win the decision over George Bretch, of Pittsburgh. Bretch had an advantage in reach that baffled Yarosz, but the hard hitting of the Monaca boy won for him.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Although the annual fall harvest of Pirate recruits is generous, the veterans of the club cannot see where the team has been materially strengthened for next season.

The feeling among the Pirates is that the scouts so far have failed to click in regard to a hard-hitting infielder and one or two dependable pitchers.

The owners, too, have come in for some milded criticism owing to the fact that no new shortstops with a wallop are headed for the club. Perhaps negotiations are going on in this connection.

Th Pirate officials, however, would like to be shown where they could pick up a player of the Jackson type but this sort of athlete is very, very scarce.

LIKE WARSTLER

The minor-league shortstop best liked by several of the Buccos is Harold Warstler of the Indianapolis club. This young man is reputed to be a wonderful fielder, but his batting is none too sure. Moreover, the Hoosier owners are said to be asking a stiff price for his services and few magnates are willing to risk the heavy sum owing to the doubt concerning his hitting.

Another Class A. A. star shortstop who is ready for the majors is Gordon Slade of the San Francisco Missions. But Slade, like Warstler, is no slugger and his employers are asking a big sum for the promising boy.

The return to the Pirates of oJhn O'Connell, of Verona, may give the catching staff more zip. John had a big year in the Sally League and he is a peppery fellow who fits in well.

Leon Chagnon and Ralph Erickson, two impressive pitchers who can stand almost any amount of work, may help the team in years to come, but too much dependence cannot be put in these boys for next year.

Erickson is a lefthander who is almost as big as Eppa Rixey, but the Swede is fast on his feet. He may go a long way in the sport. Chagnon also is a powerful boy who will bear watching.

BEAT REDS IN FINALE

Ervin Brame and Lloyd Waner shared the heavy honors of the afternoon. The tall pitcher contributed a homer, double and single to the farewell clash, while Little Lloyd kicked in with two triples and a single.

Brame's homer in the third with two out carried into the rightfield bleachers and it started a seven-run advance of the round that won the game. The inspirational sock was a duplicate of his homer last Sunday. The Pirates shelled Red Lucas off the mound, Jake May finishing.

MANDELL SET FOR CHILEAN

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Lightweight Champion Sammy Mandell tonight will attempt to disprove theories that he is slipping by matching his ring science against Luis Vicentini, rugged right-hand clouter from Chile, in a 10-round battle in Paddy Harmon's Chicago stadium punch bowl.

Sammy's title will not be at stake, but if the Chilean can make it interesting he doubtless will have to give him a crack at the crown to satisfy boxing fans and the new Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Although the champion turned back the challenge of Tony Canzoneri in the same arena last month, his showing was far below that of the old Mandell. Since then he has decided to take on all leading contenders for his throne with non-titular bouts until he gains his form and gives them a shot at his title.

CRUICKSHANK BEATEN BY OUTSIDER

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen, of Fresh Meadow, the defending champion, gained the third round of match play in the Metropolitan Golf Association championship yesterday by defeating Joe Belfore, Sunningdale, 2 and 1, in the second round.

Earlier in the day Sarazen put out James Hines, Hempstead, 2 and 1, in the first round.

Others who gained the third round were Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge; Wiffy Cox, of Dyker Beach; Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford; W. Kozak, North Hills; Tony Manero, unattached; George Heron, Meadow Brook, and Sol di Buono, of Bonnie Briar.

Di Buono, incidentally, provided the biggest upset of the day in the first round when he eliminated the medalist, Bobby Cruickshank, of the Progress Club, 4 and 3.

WEST TO PLAY EAST IN FINAL

The next were squared, but on the thirty-fifth, both hit poor tee shots.

Jimmy came out so strong that his ball skidded all the way over the green and George barely exploded to the green. Johnston's putt was short by three feet and he missed an attempt to slice around a partial stymie laid by Voigt's first putt. The New Yorker won four to five and they went to the home hole all square. Both were on in three but Johnston's putt of 12 feet stopped on the lip of the cup, and they halved in par fives.

They fought each other to a standstill on the first two extra holes, both getting birdie fours on the thirty-eighth when Johnston sank a 15 foot putt, but on the thirty-ninth Voigt's second shot landed in a trap to the right of the green. He exploded 10 feet beyond the pin and missed his putt only by two inches, taking five while Johnston bagged the par four that gave him the match.

Like Johnston, Ouimet made an uphill battle to put out the sensational San Francisco youngster, little, who had scalped Phillips finally in the first round and put out the conqueror of Jones, Johnny Goodman, in the second round Wednesday.

Hudkins Gets Purse Award From Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Ace Hudkins, "The Nebraska Wildcat," hooked the State Athletic Commission in the pocketbook for a $13,000 victory in the Superior Court yesterday.

Superior Judge Walter Herzinger held that the commission had no legal right to withhold the money which represented Hudkins' share of the proceeds in his fight with Charles Belanger last June. The commission held up the purses of both fighters, charging that the fight was not a fight but a "waltz" and a "hippodrome."

LOCAL TURNERS HONOR CHAMP GYMNAST

Karl Reuter, champion Turner of Germany and joint holder of the world's championship as a result of finishing in a deadlock with Emil Preiss, of Chicago, in the turnfest of the Deutsche Turnerschaft, staged last July in Cologne, was a guest of honor along with George Seibel, dramatic critic of the Sun-Telegraph and president of the national executive committee of the American Turner Bund, at an informal dinner held last night in the Central Athletic Association building, South Craig street.

Reuter, accompanied by Karl Schneider, representing the German Turner Bund, extended greetings of the Turnvereins of Hessen, in which district the champion resides, to the American Turner Bund and to its national president, George Seibel. The affair served as a joint homecoming inasmuch as Mr. Seibel recently returned from a European tour.

Reuter, who sails for Germany next week, has been making a tour of the United States, giving an exhibition of his prowess as a gymnast. He has visited Cleveland, Chicago, Denver, St. Louis, Washington and Pittsburgh, winding up his travels next week in New York City. He expressed himself as well pleased with the receptions given him in all cities in which he visited.

John E. Loibl, president of the Central Turnverein and German vice consul, served as toastmaster. Other prominent turners who greeted the German champion were Emil Schmid, president of the Pittsburgh District Turnvereins, which include 22 turner organizations in the tristate district, and Reinhard Ullrich, president of the German Societies of Allegheny County. Music was furnished by Hans Hoffman and his Turnverein Orchestra.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT"

A celebrated Italian manufacturer has made an International Reputation by producing the finest Lightweight Fur Felt.

Last year this Exclusive and Expensive Imported Model was made with a Raw Edge. But this year the Brim has a narrow Silk Binding, and the proportions of the Crown and Brim, and width of the Band are a little different.

If you could take the Original and my "Style Twin" in your hands and put them together—Crown to Crown, Brim to Brim, Band to Band—you would find the measurements of Block and Flange identical.

COLLEGE GRID SQUADS SET FOR SCRIMMAGE

PITT MENTOR DECLARES ALL JOBS OPEN

By JESS CARVER.

The first scrimmage of the season featuring the varsities is scheduled for tomorrow for Pitt, Tech and the Dukes. Provided the weather is propitious (scrimmage with THAT word for a while), Coaches Sutherland, Waddell and Layden will put their squads through some real football in morning sessions.

Alex Stevenson.

As members of a huge squad, which sooner or later must be pared down to a proportion more readily workable, it will behoove the Duke players to work particularly hard in the first few scrimmage sessions. Pitt and Tech, with smaller squads, half the size of Duquesne's, will not be able to do much cutting.

JOCK WARNS MEN

Jock Sutherland has laid the law down to his Pitt footballers, and, I am informed, in no uncertain terms. The good Doctor hopped all over his squad at Camp Hamilton, Windber, Pa., the other afternoon, removing for once and for all the thought that might have been lingering in the minds of some that Pitt was going to have a hand-picked eleven this fall.

"Every position on the squad," Jock told the boys, "is open. You all have a chance; if not, you wouldn't be down here. Do you think I'm feeding you guys beefsteak and perfectly good eggs for fun?

"I want you to get the idea out of your domes right off the bat that the football proposition here is a closed affair. There isn't a player on the squad, who was a regular last year, certain of his position. If you are a better man than one of the lettermen, why, you'll play."

At any event, things seem to be going along as well as can be expected in the Pitt camp. A scrimmage session, the first of the season, is booked for tomorrow. Others will follow with increasing and devastating regularity, for after the season once gets under way, after the inaugural game, Pitt seldom scrimmages. But how the boys get it piled on 'em in camp!

LAYS FOR WRITERS

Alex Stevenson, Pitt's advisory mentor and chief scout, is reported to be spending his evenings loading up a deck of cards, ready for the first invasion of sport writers. The first bid will probably be six no-trump.

It remained for Waynesburg to report the first major injury of the season. Chuck Farrell, a tackle, hailing from Carmichael, broke his shoulder during a scrimmage session yesterday. He will be out of action for the remainder of the year.

SCHMIDT, YERINA STAR

They are watching big Bob Schmidt, regular tackle last year, and Andy Yerina, in the past a reserve lineman, out at Tech. Yerina, the first man on the field and the last man off, seems bent on grabbing himself a regular berth. Schmidt, huskier than ever and with three years of experience behind him, looks to be one of the best tackle prospects in the entire district.

Among other things they are watching is Johnny Karcis at the mess table.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

When a player once gets into the habit of slicing how should he proceed to cure himself?

Answered by

BOBBY CRUICKSHANK

Winner of Los Angeles, San Antonio, Hot Springs, North-and-South Open Championships, 1927. Maryland Open, 1928.

There are many causes of slicing. First of all there is the player who brings the club face right across the ball causing the side spin which makes the curve or slice. He is bringing the club back in an arc which is outside a straight line back from the ball. The club should be started back low and a little nearer the body. This brings the left shoulder around into a better position, and allows a hit straight through. Sometimes, of course, the grip is all wrong and the left hand is too far below the shaft with the right hand too far on top. To remedy this, shift the left hand over the shaft until the third knuckle is seen, then bring the right a little more to the right side of the shaft.

Sometimes the slicer hits with both knees bent. This causes side swaying of the body instead of pivoting, and the head of the club is too far behind the hands so that the shot is mistimed. It should be played so that the left knee is straightened out and as the ball leaves the clubhead, follows through and the right knee bends inwards to allow a turn.

Long's Sport Comment

ever be hit so hard by that same team as Lucas was hit yesterday. It's largely because the hurler happens to have an off day in the all-important matter of control. He may have his usual stuff but may be unable to put the ball where he wants it to go.

The Bucs and Reds will not meet again this year. The season's series was the first to be completed by the Pirates, and they won it by a count of 13 games to nine. They have also sewed up the honors in the year's series with the Cubs and Cardinals, and are fairly certain to finish with an edge on the Braves and Robins.

ACCORDING to Chuck Klein, the Phillies' home-run slugger, hitting ability isn't physical at all, but mental. When a New York scribe asked him to explain the secret of hard hitting, he replied, tapping his forehead: "It's all up here. It's all in the way you feel about it. If you believe you can hit, there's no reason why you shouldn't hit unless you're a cripple."

Teddy Baldock

Asked if left-hand pitching bothered him, Klein, who is a left-hand hitter, said: "Sure, and that's up here, too," again tapping his forehead. "At first I was terrible, but I'm getting better. I expect to earn my way against left-handers pretty soon. The toughest pitcher for me is a right-hander, Dolf Luque. I got just one base hit of him all season. Probably was lucky to get that. I just can't hit him at all."

TEDDY BALDOCK, bantamweight ring champion of England, who has just arrived in this country to meet Al Brown, the lengthy Panama Negro, in a 15-round world title battle tentatively scheduled for September 15 in the New York Coliseum, looked like a certain champion of the future when he visited this country three years ago, but whether he has improved since that time at the rate expected remains to be seen. He was only 19 then, and was limited to six-round bouts in New York State, winning 11 and fighting one draw. Though he has won the English championship in the meantime, the fact that he lost a 15-round decision to Willie Smith, of Wales, indicates that he may not have lived up to the promise he showed three years ago. No English fighter has held the world bantamweight championship since Joe Bowker defeated Frankie Neil 25 years ago.

In addition to the track events, there will be some amateur boxing bouts, held under sanction of the A. A. U., with some of the best local talent taking part.

Among the chairmen are: general committee, Edward J. Kelsky; refreshments, Lou Breman; transportation, William Bernstein; first aid, Dr. Harry L. Baer; finance, Max Moses; entertainment, Lawrence Morris; athletics, Joe Goldman; publicity, Max W. Silverblatt; reception, A. B. Samuels.

C. & I. LEAGUE FINALE LISTED TODAY

The final game of the Commercial and Industrial League schedule will be played this evening at the Beechview grounds. President Dick Mackey has the permit for the grounds and everything is set to see a new champion crowned in the league.

Laboon will be on the mound for the Milkmen, and Engleman for the Steelers. With the second game of the City League playoff scheduled for this evening, it is quite possible that Jimmy Mitchell will be missing from the Steelers' lineup.

Engleman and Laboon have been the big aces for their respective clubs this season. Fans should see a real battle. The game will be called at 6:15 o'clock.

The North Side Civics got the jump on the Pleasant Valley Smilers in the first game of the City League championship playoff series last evening, beating the second half winners 8 to 4 at the Salt Works grounds.

The Smilers, after trailing from the third inning, scored three runs in the sixth to knot the count, but the Civics put on an even more gainful rally in their half of the inning, tallying four runs and winning the ball game.

The second game of the series will be played at Wilson Park this evening.

HAGEN-SMITH PLAY HERE TODAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The roads leading to the Pittsburgh Field Club today are somewhat crowded. The reason for same being that district golf enthusiasts are all pepped up over the exhibition match this afternoon between Walter Hagen British open champion, and king of all professional golfers, Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., North and South titlist, who, despite his youth, has gained international fame, against Dave McKay, popular home club instructor, and Pete O'Hara, of the Westmoreland Country Club. The match begins at 2:30 o'clock, and is slated for the 18-hole route.

Colorful Horton Smith, who became an idol in the realm of golf when he won a number of open tournaments within a short period, and followed it up with fine golf abroad as a member of the American Ryder Cup team, will be the chief center of interest today, never having appeared here before. Hagen has been seen here in the past, and therefore will not create unusual interest.

The local duo is an excellent combination, and it is anticipated they will give the visitors a real run for their money. O'Hara, you know, had a better aggregate score than either Smith or Hagen in the National open this year at Winged Foot. And McKay is a mean player to contend with when he's on his game.

Jake Newman, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, is in charge of the affair. Tickets may be purchased at the club today prior to the match.

S. A. R. HOLDS CONFAB

The golf committee of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution, held a meeting in the Keystone Athletic Club yesterday, with Col. Franklin Blackstone, chairman, presiding. Plans were definitely set for the state championship tournament, which will be held at the Pittsburgh Field Club on Monday.

Col. Armstrong will be in charge of the unique driving contest. Col Blackstone's new system calls for the measuring of all drives in the fairway on the first, third and fifth holes—the largest aggregate total to win the event. This is a great time-saving system.

An 18-hole putting contest also will be held after the tournament. Wives, daughters and sweethearts of participating compatriots, will play at golf and at bridge in the afternoon, and join the men at a dinner dance in the evening.

WOMEN ON LINKS

The Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania will stage a one-day tournament at the Fox Chapel Golf Club tomorrow, and a large field is expected to turn out.

The Philadelphia Company will stage a one-day tournament at the St. Clair Country Club next Tuesday. It is expected about 50 will compete.

The St. Clair Country Club has carded an auction pool tournament, 36 holes medal play in foursomes under full handicap, open to all members who have posted not less than 10 scores this season. Eighteen holes is slated for Saturday, September 21, and another 18 holes the following Sunday.

An invitation tournament will be played at the Chartiers Heights Country Club next Wednesday, and a one-day medal play of the Pennsylvania Golf Association at the Pittsburgh Field Club on the same day.

Risko, Christner Granted Purses

Risko, however, will be fined for the foul which cost him the decision. The amount of the fine, yet to be determined, will be given to the Cleveland community fund.

How Cubs, Athletics Can Clinch Pennants

NATIONAL LEAGUE

GAMES TO PLAY

CUBS—25—With Pittsburgh, 1; with New York, 4; with St. Louis, 2; with Brooklyn, 4; with Cincinnati, 7; with Philadelphia, 4; with Boston, 3.

TWELVE and one-half games ahead of the Pirates, the Cubs can clinch the pennant by winning 14 out of the 25 games. The Pirates could not pass them even if they won all of their 26 remaining games. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
CHICAGO	102	52	.662
PITTSBURGH	100	54	.649

IF the Cubs win only 13 out of their remaining 25 games the Pirates would have to win 26 out of 26 to finish in a tie. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PITTSBURGH	100	54	.649
CHICAGO	100	54	.649

AMERICAN LEAGUE

GAMES TO PLAY

ATHLETICS—23—With New York, 2; with Cleveland, 4; with St. Louis, 4; with Detroit, 3; with Washington, 3; with Chicago, 4; with Boston, 3.

YANKEES—26—With Philadelphia, 2; with Cleveland, 5; With St. Louis, 4; with Detroit, 5; with Washington, 4; with Chicago, 4; with Boston, 2.

FOURTEEN and one-half games ahead of the Yankees, the Athletics still need only 11 victories out of 23 games to clinch the pennant. The Yankees could not pass them even if they won all of their remaining 26 games. The standing would be:

PHILADELPHIA	101	53	.656
NEW YORK	100	54	.649

IF the Athletics win only 10 out of the 23 games, the best the Yankees could do if they won all of their 26 remaining games would be to tie them for the lead. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PHILADELPHIA	100	54	.649
NEW YORK	100	54	.649

(EVERY GAME THE PIRATES AND YANKEES LOSE FROM NOW UNTIL THE END OF THE SEASON MEANS ONE LESS VICTORY THE CUBS AND ATHLETICS WILL NEED TO CLINCH THE PENNANTS IN THEIR RESPECTIVE LEAGUES.)

TITLE AT STAKE AT BELMONT

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—(AP.)—Another attempt to settle the bemuddled three-year-old championship situtation is to be made tomorrow with the best of the 1929 mediocre three-year-old group battling for the winner's share of the $25,000 purse in the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park.

Since the forced retirement of Blue Larkspur early in August, the three-year-old group has been without a ruler. Each shift of weights, each change of distance has seen a new claimant to titular honors mount to the throne.

Harry Payne Whitney's brilliant but inconsistent Beacon Hill rose to the pinnacle with a victory in the Travers at Saratoga, but quickly faded a few days later when The Nut, from the Warm Stable, showed him a clean pair of heels. And now this Warm Stable son of Mad Hatter, which once wore the light blue and brown-topped Whitney silks, is likely to face the barrier the favorite in Saturday's twenty-seventh running of Belmont's fall feature for three-year-olds.

Twice within the lost two weeks The Nut has taken the measure of such prominent runners as Beacon Hill, High Strung, champion two-year-olds of 1928, and Chaffee Earl's Naishapur, in addition to several of the lesser lights of his age.

Because of the uncertainty as to the outstanding thoroughbred, a dozen runners may face Starter Mars Cassidy for the mile and five furlongs jaunt, which was won by Reigh Count last year.

CANTON WINS CENTRAL FLAG

CANTON, Sept. 6.—The Central League pennant for 1929 was safely stowed in the locker of the local club here yesterday when Canton defeated Akron, 9 to 6, in the final game of the series, clinching the flag. Bradley held Akron safe until the final inning when the Tirites rallied to score four runs. Canton pounded out 11 safe hits.

ERIE WINS

SPRINGFIELD LOSES

FORT WAYNE, Sept. 6.—The Fort Wayne Chiefs defeated Springfield here yesterday in the closing game of the season by a 7 to 5 score. A four run rally in the fifth put the game on ice.

500 Railroaders In Pitcairn Meet

PITCAIRN, Pa., Sept. 6.—Almost 500 athletes from the Central Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad will gather at Pitcairn tomorrow for the eighth annual track and field meet. They will come from Buffalo, Cleveland, Erie, Canton, Pittsburgh, Dennison and various points. After months of preparation and training, the best of the athletes have been selected to compete. The winners will represent the Central Region in the system meet at Altoona, September 21.

Competent officials have been assigned to run the event. Paul Neff, of Philadelphia, will referee and Henry J. Blum will be the starter. W. J. Murphy, of Olean, N. Y., will be in charge of the field events and A. A. Ramming, of Pittsburgh, will be head track judge.

Squall Drives Toledo Yacht to Triumph

DETROIT, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A sudden squall that changed the wind brought Johnnie Boice, of the Toledo Yacht Club home in first place yesterday in the first contest of the series to determine the star boat championship of the Great Lakes.

Pat Clancy, of the Detroit Yacht Club, and Max Hayford, of the Sheridan Short Yacht Club, Chicago, had battled around the course in a bow and bow struggle for first place, when the squall, bringing a strong wind out of the west, came to Boice's assistance and sent him across the finish line in first place.

Local Boy Likely St. Vincent Center

LATROBE, Pa., Sept. 6.—Out of 38 aspirants for places on the St. Vincent College football team this season the coaches are trying to pick a capable center to take the place of last year's captain, Jay O'Donnell. Just now Ray Burke, of Pittsburgh, is receiving special attention at snapping the ball.

MICHIGAN NINE WINS

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(INS.)—The visiting University of Michigan baseball team today defeated the University of Waseda nine by 4 to 2.

TILDEN FAVORED IN SINGLES

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—For the first time since 1925, the national tennis singles championship of the United States, which opens tomorrow, will go to someone other than a Frenchman. Not because France's grip on world tennis honors has started to weaken, but because not one of the tennis stars from the land of the tricolor has seen fit to enter the 1929 championship.

With the French "big three"—Lacoste, Borotra and Cochet—out of the picture, prospects are bright for William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, to capture the title for the seventh time. Big Bill had a monopoly on the title from 1920 to 1925, inclusive, but Lacoste was the winner in 1926 and 1927, and Cochet kept the title in France's possession last year by defeating Frank Hunter in the final round.

Tilden, seeded first in the tournament, will have no easy path to his seventh national title, but on form should dispose of the younger stars that block his way. In his half of the draw are H. W. Austin, of England; Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Texas; John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J.; Tamio Abe, of Japan; German Upmann, Cuba, and John Doeg, Santa Monica, all seeded players.

Lott heads the list in the lower half with the other seeded players in his half being E. R. Avory and J. S. Oliff of England, N. J. Farquharson, of South Africa, Gregory S. Mongin of Newark, Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., and Frank Hunter.

WHEELING RACE MARK FALLS

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Dr. H. M. Parshall's Counterport, winner of the American Pacing Derby at Kalamazoo, Michigan, established a new track record here yesterday for the mile pace when he paced the distance in 2:05 in a special exhibition race. The old record of 2:05¼ was made by Grace Direct in 1923. The roan stallion was paced by an automobile. He was driven by Dr. Parshall.

A. C. Van Buren's black gelding Blackleaf captured the feature event of the afternoon, the 2:24 trot, in straight heats.

Iowa Reorganizes Athletic Board

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The University of Iowa's latest gesture in its fight to return to good graces in the Western Conference is the reorganization of its athletic board of control.

Clement C. Williams, dean of the college of engineering, is to be the new chairman of the board, succeeding E. H. Lauer, who is expected to become secretary. Lauer became chairman of the board last June when he replaced Paul E. Belting as director of athletics.

The reorganization, which will be effective next Tuesday, will place a faculty member not otherwise connected with the athletic department in control of sports at the Hawkeye institution. Williams formerly was a member of the board of control of athletics at the University of Illinois.

SOCCER PLANS FOR SEASON ADVANCED

By TOM BIRKS.

Organization activities in Western Pennsylvania's soccer world keeps stepping along, and while nothing has come along to stagger local soccer men in the formation of a good Sunday League, it becomes evident that the District, or Saturday circuit will be stronger than ever before.

There is an attempt to turn a Junior League into a Senior loop, and the experiment will be watched with interest. The closing of the Curry grounds and the suspension of the Dunlevy officials naturally showing itself in the formation of a major circuit in the small towns.

Pittsburgh Soccer Club is evidently extinct, and in its place has come the Pierpoint Motors Club. Its officials will probably be the same that guided the destinies of the former Blue and White clad Pittsburgh aggregation. From the roster, its representation in the District League should be worth while. Some of the former Pittsburgh Celtics will be found with the Pierpoints.

The big question in local soccer is, what sort of competition is the National Amateur champions from Heidelberg going to get locally? There is little doubt that Manager Balsarini is going to have a club, despite plenty of opposition.

But, after the Green and Gold Tornado gets on the field, where is the competition coming from?.

The writer has received quite a number of Referees' Guides. These are wonderful little books to teach managers, players, or referees the ultimate in soccer. All plays are explained. It is a case of come in and get one. A few hours of study from the referee's angle will help managers, and probably stop some of that dashing on the field to straighten out the Knight of the Whistle. And what is more, they are free.

Strenuous efforts are being made from the professional member from Cleveland in the Western Professional League, to get Berky Jones' signature on the dotted line, but seeing that the Western is anything but stabilized, there's little chance for the former American Olympic player to transfer his allegiance to Ohio. Berky is a brilliant player, and Western Pennsylvania can ill afford to lose him.

Whitney Horses Run One, Two at Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Sending out an entry to run one-two in a race appears to be the habit with Harry Payne Whitney and trainer Jimmy Rowe.

For the second time in less than a week the Light Blue and Brown-topped Whitney Silks finished first and second in an important stake event as Dustemall led the field home in the matron stakes at Belmont Park yesterday and Murky Cloud took down place money. Whitney's other one-two triumph way at Saratoga last Saturday when Boojum and Whichone, the stars of his stable, finishing in order named in the Hopeful.

Fitzsimmons Ordered To Pay Fields' Fine

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 6.—(AP.)—An echo of the Jackie Fields-Joe Dundee welterweight championship fiasco here last July came today with announcement by the state boxing commission that it expected Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons to pay the $1,000 fine assesed against Fields. Fields was awarded the decision on a foul, but the commission held he had not complied with the commission's requirements to protect himself against injury.

Fitzsimmons was advised that if the fine is not paid within 48 hours his license will be revoked.

East Battles West In Girls' Net Final

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The East and the West will meet in the final round for the girl's tennis championship of the United States.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—(AP)—Bond prices moved irregularly lower in the early trading today. Money rates held unchanged, with time accommodations at 8¾ to 9 per cent and call loans at 9 per cent, and neither traders nor investors manifested any interest in the comparatively high yields afforded by the low prices of fixed-charge securities. Convertibles traded within narrow limits and in small volume as the course of stocks after yesterday's setback was watched.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Doehler Casting Profits Increase

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Operating profit of Doehler Die Casting Company for July was $83,287 after depreciation but before federal taxes against $34,358 in July 1928. For the first seven months operating profit was $644,524 after depreciation but before federal taxes, against $465,165 in the same period of the previous year.

Future of Investment Trusts Queried

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

"WHAT will happen to the investment trusts when and if we have a bear market?" This question, asked of a number of bankers, received a wide variety of answers, but most of them boil down to the formula, "It depends on the particular investment trust."

Had the development of this type of corporation been confined to purely investment operations, the securities of investment trusts would certainly suffer no more than those of industrial companies. In all probability they would offer greater resistence to a downward trend in the price of stocks.

Theoretically, an investment trust offers a means whereby individual investors can secure greater safety of principal and income through wide diversification of holdings. In theory the securities held should yield enough in dividends or interest to pay the holders of investment trust stocks a reasonable return on their capital.

Speculative Activities.

IN ACTUAL practice, however, a large share of the investment trusts have not had enough dividend return to make their earnings statements very attractive. Many of them have relied on trading activities to make by far the lion's share of their profits. It is these trading activities, not fixed returns, that have been responsible for the enormous profits of some investment organizations and their rapid development during the past few years.

Excellent banking connections, enormous resources and good management, together with a market which has been very favorable for trading activities, have combined to make the mushroom growth of these new comers to the financial world possible.

But what will happen when the present easy profit stock market comes to an end? The investment trusts which happen to have securities yielding a good return will not have to worry, but what of the organizations which have not accumulated holdings with an attractive yield? It seems quite probable that some of these organizations may show sickening drops in their profits if this day catches them unawares.

Management Deciding Factor.

OF COURSE, many of the investment trusts which started with comparatively small incomes from their holdings, may have accumulated such large profits from speculative activities that they will be able to build investment incomes in line with their capitalizations.

The turning of these speculative profits into channels which yield a steady revenue at the right moment is dependent entirely on the foresight of management. For that matter, so much is left to the discretion of directors that management at all times is an even more important consideration in investment trusts than in industrial enterprises.

The owners of securities of investment trusts have not bought shares in physical properties or even in stocks that will be the same a month from now. They have bet their money that the management is above reproach and far-seeing.

Future Outlook.

ALTHOUGH the investment trust has been known for years in Europe, its sudden jump into prominence here and the great success of many of the initial enterprises has opened an easy way for some investment bankers to take large profits out of a situation born of an unprecedented speculative condition.

While there have been many investment trusts which are built on solid ground, only the future can show the advisability of some of the organizations which have done little more than to ask the public to participate in gigantic stock market pools. It is to be hoped that those in control of such companies will prove themselves to be worthy of the great faith which the investment public has placed in them.

NEW TREASURY NOTES OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Giving the first concrete sign seen here of a lower trend of money rates, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today set a rate of 4⅞ per cent on the $500,000,000 the government will borrow this month.

This was a reduction of a full ¾ per cent from the June 15 rate.

The Treasury's issues are regarded as in some measure attempting to foreshadow the money market's course, as well as meet existing conditions.

The maturity of the $500,000,000 issue of Treasury certificates offered for subscription is nine months—the same as that of the June issue, which carried the higher rate.

EARLIER ISSUES AT PAR

Certificates of earlier issues, which bore 4¼ and 4¾ per cent interest, and which mature September 15, will be accepted at par in payment for the new certificates.

In addition, 3½ per cent Treasury notes of three series which become callable next year and mature in 1932, will be accepted in payment at a price of $98, up to a total of $100,000,000. The Treasury is taking these notes for the sinking fund, to reduce the public debt.

TAX EXEMPT

Mr. Mellon called attention to the fact that the new tax-exemption provision adopted by the last Congress makes the new certificates exempt from all taxation except estate and inheritance taxes. Interest on previous certificates has been exempt from normal tax, but from surtaxes only to a limited extent.

"These certificates, however, will be fully exempt as to interest from surtaxes, as well as normal income taxes, and, accordingly, should be more attractive to the individual investor," Mr. Mellon said.

The Treasury will pay off $510,000,000 of certificates September 15. It will also meet $65,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt then, and $149,000,000 more in October.

BOARD INACTIVE

Coincident with the sign of cheaper money, it appeared that the Federal Reserve Board will avoid any attempt at restrictive measures, despite the $137,000,000 increase in brokers' loans announced today.

Although the great bulk of the additional funds came from the New York City member banks, and a large part was borrowed from the Federal Reserve, board members are understood to be disposed to leave matters in the hands of the New York banks.

New York borrowings are still low, it was pointed out in Reserve quarters, and there was no disposition discernible to clamp down on them arbitrarily.

Flood Threatens Egyptian Cotton

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 6.—Considerable anxiety is being manifested over the outlook for Egyptian cotton crop owing to infiltration through Nile floods of large areas in Lower Egypt. This has delayed ripening of the crop already late and favored invasion of boll weevil. Floods are also threatening crops in upper Egypt.

MARKET GETS OVER SCARE, BOUNDS UP

Stocks Surge Forward Under Leadership of Public Utility Issues

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP.)—The stock market quickly recovered today from the scare which sent prices tumbling in the last hour of yesterday's session, bounding upward in impressive fashion under the leadership of the public utility issues.

Some uneasiness was apparent at the opening, but the resumption of large scale buying operations by professional pools restored speculative confidence and by early afternoon nearly all of the leading groups presented several outstanding strong spots.

IN STRONG HANDS

Opening strength and activity of the market leaders was interpreted as an indication that stocks had passed from weak to strong hands in yesterday's break. Very little distress selling came into the market and traders who sold short on the break were forced to cover at higher prices. Operators for the advance apparently were not disturbed by the prediction of a well known statistician that a drop in prices rivaling the Florida land boom collapse was coming, which caught the market off balance yesterday and was generally held responsible for the late reaction.

While it was generally agreed that the market had reached a top-heavy speculative position yesterday, speculative opinion was still widely divided as to whether the weakened position had been sufficiently corrected. Conservative commission houses again urged their clients to keep their accounts in a liquid condition while others suggested a limitation of current activities to a few of the recent leaders in which special developments are believed to be pending.

MONEY RATE DROPS

Call money dropped from 9 to 8 per cent, the first change in about a week, but time money rates held firm with business quiet. The acceptance market showed more activity. Publication of the terms of the government's September financing, with a coupon rate one-fourth of 1 per cent below the previous issue, was widely accepted as an indication that no credit stringency is likely, although fears are still entertained for a temporary mid-month pinch.

Standard Gas and Electric and American Water Works shared the leadership of the public utility group, each soring about 11 points to new high records at 182 and 184½, respectively. American and Foreign Power ran up 10¼ points to 169¼ and American Power and Light 9⅝ to 171⅝, both new highs. Radio Corporation ran up 7½ points and Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas and International Telephone sold 5 to 6 points higher.

MAKE WIDE GAINS

Case Threshing soared 15 points, Allied Chemical 14, Otis Elevator 12½ and Simmons Company, Loose Wiles, Air Reduction, National Biscuit, Columbian Carbon, Auburn Auto, General Electric, Johns Manville, American Bank Note, Vanadium Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and U. S. Industrial Alcohol sold 5 to 12 points higher.

Oils, which have been sluggish all week, became active and strong in the early afternoon trading.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Revival of export interest and unfavorable crop comments from the southern hemisphere pulled wheat prices out of early soft spot today and though the range was narrow and trading moderate, values were firmer on the average. Short covering and strength of corn were supporting factors in the wheat pit, but there was some selling early on an official estimate of the Italian wheat crop 29,000,000 bushels larger than in 1928. Corn hardened after an easy opening because of snow and prospects of a freeze in the northwest.

LONE STAR GAS HITS NEW RECORD

Stock in Heavy Demand On Local Trading Board As Main List Marks Time

Lone Star Gas shot ahead on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with volume pointing toward the 10,000-share mark and the price reaching a new high record.

Traders searched for an explanation of the sudden rise in the big gas leader, but aside from consistent improvement in the industry and Lone Star's individual position as a gas producer and marketer, there was nothing to account for the bulge. Some time ago the stock enjoyed a sudden uprush of about six points, which carried it to $50 a share, equivalent to $125 on the old Lone Star, which was split 2½-for-one. Subsequently, it dropped back about two points and for the past several days had been marking time at the 49 level. In today's bulge the stock got a fast start at the opening and in the early afternoon had attained a new high at 51.

In the industrial division only the smallest fractional changes were noted in the early market. The fluctuations ranged from a half point down to a half point up, with most of the stocks coming into the market unchanged.

Business was well scattered and aside from the activity in Lone Star there was no concentration of trading in any particular issue.

Budd Wheel Merger.

Indications point at the present time to Budd Manufacturing Company retaking Budd Wheel Company on a basis of four shares of common for one share of Budd Wheel common. It is stated in reliable quarters that the plan of carrying out exchange of Hudson Manufacturing common for Budd Wheel common on a basis of four for one has gone beyond the point where process of adjusting minor differences will interfere with negotiating exchange successfully.

Autocar Plans Split-up.

Officials of Autocar Company deny they have any intention of retiring the cumulative preferred 8 per cent stock. It is stated, however, that a refinancing plan is being worked out and that it would include a split-up of the common stock although details of the plan have not been definitely decided upon. Announcement, it is said, will be made in a few weeks.

Cutten's Favorites Poison for Shorts

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The wide openings in Loose-Wiles stock and Simmons Company shares again demonstrated that it is a dangerous procedure to take a short position in stocks sponsored by the Cutten group. Bears were similarly squeezed last week in International Harvester, another issue in the Cutten fold which scored an overnight advance of 14⅝ points on lumped transactions totaling 12,000 shares.

Forbes

By B. C. FORBES

IMPRESSIONS gleaned during a tour through the United Kingdom and Europe and from informal mingling with many working-class folks and a number of representative business and financial men:

The occupancy of the seats of government by labor is causing no uneasiness whatsoever among the great majority of the British people, but it has influenced the sending of a good deal of money by the wealthy for investment in American securities. This unquestionably one reason why gold has been flowing from London to New York.

THE gravest problem in Britain, as in several other European countries, is unemployment.

Mussolini has adopted as a partial solution the spending of government money on public works, particularly road-building. Britain has not yet found a cure for the evil, but the MacDonald government also will resort to heavy expenditures of public money to provide work. The best brains in Labor Party have been commissioned to concentrate on the task, and it is certain that agressive measures of one kind or another will be taken. Whether the objective will be attained remains to be seen.

Families of moderate means have to pay more in taxes than in rent. Astonishingly little objection is heard to the Labor government's planned expenditures. The almost universal attitude is that, the Conservative party having failed to cure unemployment, every latitude should be allowed the Labor government to attempt new methods.

"WE would have been all right long ago if you hadn't forced us to pay you so much money," declared one middle-class business man who, one would have expected, would have had a broader grasp of the actualities. "Altogether we bore the brunt of the war, and carried on while you were holding back and making millions off us, as soon as the war was over we began paying you millions and millions of pounds a year; but nobody was in a hurry to start paying us any of the billions we had supplied them. It has been a shamefully one-sided arrangement—America getting all the best of it and poor old Britain all the worst of it.

"But"—and he snapped his jaws—"we will carry on, never fear. We don't welch. We are taking our medicine—although it is—bitter. We have muddled through before and we will muddle through again."

BRITONS and other Europeans appear to agree on one thing: that America is the one nation most to be feared and the one which most needs to be check-mated industrially and financially. The old attitude of scoffing at "Yankee hustling" is giving away to recognition of the dire necessity for adopting as many as possible of our modernized methods and processes. The expression "We must fight the devil with fire" is often heard.

IN Britain unprecedented influence is being employed by all classes, from the royal family down, to draw the various parts of the British Empire into much closer economic unity and to foster the purchase only of Empire products.

In one store a lady was having difficulty in finding a suitable pair of shoes. Finally, the clerk offered her a different style. When she saw that they were made in America, she tossed them down angrily and upbraided the concern for spending British money on American goods!

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 5 to 10 points. There was further selling on the Texas rain news, but it was much lighter after the heavy liquidation of yesterday, and there seemed to be some trade buying which helped to steady prices right after the opening.

Covering was promoted by a private crop report placing the condition of the crop at 55.8 and the indicated yield at 14,712,000 bales. Prices worked up to 19.37 for December and 19.59 for March, or 13 to 16 points net higher, but demand tapered off at the advance, and trading was quiet at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cable advices said that the market there was inactive and that trade calling had absorbed scattering liquidation.

The market was comparatively quiet later in the morning. A little selling was reported on reports that international trade statistics placed world's consumption of American linit cotton for last season at 15,076,000 bales, compared with 15,407,000 bales for the previous season. These figures were somewhat below expections, but offerings were light and were well enough absorbed to steady prices on setbacks of 4 or 5 points.

At midday the active months were 7 to 11 points net higher with December selling around 19.35c.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—(AP)—Curb exchange stocks displayed marked rallying tendencies today, as professional operators brought forward their favorites again on the theory that the flood of selling late yesterday had swept out weak holdings and strengthened the market's position. Scattered liquidation had to be absorbed, however, as public confidence appeared to have suffered a severe jolt yesterday and uncertainties in the credit situation, with the mid month settlements approaching, were not reassuring. The selling generally petered out by midday, however, when the market developed a fairly strong tone. A decline in call money from 9 to 8 per cent in the early afternoon aided the forward movement.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN AUTO INDUSTRY

Business in Last Half of 1929 Will Beat 1928, Auburn Head Predicts

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—In the recent passing of our standard automobile shares out of vogue, Auburn Motor has been a spectacular performer. The current models caught the popular imagination, and the new front drive car is directing attention to this specialty company in Auburn, Ind.

"It is my opinion that the industry as a whole will have a better last half of 1929 than it did in 1928. My reason for thinking so is not alone that conditions are better and that the distribution of money and profits are constantly growing wider, but because of the fact that I believe many more manufacturers are making a stronger bid by the introduction of exceedingly attractive new models, which, of course, build up the appeal and desire and increase sales."

Mr. Cord is of the opinion that the front wheel drive, which his company sponsors, will win wide acceptance over the next five years.

EXPORT BUSINESS

"As to the export business," Mr. Cord said, giving a novel viewpoint, "it is my belief that there is considerable question as to how much it will increase, due to the fact that the volume obtained in the export sales has now become attractive enough in the local markets to attract greater capital and greater effort to keep the manufacture in the local industries.

"Your question as to whether I am in favor of a co-ordinated policy to relieve congestion and improve motor highways in order to increase the domestic market, is one which I am certain is receiving considerable attention. Since Robert Patterson Lamont has become secretary of the Department of Commerce, he has appointed a committee under Mr. Dawes to consider certain phases of this subject, and I believe considerable will come from it.

"Last year the Department of Commerce, in conjunction with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and several other bodies, created an ideal traffic ordinance program, and has for the last year and is now endeavoring to have these standard traffic rules adopted by various cities and communities all over the country. It is my understanding that some 60 or 70 towns and cities have adopted this model ordinance.

"My personal opinion is that the greatest basic change in traffic rules and regulations will be the constantly increasing of the speeds on main highways, streets and boulevards. The experience of the railroads has shown that speed alone is not responsible for increased accidents, but that as the public becomes educated and are made aware of certain communities where they encounter fast moving trains or vehicles, the number of accidents decreases."

"NEW ERA" IN REALTY

Realtors, with imagination, like Henry Mandel, of New York, sense a "new era" in the laying out of American cities. Mr. Mandel predicts further concentration in the great cities so that men and women can walk to work. The Borough of Manhattan has been losing population for a decade, but Mr. Mandel thinks it is destined to get it back. He is one of a group that is turning downtown tenement and loft districts into modern residential buildings. His view is that life is so interested nowadays that the public no longer welcomes long rapid transit rides.

Moreover, he regards uptown New York—Washington Heights—as the new population center of the metropolitan district, with the completion of the bridge to New Jersey, and predicts it will develop as the shopping center of the future.

The skimmer of headlines is likely to get the idea that the scions of rich men spend all their time entertaining Follies girls. As a matter of fact, the new fashion is for sons of rich and distinguished men to be socially conscious, and to give much of their time to public welfare. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., set the fashion. Four sons of famous fathers are acting as undersecretaries of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which will hold a convention at Kyoto, Japan, beginning October 28. The four young men are Frederick Vanderbilt Field, grandson of Commodore Vanderbilt and a recent graduate of Harvard; John D. Rockefeller III, a Princeton man; Malcolm MacDonald, son of the British prime minister, and William Astor, son of Viscount and Lady Astor. This organization is one of numerous civilizing, integrating societies, which seeks to offset forces operating against the peace of the world.

Varied Opinions Of Babson's Blast

Following are some of the comments elicited by Roger W. Babson's statement that a drastic stock market slump is impending:

Prof. Irving Fisher, noted economist of Yale University: "Stock prices are not too high and Wall street will not experience anything in the nature of a crash, although there may be a recession of stock prices."

Hornblower & Weeks, brokers: "As we said in a special message late yesterday, we do not care to be stampeded into selling stocks on a gratuitous forecast of a bad break by a well-known statistician. Over a period of three years the market has disregarded similar utterances."

Josephthal & Co. to H. S. Edwards & Co.: "We agree with Mr. Babson that there is some cause for uneasiness in the widespread speculation of the present day, but we do not feel that the stage is set for anything more than a temporary reaction."

Frisco Exchanges To Close Monday

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—San Francisco stock and curb exchanges will close Monday, September 9, legal state holiday.

Kelvinator Sales For August Jump

DETROIT, Sept. 6.—The Kelvinator Corporation announces orders and shipments for the month of August this year were nearly 40 per cent over and above those for August last year, according to a statement by H. W. Burritt, vice president. This augments the previous sales gain during 1929 and goes a long way toward a record sales year in the refrigerator industry, especially, because of the fact that increases in orders and shipments usually precede the heavy sales season of May and June, and is evidence of the fact that the business is less seasonal and more steady in its demands than in former years.

Sugar Exchange to Close Saturdays

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange will remain closed on Saturdays during October. Ordinarily the exchange is closed Saturdays during June, July, August and September, but this year officials decided to extend the Saturday closing another month.

Packard Sales for August at Record

DETROIT, Sept. 6.—August sales by Packard dealers to consumers reached a new high level for any month in Packard Motor Car Company's history, 7,061 cars reported having been distributed. This volume exceeds by a comfortable margin the mark reached in any previous similar period.

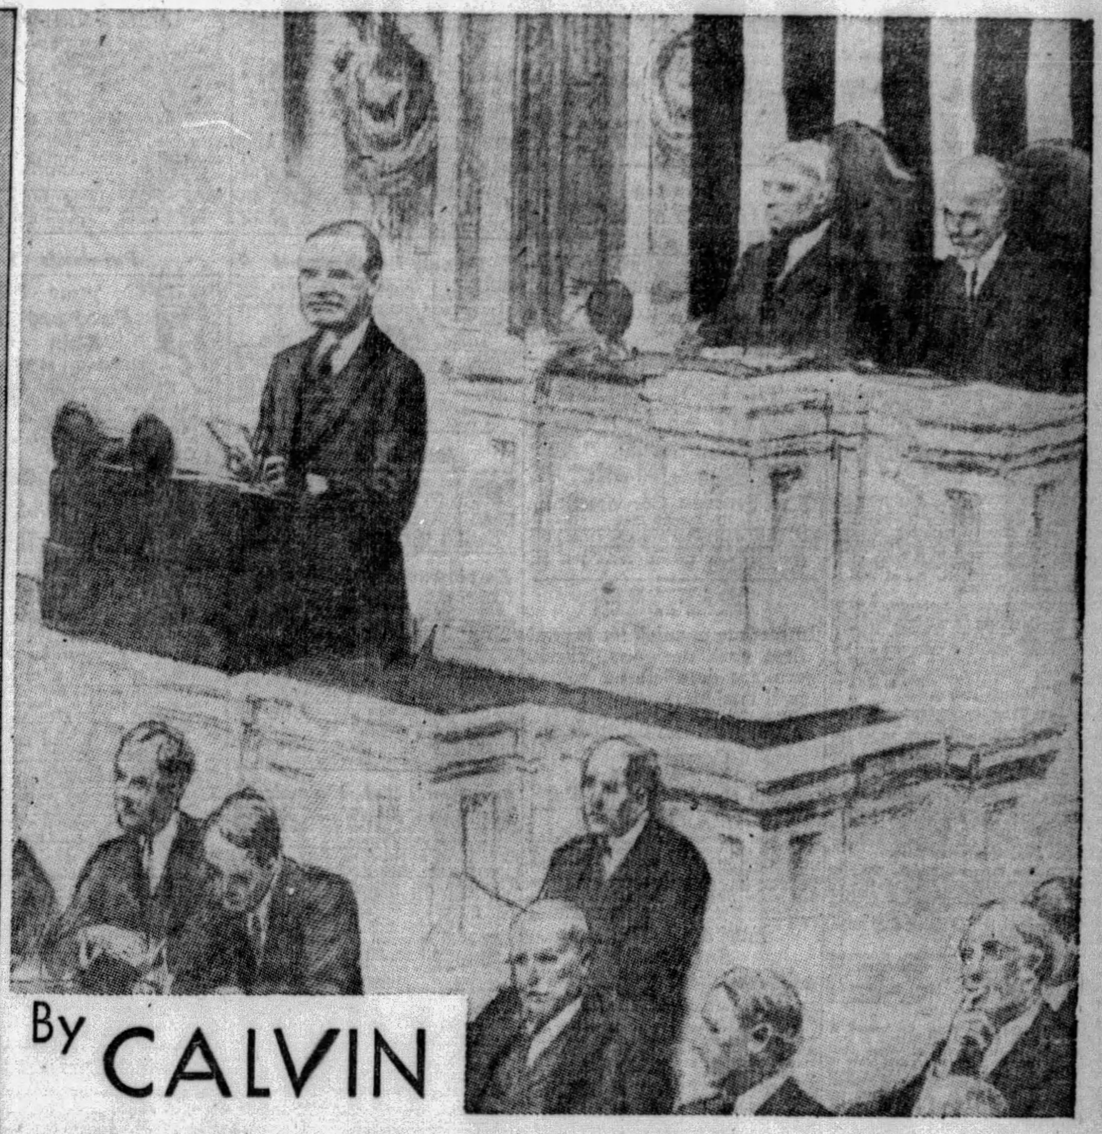
"WHAT IT MEANS TO BE PRESIDENT"



By CALVIN COOLIDGE

No laborer in the land works harder than the President of the United States! Calvin Coolidge has thrown open the doors of the White House so that a nation might glimpse the President in action. From the hour of his rising at six-thirty until he called it a day late at night, a vivid panorama of the nation's chief executive is portrayed in a revealing series of articles.

Never before has a former President written so intimately and humanly of the problems that beset him, of the little interludes of happiness that lighten the burden, and of the serious responsibility that hangs over his head, day and night. Read Calvin Coolidge's own story of his life in the White House—

BUGS BAER Says

OUR DWINDLING DOLLAR

WE have finally discovered a vital fact about Andy Mellon's new reduced dollar bills.

"Bugs" Baer

There is a bad effect attached to the new certified gravy. On Saturday afternoon, you take your pay envelope home to the sweet woman and toss it in her lap.

She looks at it with well-penciled eyebrows and says:

"What's this? A package of needles?"

Andy, that's just what it looks like. It don't resemble an old-fashioned pay envelope any more than a plate of hot soup resembles the Hanging Gardens of Babylon.

There was something influential about those big plasters. They made a roll of bills that an elephant couldn't hug with his trunk.

It may be possible to get enough of those new bills together to make a roll. But we have not yet succeeded in accomplishing that beautiful detail.

And there doesn't seem to be any silk in 'em.

Declare a dividend once in a while.

Give us back that man-sized dollar. We didn't elect you Treasurer of the Boy Scouts.

We used to like the pretty pictures on the backs of the old bills. We were especially fond of that noble engraving of Washington Crossing the Delaware.

George was standing up in the bow of the boat. We have just recently seen the smaller engraving on the new bills.

George and the whole crew are standing up. There ain't room to sit down.

AUNT BELLA'S DAILY HOME BEAUTIFUL CHAT

I have been asked to describe the miscellaneous elegancies or knick knacks for small apartments. I hardly know where to begin. The cradle especially, is a great annoyance to the mother, when expecting company. For such a situation, the elegant folding cot, shown here, will prove a boon indeed. Made of strong cast iron pipe, it can be bent, and placed under the carpet. The only difficulty then is what to do with the baby, which Aunt Bella will discuss when she has more time. Tomorrow Aunt Bella will be on the air all day with her talk "The Fret Saw; or Making Presentation Gifts."

SUCCESS NO. 98674

This is Cuthbert Doakes, who has scored another triumph by perfecting a super-heating arrangement to revolutionize the drug store lunch business. The Doakes heater keeps soup so hot that customers, after one taste, run screaming into the street, thus vacating a stool for another rush hour customer.

Now Is Time to Prepare To Banish Smoke Evil

The head of an association of owners of large buildings calls attention to the fact that now is the time for members of that organization to see that their heating plants are in condition to function properly and smokelessly. It is a good suggestion, and right here is a good place to state that owners of large buildings are to be commended for the reduction of smoke from their chimneys.

Last winter there were complaints that, after being reduced for a number of years, the smoke nuisance had increased, and much of the blame was placed on the fact that coal furnaces were being installed in more homes than in the past.

Coal dealers, we believe, could help to solve the problem of domestic smoke. The use of coke in combination with coal is said to reduce the amount of smoke from dwelling furnaces. However, it is a fuel that is strange to most householders, and many are reluctant to use it because they feel dubious about the result. It is in that direction that the coal dealer could do a good service by giving directions as to the proper amounts of coal and coke to use for the best results.

Smoke mixed with the fogs of winter forms a combination that is a distinct menace to health, and it is but simple forethought to make preparations now to lessen that danger as much as possible.

Pittsburgh Reflections Abroad Seen by Baker

Forecast of the near opening of Pittsburgh's group of colleges and universities is seen in the return of Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, to prepare for the resumption of the work of Tech in the training of our young women and men. While abroad he was impressed with echoes heard of the international conference on bituminous coal held at Tech last November, an event that he finds a cause for European scientific men to look upon Pittsburgh as the "capital of coal."

Another observation of Dr. Baker is that he was given information that fewer Americans go to Paris for the study of architecture. The institution headed by Dr. Baker is one of the reasons for that condition, although, of course, President Baker wouldn't even hint it. The school of architecture in Tech's division of art is on a lofty plane, and it has had the honor of graduating young men who have taken the highest national prizes in competition open to students of it and other institutions throughout the land.

League Decides to Let Us Enter World Court

Q.—I see the League of Nations this week has decided to let us into the World Court.

A.—Yes.

Q.—I thought it was all settled that we were OUT.

A.—Most Americans thought so.

Q.—Didn't the nations who are League members refuse to accept the reservations which the Senate attached to its agreement to enter the Court?

A.—Yes, England in particular. They would not agree to accept Reservation V.

Q.—Well, then, didn't President Coolidge say he would not ask the Senate to modify that reservation, and that we were apparently out of the Court for good?

A.—Yes, that's the tenor of what he said at a speech in Kansas City in November, 1926.

Q.—All right, then why bring it up again?

A.—The busybodies and internationalists who want to get us into the League got active and in March Elihu Root went to Geneva in some official capacity to attend a League conference.

Q.—What did Root do over there?

Q.—Who prepared the substitute?

A.—Sir Cecil Hurst, advisor to the British foreign office.

Q.—What was the original reservation, and what was Sir Cecil's substitute?

A.—Well, under the statute of the World Court, which is a department of the League of Nations, the council of the League can call on the World Court to render it an "advisory opinion" on any conceivable subject.

Q.—Yes.

A.—The Senate thought this might be used to get an international court (of which we would be a member) to broadcast its opinions on a lot of American questions, like the Monroe Doctrine, tariff and restricted immigration.

Q.—How did the Senate protect us against that?

A.—It invented Reservation V, which must be accepted by League members before we join the Court. It provides that without our consent the Court may not furnish an advisory opinion on any question in which the United States has or claims an interest.

Q.—The Senate was smart to think of that, wasn't it?

Q.—Who's he?

A.—A distinguished American authority on international law, formerly professor at Columbia University, who at that time was serving as an invited judge on the World Court.

Q.—Why did he suggest the reservation?

Q.—And now Mr. Root brings back a substitute from Sir Cecil Hurst for Judge Moore's reservation?

A.—Yes.

Q.—What does Sir Cecil suggest?

A.—His substitute provides that we may protest, but that the Court may go right on and render the offensive opinion, and then, if we don't like it, we may withdraw from the Court.

Q.—That is, the Hurst substitute simply eliminates Reservation V, which the Senate and Judge Moore considered necessary for this country's protection?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Well, it ought not to be hard for the League members to let us in on Sir Cecil Hurst's conditions.

A.—No.

Q.—Isn't the difficulty likely to come up in the Senate when they try to substitute Sir Cecil Hurst for John Bassett Moore?

A.—Let us hope so.

Bible Passages

Forget Not the Lord

(Deuteronomy 8; 11-20)

BEWARE that thou forget not the Lord thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day.

Lest when thou hast eaten and art full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein;

And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied;

Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage;

Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water; who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint;

Who fed thee in the wilderness with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end;

And thou say in thine heart, My power and the might of my hand hath gotten me this wealth.

But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may establish his covenant which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day that ye shall surely perish.

As the nations which the Lord destroyeth before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord your God.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Invincible

ONE man alone is proof against all care,
Can pass through perils with a brow serene
It is not dauntless courage which he owns
That helps him through the danger zones
And not the dull endurance of the brute,
Nor yet the pipe of hope's unfailing flute;
Instead, he only is invicible
Who meets the worst and murmurs: "All is well!"
He only is secure against such blows
As life deals all, who in strange fashion knows
The subtle promise righting every wrong,
The secret that turns sorrow into song.
He only goes untouched by loss or grief
Or somber thought of autumn's falling leaf

WHALE BUTTER AND NUT SOAP

By Herbert Kaufman

ROMANCE, clothed in the drab, dry phrasing of a commerical announcement, quietly crossed the ocean in the cabled statement that Lever Brothers, international soap manufacturers, have amalgamated their business with the Margarine Union.

Tucked away among the financial notes, this $350,000,000 merger would appear as a matter only to concern market technicians.

But the Seven Seas and hinterlands know better.

Thus the soapmaker is no longer a semi-scavenger, collecting back-door fats and butchers' leavings, but a merchant adventurer with trading posts on every frontier of empire.

Samoa and the Fiji Islands are crowded with his warehouses. Half the cannibal tribes of the Australasian Archipelago are cultivating and harvesting cocoanuts for his omnivorous rendering vats.

The Lever payroll girdles the earth, and margarine makers' "stations" spot Uruguay and Unalaska, Greenland and the Antarctic beaches.

KEROSENE drove the whale out of lamp founts, but the discovery of petroleum and the abandonment of corsets by no means ENDED the whale's economic utility.

Southern Latins have their olive trees, but Scandinavians, Dutch and other northern folk spread their bread and fry with rectified blubber and like stop-gaps.

When the Frieslander returns from Iceland with his herring catch, he hangs up his nets, grips a harpoon or slicing spear and voyages South after whales and porpoises and other heavy oil-yielding marine animals, to provide his people with table and culinary fats.

Aniline yearly reveals another unsuspected quality. Famine and shortage are the confessions of lazy minds and unenterprising generations.

And to prove it, just see how fast artificial lumber popped up when our dwindling forests and mounting overheads began to send REAL timber prices sky-hooting.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

CLYDE'S lost his job again. Losing his job is the best thing that boy does.

It's hard to understand this, when you first meet him. He's a wonderfully likeable youngster, handsome, jolly, clever—can turn his hand to anything. A bit spunky, perhaps—but you admire spunk.

He's quick to get ideas—does his work easily and well—is full of enthusiasm and clever stunts. Runs things so finely, in fact, that the boss sits back with a sight of relief and lets him do it.

But pretty soon his enthusiasm slackens. He begins to loaf a bit—comes late to work—is sloppy about details. That's natural. Any kid does that. The Boss decides that Clyde needs a little friendly advice and calls Clyde in.

IMMEDIATELY THINGS THICKEN.

Clyde is no longer an affable employe. He becomes an Insulted Gentleman — resentful, suspicious. What on earth ails the youngster?

The truth is that Clyde is one of that large company of young sprouts (both male and female) ho start out in life with the determination that NOBODY'S GOING TO PUT NOTHING OVER ON THEM. They've listened to the snarls and sneers of disgruntled older workers and they've made up their minds that the world is filled with industrial Simon Legrees who are waiting to do them dirt.

NOBODY'S GOING TO DO THEM DIRT, NOT IF THEY KNOW IT! NOBODY'S GOING TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THEM, JUST BECAUSE THEY'RE POOR. THEY'LL SHOW 'EM THEY'RE AS GOOD AS ANYBODY. AND IF THE BOSS DOESN'T LIKE IT, HE KNOWS WHAT HE CAN DO ABOUT IT!

As a consequence, the first time their work is criticized all their latent fury is aroused.

"He can't talk to me as if I was his hired man," boasts Clyde.

Or—"I told her mighty quick where she got off," cries Clara. "I guess I'm as good as she is even if I haven't got her salary."

Perhaps it isn't criticism. Perhaps they have been asked to do something outside their regular schedule. Then, if possible, they are even more bitter. Do that other guy's work? Stay over time? Not they! THEY CAN'T PUT THAT SORT OF STUFF OVER ON THEM! THEY'LL DO JUST WHAT THEY'RE PAID FOR AND NOT A DAGGONED THING MORE.

They've a "chip on their shoulder." And they keep that chip on their shoulder until they walk out or are fired. Which is usually pronto. After which they go around boasting how the Boss tried to get by with something and couldn't.

America is full of Clydes—and getting fuller. They're one of the products of our much advertised American liberty and equality. Equality, to them means the right to spit in anyone's eye. Liberty means the right to do their work as they darn please.

They're also the product of bad home training—the children of disappointed, envious, resentful adults who feel that life has gypped them. They have passed on their feud to the youngsters, implanted their malice in their spirited young souls. With results like Clyde.

And yet the young Clydes make our best workers, properly trained. It might be a good idea to have courses on business ethics in our schools. Show them that freedom carries with it high responsibilities—make their pride a constructve rather than a disruptive force. SHOW THEM WHAT THEY'RE PUTTING OVER ON THEMSELVES.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

A LADY in Chicago says to her neighbor across the hall, "We caught a burglar last night, and he's locked in the bathroom right now. We're waiting for the police."

"Say," says the neighbor lady, "what does your burglar look like?"

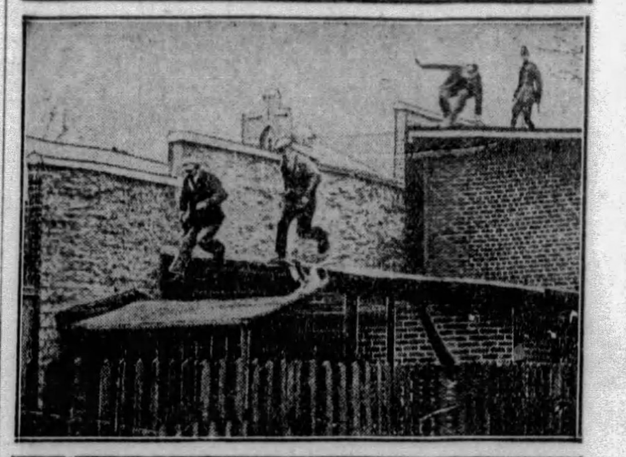
"Well, you turn him loose right quick! Just as I suspected. That's my husband. He's been dissatisfied with his job lately, and been taking correspondence courses in burglary. He was just doing his week's laboratory work with his new whiskers last night, and I knowed he'd got into trouble when he didn't get back by daylight."

A German Burglar Hunt

Our Police Do It More Simply.



GERMAN POLICE CHASING "CAT BURGLARS"

This picture interests Americans, particularly American policemen.

It shows "cat burglars," the kind that climb to balconies and windows, fleeing over roofs in Berlin, chased by German policemen. You see the latter in full uniform, above, in the rear.

As a believer in law and order, you will be glad to hear that the German policemen got the burglars, risking broken legs in a dangerous pursuit.

They overtook them and caught them, BY HAND.

Our American police would operate more simply. They would tell the men to stop, hold up their hands. If they didn't obey, they would shoot, and drop them into the yard.

They don't do that in Germany, where they are fussy about human life and rights, even when thieves are concerned.

Inasmuch as the penalty for burglary is not death, Berlin law will not allow the police to inflict death on a suspected burglar, except in self-defense.

And, curiously enough, there are in Germany not nearly as many crimes or professional criminals as there are in the United States. As for murders, that has almost become a United States specialty, one in which we eclipse all nations, as President Hoover recently pointed out.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Thoughts while strolling: A shop dealing in imported cheese. But nothing beats the old red rat trap variety. A fellow pushing a baby buggy has no trouble crossing the streets. He receives as much consideration from crossing cops as a timid old lady.

They never seem to name a girl Opal any more. Cornell Woolrich, the young novelist. Why do white gloves appear so utterly supercilious? Tag on a collar: "Try to steal me!" That grinning darkey doorman at Reuben's. Short nose veils again. Another tipsy policeman.

Frank Sullivan, a Saratoga Springs, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. Whatever became of Hal Chase? Young bucks who sit in the windows of Papa's Club trying to look worldly. Gob pajamas for ladies—made like sailor suits. Japanese girls always look as though they just woke up.

A "Tot's Tog Shop." Al Bedell and his famous high collar. Those crisp chauffeurs in dove grey whipcord uniforms and deep purple caps—very Mayfairish. All the blue blooded ball room dancers from society families seem to have disappeared. Margaret Illington Bowes.

The old Scotland Yard man who used to be chief house detective at the Waldorf. Dan Healey, the actor, who resembles Mayor Walker. Nothing so irritating as pests standing at your table while you try to eat. F. P. Dunne, Jr., son of the old master. And a new dramatic reviewer.

You see the prettiest girls in those home cooking places featuring watery soup and leathery pie. And the hardest faced women frequent the expensive cafes. Will Hays window shopping. A woman in a limousine takes a long swig from a silver flask. Maybe it's milk.

Book shops featuring afternoon teas. Most every other girl seems to be letting her hair grow. Hair parlor uppitiness is largely to blame. A new hotel with free garage service. Don't hear so much about calories and vitamines. Have they gone out, too? Ring Lardner's No. 11's.

It is whispered a practitioner of peeping journalism was unable to attend a costume ball the other night because he caught his head in a transom.

* * *

The costume ball, by the way, is another hallowed New York institution that has lost its popular wallop. Only a few years ago the annual masquerades of the Society of Illustrators and the Kit Kat Ball frothed up almost the same interest as the Four Arts affair in Paris.

There were a half dozen other similar balls that annually drew the celebrities and camp followers. But since prohibition, enthusiasm has been dwindling from year to year. Even the huge society balls for charity stir little more than a yawn.

In other days, masqueraders moved en masse at sunup from the ball to the popular Childs Restaurant of the moment and after slapping each other with flapjacks, loosely fried eggs and such, paraded through town, prison fashion, with a cock-eyed hilarity.

At the biggest costume ball of the season it was noted the guests had thinned down to a handful by midnight and at 2 a. m., when they used to be snapping into first speed, the janitors were sweeping out the confetti and few empty bottles and calling it a night.

In the morning mail comes a mimeographed letter from a pouting bootlegger, ha, ha, that a certain tonic featured in many drug store windows around town is dangerously doped. The concoction is said to contain 20 per cent alcohol, which is causing the rum sellers many anxious nights. It cuts into sales. But imagine a bootlegger warning you of poisoned liquor!

Telegram from Hollywood: "You can have that comb you stuck in your pocket—Nick, the Wash Room Boy."

Wise Words

Many things are wanting to poverty, all things to avarice. —Syrus.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

PERHAPS the reason why you have not reached a higher plane of success is that you have never had any great trouble or serious reverses. Doesn't sound like good logic to you, does it?

Undoubtedly you have met with minor defeats the nature of which does not cause you much concern. Not severe enough to call out all your resources to overcome them. You accept rather than try to surmount them—less trouble.

But if you had had some hard jolts you would have had to put forth energy to recover from their effects. Having accomplished such a task you would have been stronger for it.

Those who make the greatest eventual success very frequently are those who have had the hardest time to get along.

You may think you have had your share of trouble, but in comparison to what others have experienced, haven't your difficulties been rather insignificant?

Instead of accepting defeat so gracefully, why don't you have spunk enough to say you'll "do or die," not literally perhaps, but masterfully.

This is what will bring out the best there is in you.
